Help us see past the hurtful to the brilliance of possibilities in this year, 2006, and provide those who seek You a clear vision of what You require. And since we last gathered, we are mindful of the death of Senator Days’ mother, and together we ask that You be an ever present comfort to her and her family in their season of grief. In Your Holy Name, we pray. Amen.

Opening Address

Senator Michael R. Gibbons, President Pro Tem
Second Regular Session, 93rd General Assembly
January 4, 2006

Lt. Gov. Kinder, members of the Missouri Senate, people of Missouri:

As the dawn breaks on the opening of this session, the 112th in our history, we can see a new foundation for the 21st century beginning to take shape. More Missourians are at work, businesses are choosing Missouri as a place to grow and invest over other states, even other countries. Our children have a better chance at a great education, and we are safer. The future looks bright for the people of Missouri, but it is up to us to finish the hard work of building this new foundation, and to do it well.

2005 was an historic session. From schools, to work, to a day in court – Missourians are seeing changes that make our lives better. Last year, we dedicated more money than ever to our children's education to be distributed by a new formula based upon students' needs rather than local wealth. In a difficult environment, we found the right balance so that all of our children, no matter where they live, can have an equal opportunity for a world class education.

The new foundation we're building also made Missouri a safer place for us to live and raise children. For example, we made it more difficult for meth producers to get the ingredients they need to concoct their dangerous drug, and already have cut production in half. And we will not rest until this evil is eliminated. We created new tools to combat underage drinking by increasing and adding penalties to include minors who are drunk, not just in possession. We protected our children at the homes of others by holding parents responsible for allowing house parties with alcohol. And, we cracked down on drunk driving offenders by creating a new crime making the prison sentence more than four times longer for drunk drivers who kill.

It has also been a year that's seen more jobs for the people of our state. Unemployment in Missouri is back down to where it was before the day the world changed on Sept 11, 2001. More than 38,000 new jobs have been created this past year, including at least 1,100 in manufacturing and 1,000 in construction. In fact, 60 of the manufacturing jobs were created right across the river at the manufacturing firm of ABB; what's exciting is that they chose to close a plant in Canada to expand their operations here, in Missouri.

A key indication of our economic improvement is the growth in the state's general revenue which is growing at a rate nearly double what was hoped for last spring. While we're not out of the woods yet, this improving economy means that we're getting closer to a balanced budget that will allow us to maintain programs while we continue substantial reforms, so that we can provide the services Missourians need, and deserve, without a tax increase.

Workers' compensation rates are coming down. The state's largest carrier, Missouri Employee Mutual Insurance Company, has announced a five percent decrease in premiums effective this month.

So what does this mean for the average Missourian? It means small businesses like Hellebusch Tool and Die, a manufacturing company in Washington, Missouri, have decided to add new jobs this year. The president of Hellebusch, Wally Hellebusch, says the changes that we made in the workers' compensation laws allowed his company to expand.

Moreover, in neighboring St. Louis County, the Chrysler Group has committed at least one billion dollars in new investment in its plants and equipment bringing 21st century manufacturing to their operations in Fenton. Their cutting edge technology will allow trucks, vans, and cars to be built on the same line, at the same time, based upon demand, without the need to retool, making Chrysler in Fenton a global leader in this technology. This massive investment ensures the two plants' futures and the jobs of thousands of highly skilled, well paid Missouri workers.

The Quality Jobs Act from last year has played a major role in this breathtaking news as have the reforms to our workers' compensation system and our civil justice system. For small businesses like Hellebusch Tool and Die to giant multi-national corporations like Chrysler, it is clear Missouri's economy is on the move. And with that, more people are working at good jobs. The essential hope in the American Dream is that tomorrow will be better and that our dreams can be achieved. This exciting economic news shows that this hope is grounded in reality, that the people are building on a firmer foundation, that our tomorrows are looking better and that our dreams can come true.

Change is constant. As we reform our government to make it work for the people in this modern age, the Missouri Senate is undergoing great change as well. At the start of last year, two members moved on to other positions. In July, we lost our friend and colleague to cancer, Senator Larry Gene Taylor, and Senator Jon Dolan resigned in November to pursue other opportunities.

The election to replace Sen. Dolan will be in April and makes our fourth special election in twelve months, which is unprecedented. This change; however, has brought us good, new members, the latest being Senator Jack Goodman, R-Mt. Vernon, who was elected in November. Senator, you are joining an outstanding group of leaders. We are glad you are with us, and expect many good things from you for the benefit of the people of Missouri.

Let us welcome the Senator from Lawrence.

This year will mark the end, due to term limits, of the Senate careers of the three members that were elected in the historic special election on January 24, 2001, the election that changed control of the Senate for the first time in more than fifty years and ultimately led to a change in control of state government. We look forward to working with the Senators from Harrison, Audrain and St. Louis City, the 4th district; in this, their final session. We also applaud and thank you for the dedication and service you have given to the people of Missouri.

Amidst all of this change at least two things will remain the same; the commitment to excellence and service by our great Senate employees, and our commitment to the civility, character and reputation of the Missouri Senate.

I would like to thank our Minority Floor Leader, the Senator from the 5th district, and many others who have worked with me to protect the Senate's tradition; that is, a place where the great issues of the day can be debated openly and vigorously, changes proposed, votes taken, and positions decided, so that we can act in accordance with the welfare of the people of this State. However, this is an election year, so we must each work extra hard to have the clash of ideas essential to a robust democracy without the personal attacks or rabid partisanship that is so destructive to our quest; that quest is, to do what is right, to the best of our ability, for the people of this great state. This goal will not be easy to achieve as we continue to debate the great and difficult issues of our time.

Chief among these is our continued effort to reform our healthcare system in Missouri. The Medicaid Reform Commission recently issued its report. It is a remarkable document and should be read carefully by every member. It is available on the Senate website and we invite every Missourian to read the commission's goals for a new healthcare system. Of particular note are some lofty objectives: that all the people of Missouri should have available, affordable healthcare; and that the central focus of healthcare should change to keeping people healthy and preventing illness rather than ONLY treating them when they are sick.

Moreover, an emphasis must be made on technology. Looking at the Hurricane Katrina disaster, consider a family who lived in New Orleans who packed their car with all the belongings they could cram in and escaped to Houston. Whatever was not in their car was destroyed. Yet, if their car was serviced by Jiffy Lube in New Orleans, they could go to one in Houston and know exactly when they last changed the oil, the wipers, and rotated the tires. But they can't even begin to find out when they last had a tetanus shot; those paper records are gone. In the 21st century, this is unacceptable. The Institute of Medicine says between 44,000 and 98,000 people die each year because of errors in paper medical records. This is an outrage. Going to electronic medical records and e-prescribing are examples of reforms we must make - they save lives, improve health and save precious tax dollars for the people who really need the help.

There will be debate on how we reach these goals, but we must reach them. We must work tirelessly to achieve a healthcare system that protects the health of all Missourians. We must also fight to expose fraud where we find it, whether it be perpetrated by caregivers, therapists, doctors, hospitals, equipment providers, pharmaceutical companies, or participants. We must seek vigorous prosecution of all those who cheat the people of Missouri and take money away from those that are in great need. In addition to the reforms listed by the commission, we must change the law where necessary to eliminate fraud, waste and abuse. The special Senate committee on Fraud that I appointed will meet later this month, so that we can expose any fraud in the system and take action to eliminate it this session.

We must also act this year to protect the homes, the farms, and the businesses of the people of Missouri from the abuses of eminent domain and redevelopment tools like Tax Increment Financing or "TIF." I represent the area in Sunset Hills that was subject to a TIF redevelopment. The TIF commission turned the plan down. Despite that, the city of Sunset Hills approved it anyway. Time does not allow a full discussion of everything else that has happened, but suffice it to say, that in this instance, everyone lost: homeowners who wanted to sell, homeowners who did not want to sell, the businesses in the area, the city of Sunset Hills, its neighbors, everyone.

This disaster cannot be repeated. Complete disregard for the rights of property owners must not be tolerated.

The awesome power of government to take someone's property with just compensation is, at times, necessary to provide for a truly public use and benefit. But, the taxpayer subsidized financial success of one property owner at the expense of another is not a public benefit that allows the government to take someone's home. The property owners of Missouri deserve better. NOW is the time to act. The excess must end.

Our most precious gift in this state, our children, deserve our attention again this year. Their education is the foundation for a bright future, and to that end, we must fully fund the next installment of the school funding formula. This formula, based on student need, rather than local wealth, is our best effort to make sure that all the children in Missouri have a chance to receive a great education so they are prepared for the challenges ahead.

We must also do a better job of protecting the safety of our children. Any sexual predator who might consider harming one of them must know, that the punishment will be swift, certain, and severe. Or to put it another way, we are going to lock the door and throw away the key. Our children deserve it.

They also deserve a child safe Internet, where they can explore the wonders that it offers without the threat of being confronted with shocking images, pornography, or predators attempting to lure them into harmful situations. At a minimum, we must match Federal prison sentences for luring a minor over the Internet as well as expand the search warrant powers over Internet service providers so we can do a better job of prosecuting the vermin that would seduce our kids.

We must also do a more effective job with mandatory background checks for all employees that work with children and ensure a consequence for those employers who fail to make this modest effort. Missouri will be a leader in protecting her children.

And finally, energy is the beating heart of our modern life, and if we expect the people of Missouri to have opportunities in the future, a clean, plentiful supply of energy is essential. We must immediately help our seniors, disabled and low-income Missourians with their high heating bills this winter, but we must also pursue a path to energy abundance and independence.

As we work on the foundation of our future, it is critical that we have an energy plan and begin taking action on it today. Reforming and modernizing our government, economy, education, and healthcare are important to how well we live in the future. Our ability to solve our energy crisis is critical to our survival. As more people use more energy, prices increase while the readily available supply decreases. Ten years ago, people never would have believed that natural gas would cost more than four dollars per unit. This year, it sold for eight dollars a unit in Missouri and 16 dollars a unit on the east coast. We have a serious problem.

I applaud the Governor and his foresight to our energy needs by establishing the Missouri Energy Taskforce of which I am honored to be a member. We should strive to be a leader in America with an energy plan that utilizes our Agricultural strengths to pursue renewable fuels, cleaner burning technologies, and aggressively pursue hydrogen as a primary fuel source, so that we can be energy independent, and protect the environment. We will be prepared to take the work of this taskforce and transfer it into an energy action plan for the future. Our children and our grandchildren need us to do this for them.

Anyone who has ever built a home knows that the most critical step is building a solid foundation. If it is done well, the home that is constructed will be safe, secure and provide comfort to many generations. We have all been elected to serve at a time of great change that offers wonderful opportunities for the future, but also great risks. In the history of mankind, there has never been a period of change that was as fast, or as sweeping, or as intense as today. State government has not kept up, so many things that we do today are ineffective, outdated, or obsolete. We have proven, this Senate has proven, that we can find common sense solutions to complex problems. But, we have no time to waste as we continue building a strong foundation for the 21st century.

This year's effort must include reforms to begin to make healthcare available and affordable to all; to protect our rights in our homes, and farms, and businesses; to safeguard our children; and to establish an energy action plan. Together with the foundational work from last year, these changes will put Missouri on a strong footing for decades to come. In this room, we have the know-how, the right tools, and the strong leaders. So, let's work together. Our children and grandchildren are counting on us. The time to act is now. And, we must succeed.

In accordance with Section 9.141, RSMo, the Bill of Rights was read.

On motion of Senator Shields, the Senate recessed until 4:00 p.m.

Journal of the Senate

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

FIFTH DAY—WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 11, 2006

President Kinder in the Chair.

Senator Scott offered the following prayer:

Father, we are grateful today for the privilege to serve you in the Missouri State Senate.

You have placed each one of us here for a purpose and that purpose is to serve you and to serve those who have sent us here.

But Lord, We don't have the ability to do that on our own.

So today as we start this session,
I pray for three things.

For wisdom to know the issues to discern between right and wrong, between good and bad, between better and best.
You know the issues that are important. . . please give us Your wisdom.

I pray also for Strength to do the job

Strength not only for ourselves, but for our staffs and those who come to the capitol to work for good government

And finally I pray for courage, not just to take the easy way . . . the politically correct path . . . but for courage to do what needs to be done and has to be done to make life better for the people of this state.

Give us today Wisdom, Strength and Courage.

I thank you for your past and present blessings and ask these things in the name of Jesus our Lord.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was

The Joint Committee appointed to wait upon His Excellency, Governor Matt Blunt, escorted the Governor to the dais where he delivered the State of the State Address to the Joint Assembly:

Lt. Governor Kinder, Mr. President Pro Tem, Mr. Speaker, distinguished state officials, judges of the Supreme Court, members of the General Assembly, reverend clergy, fellow Missourians:

Tonight, I have the privilege of delivering my second state of the state address. Last year's report was difficult news for me to deliver and for Missourians to hear. Missouri's economy was on life support. The budget was more than a billion dollars in the red, a series of government programs were bankrupting the state and tens of millions of dollars in waste were scattered throughout state government.

Tonight I am able to deliver a very different message. Our economy is now creating jobs for Missouri's families. We have moved from a massive budget shortfall to the first surplus in five years. Let me repeat that good news: because of the prudent decisions we made last year, we have balanced the books. We have taken an inherited deficit that exceeded five percent of total state spending and created a small but real surplus. We are sustaining government and investing in priorities without the higher job-killing taxes that the people have rejected time after time. We are saving millions of dollars within state government that can be sent to schools, used to provide healthcare or to improve Missouri's roads, highways and bridges. We have demonstrated that real, positive change can be realized without increased taxes. Tonight, Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and fellow Missourians, just one year after we began to work together, the state of the state is strong.

Last session we enacted pro jobs, pro growth policies that have made state government a facilitator of job creation, not a free-spending, tax-increasing burden to economic growth. Today, the sun has risen and Missouri's economy is on the move. Jobs are coming back and staying in Missouri. Lawsuit reform and regulatory relief are having their desired effect. 28,000 jobs have been created since January. Our small business men and women are hiring more of their neighbors. The entrepreneurial spirit has been rekindled, and the results are dramatic. On average, we have seen the creation of more than 500 new jobs per week since my address last year.

We made great strides last year to keep doctors in Missouri by passing medical liability reform. Hospitals and doctors' groups report that they now can recruit and retain quality doctors, especially in crucial specialties such as obstetrics and neurosurgery. Lawsuit reform is making a tremendous positive difference for people and communities across Missouri and is improving access to high quality healthcare.

Thank you for passing a tough new anti-meth law to control the sale of key ingredients of methamphetamine. This new law is showing strong results, with a decline of 44 percent in meth incidents in Missouri.

I encourage the Congress to pass Senator Jim Talent's similar legislation at the federal level to better protect Missourians and to help stop the scourge of meth across the country.

As you drive across Missouri you are seeing new construction on virtually all our major highways. When complete, Missouri's Smooth Roads Initiative will deliver a total of 2,200 miles of safer, smoother and improved roads. MoDOT has turned the corner and is earning the trust of Missouri taxpayers because they are eliminating the problems that confronted them in the past and they are now focused on one central mission, “building and maintaining roads.” I know they are up to the challenge and tonight, I call upon the State Highways and Transportation Commission and their Director, Pete Rahn, to complete the Smooth Roads Initiative by December 31, 2006 - one year ahead of schedule.

As a product of Missouri’s public schools, I am deeply committed to public education. In the past, schools suffered from budget withholdings that were shortsighted and diminished opportunities for young Missourians. I pledged to Missourians that I would deliver consistent increases to our schools and that withholdings would stop. Last year, we fulfilled that promise and delivered 158 million new dollars to public schools, a 4.4 percent increase. We also passed a new funding formula that is based on the needs of Missouri school children rather than the taxing capacity of school districts. At the same time, we ensured that last year’s budget provided public colleges and universities with more funding than any budget of the prior administration.

In 2005, we did the most basic things in making a Missouri Family First budget. We set priorities and made choices. We got serious about getting full value for people’s hard-earned tax dollars. We found and ended many wasteful practices and created a culture that is committed to efficiency and responsible stewardship. We put children and taxpayers first. We changed course to bring the state’s priorities in sync with the people’s priorities.

Fiscal responsibility in budgeting works hand in hand with policy changes such as ending lawsuit abuse and establishing the Quality Jobs initiative. Today’s deficit spending is tomorrow’s job-killing tax hike. Last year we did not allow ourselves to make spending decisions under the false illusion that there is no end to state resources. We cannot dig ourselves into the spending hole that made last year so challenging. However, we can and should invest dollars wisely in order to secure an even brighter future.

The budget I present tonight required much thought and consideration. It lives within the people’s means while funding the many important services provided by state government.

Notably, the new budget is balanced without new job-destroying taxes and without borrowing or accounting gimmicks. This is a MISSOURI balanced budget. Spending and revenue are in balance. Last year we ended the policy of spending money that we do not have.

My priorities remain clear. From pre-school to college, the state budget should reflect the number one fiscal priority of state government – “to educate and prepare our children for the 21st century.” Last year, Melanie and I were blessed with the birth of our son. We, like all Missourians, want to provide him with every opportunity to achieve the American dream. At a young age, children’s minds are eager to learn, and as a state we should look for opportunities to foster that desire for knowledge so that Missouri’s students will lead the nation and, more importantly, thrive in the competitive global marketplace.

A key component of my comprehensive childhood education commitment is an increased investment in Parents-As-Teachers. Parents-As-Teachers changes children’s lives and ensures that any developmental delays are identified and corrected early, providing a bright future for Missouri children. My new budget provides another $1,000,000 to Parents-As-Teachers in addition to last year’s increase.

I am committed to delivering more taxpayer resources to Missouri schools every year. Last year we increased state aid to education by $158,000,000. My new budget fully funds the first year of the new school foundation formula and provides a total increase of 167 million new education dollars. Combined, these increases will result in 325 million new dollars for schools delivered by my Administration and this General Assembly.

We should ensure that as many of those new dollars as possible reach the classroom. There has already been a great deal of healthy and beneficial discussion regarding my proposal to deliver at least 65 percent of the education tax dollar to teachers and students, with others defending the current system. I do not believe it is acceptable to lag behind nearly every other state in teacher salaries or for some districts to spend only 52 or 53 cents of each education dollar on student instruction. That is not good stewardship of tax dollars.

I have heard comments and suggestions for adjustments to the education community’s definition of what constitutes classroom instruction. The definition is not my own. It belongs to the education establishment, but it is clearly not sufficient. I am open to meaningful discussion on this issue, but the bottom line is that more dollars must be delivered to the classroom.

Learning does not begin in kindergarten nor does it end after high school. Prior to my service as governor, colleges and universities were hit with significant cuts. This year, my budget calls for a $17,000,000 increase for state colleges and universities, providing them with the resources they need to improve quality and hold back tuition increases.

The A+ program is an additional tool that helps young Missourians stay in school and ensures that advanced learning is a reality for more Missourians. My budget increases state funding for A+ by $1,800,000, which will allow additional Missouri young people to attend community college and acquire the skills they need to be competitive in today’s global economy.

Residential care facilities such as Boys and Girls Town and Edgewood provide the love and support that can dramatically impact troubled children’s lives. Last year my budget recommended a $2,100,000 increase in funding for these care providers. This year, I am pleased to include 2.8 million new state dollars in my budget request for residential care facilities.

Smoking is one of the leading healthcare cost drivers. In Missouri, smoking takes thousands of lives and devastates families. We all pay the costs of smoking through increased insurance premiums, social welfare for smokers and most significantly through the loss of family and friends afflicted with cancer. The tobacco settlement funds have been misused in the past, and I propose that one million of those dollars be spent on smoking prevention and cessation this year.

The spike in gas prices and home heating costs has hit all of our families. Fortunately, common sense policies and regulations in Missouri have resulted in residential utility rates that are the eighth lowest in the nation. However, some seniors and low income Missourians have been pushed past their financial ability to keep up, and we must respond. In order to help low-income Missourians pay high winter heating bills I ask that $6,100,000 be dedicated immediately to Missouri's Utilicare program.

This program has never been fully funded and has received no funding since 2001. This crucial funding will provide real assistance to seniors and low-income Missourians. No Missourian should have to choose between heating and eating, between utilities or groceries.

Most seniors and disabled adults would like to remain in their own homes. In-home healthcare is more cost effective, and it allows them to do so. Last year, working together, we increased funding for in-home healthcare services. To continue encouraging home care as an option, this year's budget calls for a $10,900,000 general revenue increase to improve the quality and availability of in-home healthcare.

Through the ethanol and bio-diesel incentive programs we are encouraging a vital expansion of the economy by producing renewable fuels and reducing America's and Missouri's dependence on the Middle East while providing ready markets for the farmers of the Midwest. My budget calls for full funding of Missouri's bio-diesel and ethanol incentive funds.

I also call upon this General Assembly to pass an "Energy and Green Power Initiative," to reach beyond full funding for bio-diesel and ethanol incentives. I ask that we give Missouri's heartland economy a major and lasting boost by requiring that motor fuel sold in Missouri for passenger cars and trucks contain 10 percent ethanol.

This standard will spur even greater economic development in rural Missouri. For all of us, it will provide cleaner air, lower prices and greater independence from Middle East oil supplies. Please stand with me against special interests and for our farmers, consumers, the environment and new energy supplies made right here in Missouri.

As a veteran, I feel a special privilege in leading a state that respects military service and supports those who have worn the uniform. In my budget, I ask that you establish a new state veterans' cemetery, Missouri's fifth, at Ft. Leonard Wood.

I also ask that you approve my requested appropriation to strengthen the Veterans' Ombudsman program which serves men and women who are deployed in defense of our freedom and their families as well as those who have recently returned from deployment.

This night, and everyday as a free nation we are grateful to Missouri's men and women in arms.

Tonight, we have with us two Missourians who recently returned from active duty. Please join me in recognizing Major Brian K. Tully of Cape Girardeau and Master Sergeant Robert Miller of Tebbets. Both received the Bronze Star for their service in Iraq.

The state plays a key role in protecting children, families and seniors from criminals. We must do more to support law enforcement professionals on the front lines. Missouri has only four accredited full service crime labs. I ask that this General Assembly appropriate funds to staff and equip an additional state crime lab. This new lab will expedite forensic work, help ensure that case backlogs are not delaying justice, and get dangerous criminals out of our neighborhoods.

Drug courts save the state money. A University of Missouri study demonstrated that the cost per drug court participant is $5,400 versus the $14,000 cost the state bears to incarcerate a drug related inmate. Many non-violent drug offenders can be better punished and rehabilitated through drug courts, which is why my budget provides them with a $2,100,000 increase.

We are striving every day for greater efficiency in your state government. In fact, the budget I am presenting tonight is the first in eight years that requests funding for fewer than 60,000 state employees. That is partly due to better management, but it is also dependent on Missouri's state employees. They have answered my call to provide more efficient and effective customer service to Missourians while at the same time using fewer resources. They are truly doing more with less. We should reward their good work. An important component of my budget is the inclusion of a four percent pay raise for state employees.

One of government's most basic responsibilities is to respect and safeguard the rights of the people. Sadly, a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision undermined those very rights.

I was offended by the ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court in the Kelo versus New London case. This ruling allows governments to take private property for the use and profit of private interests. This ruling was wrong. Churches and places of worship across our state that contribute immeasurably to society but generate no tax revenue should not fear the forced sale of their land.

I believe the work of my task force on this issue provides the Legislature with a sound basis for "fixing" the Kelo decision and ensuring that eminent domain abuses in Missouri are forever ended. I look forward to working with you to protect homeowners, farmers and small business men and women all across the state.

I recognize the importance of healthcare to every Missouri family, and I believe we have an obligation to provide assistance to those truly in need of help. Last year, we took important steps to save Medicaid for our neediest citizens and began a process of reform. What few Missourians have heard is that we spent more money on Medicaid last year than we did the year before. If left unchecked the old program would literally bankrupt state government within a matter of years. Missourians know that simply throwing money at the problem without any other changes would not have solved the problem. Had we not taken action last year, today it would cost taxpayers an additional $935,000,000 to fund the old program. For those who continue to clamor for a return to the old way I ask that you be candid. Be honest with the people of Missouri and tell them what programs you would cut or what taxes you would raise. Do not pretend that we can spend money in a vacuum with no resulting harm to schools or Missouri taxpayers.

My administration remains committed to providing meaningful assistance to our neediest citizens. Medicaid is an important state program. That is why my budget asks for 275 million additional state dollars to sustain its current commitments. This significant increase will allow us to continue providing healthcare for 16 percent of our fellow citizens. It also means that this important program will receive 29 percent of the entire budget.

Federally Qualified Health Centers and Community Health Centers combine federal, state and community resources with personal responsibility to expand access to healthcare. My budget provides an additional $700,000 for the funding of new community health centers which will benefit tens of thousands of Missourians.

I also believe that technology and innovation are essential to improve the delivery of healthcare for all Missourians. That is why I am creating a Healthcare Information Technology Task Force to recommend ways to harness technology to make better care decisions for patients, which will lead to better results at reduced costs.

We must prepare now for the healthcare challenges of tomorrow. We should create a Healthcare Technology Fund to ensure that the basic technology that is pervasive throughout society is a part of the improved delivery of healthcare services to Missourians. This funding will involve multi-year projects that will explore new and innovative ways that technology can improve the delivery of care, reduce administrative burdens and eliminate waste and fraud. Programs funded with this money will emphasize personal responsibility and health literacy, and create a structure to help Missourians make informed healthcare decisions. The overarching goal is to improve the health status of all Missourians. The results will lead to a healthier state and a more efficient healthcare delivery system. That is why my budget provides 25 million new state dollars for a new Healthcare Technology Fund.

I commend the work of the legislative commission led by Senator Charlie Shields in outlining a structure for a new healthcare program that will improve the delivery and quality of healthcare in Missouri. We must also continue the successful work that has been done to improve efficiency, eliminate waste and track down and prosecute those who defraud the medical safety net.

Fraud, whether by dishonest providers or ineligible recipients, comes at the direct expense of people who truly cannot provide for themselves. In the past, we had a lackadaisical approach to fraud. Rooting it out was not a priority, but since January 2005, it has been one of my chief objectives. Since I assumed office, $138,000,000 of Medicaid waste and fraud has been identified and corrected.

Missourians by their nature are generous and compassionate to those in need. We must work together to create a new and better healthcare system in this state. This new program should contain many elements, such as additional incentives for employers who provide insurance to their employees, tax incentives for those who purchase their own medical, long term care and in-home health insurance, buying pools for small businesses and individuals to increase their purchasing power, all as part of an aggressive effort to reduce the number of uninsured Missourians.

We also must join together to bring greater transparency to our healthcare delivery system. We must arm Missourians with knowledge through increased access to information regarding the quality and cost of healthcare services. This vital information will allow Missourians to make informed healthcare decisions, and it will drive costs out of the system.

No state has found a “silver bullet” for the delivery of healthcare, and no state has the perfect program. All states are struggling with how to pay the mounting bills. But Missouri is being viewed as a national leader because of our commitment to innovative solutions for low-income healthcare and for the comprehensive and complete reworking of our program in an attempt to provide temporary help for Missourians during their time of need. Let us work together to create a healthcare system that offers assurance to our seniors, comfort to our families and hope to our children.

We also must pay particularly close attention to healthcare for our seniors. We all know the federal government has created a prescription drug benefit for them and I encourage all Missouri seniors to sign up for this important new assistance. I look forward to working with all of you to ensure that the state funded MissouriRx program is a robust supplement to the federal benefit.

I commend your action last year to make Missouri a leader in protecting our children from predatory criminals. Tonight, I propose a new series of crime measures to further protect the safety of our children. First, I propose that Missouri enact a version of Jessica’s Law, to impose a life sentence for sex crimes against children with a minimum of 25 years served in prison. These predators would then be under lifetime supervision after they complete their time behind bars.

We need to face facts. We have had little success at changing the behavior of child sex offenders. Too many children have been permanently scarred for us not to take action to appropriately punish these evil criminals. We need to lock sexual predators up for a very long time and monitor them for the rest of their lives.

The Internet has opened a new avenue for dangerous criminals. I am proposing a mandatory minimum sentence for Internet sex offenders who entice young children, and I am asking you to require the posting of their pictures on the Internet. Even if the "child" they think they are enticing is actually a law enforcement officer, these sexual predators must be punished.

In addition to protecting our children, Missouri must also maintain commitments to our seniors. Tonight, I urge this body to pass stronger penalties for those who commit violent crimes or fraud against senior citizens.

We are living in an age in which we must always be prepared to respond to man-made and natural disasters. Just last month the Taum Sauk reservoir burst releasing 1.3 billion gallons of water into Johnson Shut-Ins state park, injuring park superintendent Jerry Toops and his family. Please join me in recognizing the Toops family, who are with us tonight.

I am happy to report that Jerry, Lisa and their children, Tanner, Tara and Tucker have all recovered and are doing well. The prayers of many Missourians including my own were answered, and we are so pleased to have them here tonight. The faith they have demonstrated is truly inspiring. The reservoir that was breached was under federal jurisdiction and, while Missouri had no authority to inspect the dam, we will insist that AmerenUE fully compensate those affected and provide 100 percent reimbursement to the state.

Working together we have solved many of the problems we faced in January 2005. Although we must work diligently on the budget before us, we have contained the raging blaze kindled by past over-spending and deficit budgeting.

None of the new investments that I have proposed here tonight would be possible had we not acted last year to improve our jobs climate and control unsustainable spending. Increased funding for schools, the strengthening of the safety net and holding the line on taxes depend upon responsible budgeting decisions.

Our record is clear. We promised a balanced budget without accounting tricks or tax increases. We have turned an over one billion dollar shortfall into a surplus, and we will build a brighter future for all Missourians on a solid financial foundation.

We promised to re-fire the economic engine of opportunity, and we have created a jobs environment which has resulted in 28,000 more Missourians achieving the dignity and independence a paycheck provides.

We promised to develop a better way to fund schools and to make the teaching of young people our first priority. The new student need-based funding formula is now the law, and I have recommended that we fully fund it.

We promised better stewardship and to fight waste and fraud. Millions of taxpayer dollars have been saved, and we will continue our ongoing efforts to achieve greater efficiency.

It may not be normal in politics, but what we have promised is what we have delivered.

As we tackle other tough issues ahead we should keep in mind the words of the Bible that "to whomever much is given, much will be required." We have been blessed as a people, as Americans and as Missourians. We have a moral obligation to set very high expectations for the future.

Every Missourian should be able to achieve their full potential, be blessed with financial security and be comforted knowing that we will keep our commitments and work together to build the Missouri of our dreams.

Thank you. May God bless you and may God continue to bless the great state of Missouri.

The Joint Committee appointed to wait upon the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Michael A. Wolff, escorted the Chief Justice to the dais where

CHIEF JUSTICE MICHAEL A. WOLFF

Thank you for that warm welcome. I'm truly grateful to be here.

President Kinder, Speaker Jetton, honorable statewide elected officials, colleagues of the Supreme Court, honorable members of the cabinet, honorable members of this General Assembly and fellow citizens:

Thank you for this opportunity to speak with you today. Before I begin, I would like for us to remember Judge Theodore McMillian, who died last week. Judge McMillian was our state's first black circuit judge, state appeals judge and, for the past 27 years, a distinguished member of the United States Court of Appeals in St. Louis. He was a historic figure, an inspiration to those of us who were privileged to know him, and a generous mentor. Through his talents, persistence, civility and sense of humor, Judge McMillian opened doors that had previously been closed to men and women of his race. Let us pause for a moment of silence to honor him. Thank you.

This annual speech reminds us of our shared bond: our common oath to uphold the constitution and laws of this great state and nation. This shared promise binds us to a common goal, expressed by our state's motto: "The welfare of the people shall be the supreme law." We are, as my colleague Judge Mary Russell says, "constitutional partners."

Although members of the executive, legislative and judicial branches may not often think of themselves as partners, I believe the term fits. Each of us has a distinct and equally important role. The basic policies of our state are embodied in the constitution that the people themselves have enacted. In partnership with each other and with the people we serve – who retain for themselves the right to change the Constitution that we uphold and the laws that you write – we forge the body of law that governs all of us.

IMPORTANCE OF THE RULE OF LAW

More so than any other nation on Earth, we are a nation first and foremost of law. We have no common national origin or ethnicity that now forms our shared identity as Americans. Instead, our identity has been shaped by the rule of law and by our common experience that faithfulness to the law guarantees individual liberties, equality of opportunity and a functioning society. As constitutional partners, we all are given the task of protecting the long-standing rule of law. Its roots date back at least to the Magna Carta – some 800 years ago. In our state constitution, the people repeat the Magna Carta's command that "justice shall be administered without sale, denial or delay."

Our partnership preserves certain long-standing principles of the rule of law that set us apart from the many societies where the people yearn to overcome the rule of "might makes right" or that perversion of the golden rule that "he who has the gold makes the rules."

Each of us may, from our varying perspectives and decidedly different constitutional roles, have a different view of what exactly the "rule of law" means. You in the General Assembly are commissioned broadly to carry out the preferences of your constituents – the majority of those who elected you. At times you may ask yourselves the age-old question: Am I elected merely to follow the will of my constituents, or do I use my own best judgment to achieve the welfare of all the people?

Courts, by contrast, work from texts – the words of the constitution, the common-law precepts expressed in judicial decisions, and the words that you write in statutes and that executive agencies write in regulations. We in the judicial branch labor over these words, and we strive to be faithful to their meaning.

The courts' work is dedicated to the application and enforcement of the constitution and laws. The vast majority of our work involves the lives of ordinary citizens. Very little of what our courts do makes news: the thousands of cases where businesses, large and small, enforce their contracts; where marital disputes are resolved; where property is conveyed; where wealth is transmitted through probate; where children, victims of domestic violence and other vulnerable people are protected; and where those accused of crime are tried.

Courts provide stable and rational resolution of disputes, protect property and economic interests, and, when needed, protect people from the overreaching of government. Courts cannot make everyone happy, but I do hope that the litigants and the public will respect the integrity of our processes and of our decision-makers, both judges and juries.

The courts' challenge is to be fair and impartial, professionally competent and prompt. We can do so only with your help and your support and our citizens' belief that the rule of law protects all of us even when we might disagree with particular decisions.

IDEALS OF EFFECTIVE COURTS

The rule of law is simple in theory, yet how can we maintain it in practice? One way is to compare ourselves to those nations in the process of creating a functioning rule of law. Many countries do not have a strong tradition embodying the rule of law and still resolve their disputes in the streets. People in these countries often look to the United States of America as a model, for they respect the integrity of our courts and the constitutional processes as they watch cases unfold here.

American lawyers and judges, at the request of our federal government, offer guidance to many countries about how to establish effective judiciaries. Under the auspices of the U.S. Agency for International Development, American lawyers and the National Center for State Courts have helped implement rule-of-law programs in former Eastern bloc countries and in developing nations around the world. While we in America occasionally complain about the outcomes of particular cases, it is that process of peaceably resolving disputes that is one of our greatest exports and surely one of our most lasting legacies to the world. This simple concept of a rule of law – grounded in our constitutions, fashioned in our legislatures, administered by an executive branch and enforced in the courts – ensures civic order rather than civic chaos.

The rule of law is the foundation of a democratic government, of a strong economic system and of civic order. The rule of law ensures, in Lincoln's words, government of the people, by the people and for the people.

What do we tell the world are the criteria for courts under a rule of law? There are three key measures: independence, accountability and adequate resources. By examining how independent, accountable and adequately supported a nation's judiciary is, one can determine if that nation adheres to the rule of law or is still suffering from tyranny, lawlessness and corruption. By looking to a nation's respect for the rule of law we can discern the integrity of its governmental process, the progress of civil society, and the robustness and stability of its economic development.

JUDICIAL PRINCIPLES APPLIED TO MISSOURI

So let us ask: how does our Missouri Judiciary stack up to the same three measures – independence, accountability and resources? What really is the "State of the Judiciary" in our great state?

To answer these questions, we must first understand what these terms – independence, accountability and resources – mean. I will touch briefly on the first two, which my predecessors have discussed with you in recent years, and then spend a bit more time on the third.

"Independence," quite frankly, is both overused and misunderstood. It should not be interpreted, either by the public or by any judge, to mean that a judge is free to do as he or she sees fit. Such behavior runs counter to our oaths to uphold the law, and any attempt to put personal beliefs ahead of the law undercuts the effectiveness of the Judiciary as a whole. Better stated, "independence" refers to the need for courts that are fair and impartial when reviewing cases and rendering decisions. By necessity, it also requires freedom from undue outside influence or political intimidation, both in considering cases and in seeking the office of judge. Courts are not established to follow opinion polls or to try to discern the will of the people at any given time but rather are to uphold the law.

The people rely on courts to protect their access to justice and to protect their legal rights. For the sake of the people, then, judicial independence must always be coupled with the second stated measure – accountability.

In recent months we have seen two men nominated to the Supreme Court of the United States face intense questioning of their views by members of the United States Senate. I believe these hearings offered an important lesson about the difference between judges and the legislators who questioned them.

The important lesson taught by Chief Justice John Roberts Jr. and Judge Samuel Alito is that they resisted demands to take positions on particular controversies that might come before the Court. They, in effect, refused to make campaign promises. Campaign promises are inconsistent with judging. After all, you don't want a referee in a football game to announce which side he will penalize before the game begins! If judges are to be faithful to the law, they must be prepared to consider written and oral arguments with an open mind. And this open-mindedness is what we ask of our fellow citizens – and you – who serve as jurors in courtrooms throughout this state – to not pre-judge the outcome before they can consider all the evidence and arguments. Judges as well as jurors must make decisions that are faithful to the law, regardless of the will of the people and even where, on occasion, they personally might prefer to decide otherwise. That is the essence of judging, and it is quite unlike the legislative role.

In our state, judicial accountability occurs on two broad levels. First, just like you, we are accountable to our fellow citizens through the election and retention systems. Unlike federal judges, who enjoy lifetime tenure, judges in Missouri have a direct connection to the voters. The people of Missouri have crafted a system that balances independence and accountability. In smaller counties, where voters can get to know their judicial candidates, there are elections. In some urban trial courts and the appellate courts, judges are selected under the nonpartisan court plan and periodically face the voters in retention elections. This system balances various competing interests and avoids the problems seen in other states where the integrity of the judicial process, even at the highest levels, increasingly has been brought into question.

Many of us who spend time in the eastern part of our state could not avoid seeing on television the kind of election that can result when millions of dollars are raised and spent on a judicial campaign. In the 2004 race for one district seat on the Illinois Supreme Court, most of the money spent was assuredly special interest money – business interests on the one side, trial lawyers on the other side – with charges and counter-charges that detracted seriously from the public's trust and confidence in the integrity and the impartiality of the judiciary. Missouri's system keeps courts accountable to the people while avoiding the kinds of campaigns that can diminish respect for judicial office.

Second, judges in Missouri are, above all, accountable to the law and the constitution through our sworn oaths. We are also accountable through the judicial disciplinary system established by our constitution. For nonpartisan judges subject to retention, The Missouri Bar is seeking to improve accountability by giving voters better evaluations of judicial performance. This fall, voters in some areas will have available to them not only the traditional evaluations by lawyers who are acquainted with the judges' work but also evaluations by jurors of the judges who preside over the cases on which they serve.

Citizens view the courts as an important part of democracy that provides essential balance in our form of government. As a result, we conduct the courts' business as openly as possible consistent with the rights of individuals. We strive for predictability of outcomes for those who seek judgments in our courts as enshrined in the principle of stare decisis, constant professionalism, and fundamental fairness of procedure. The citizens of this great state expect – and deserve – no less.

FUNDING AN EFFICIENT AND PROFESSIONAL JUDICIARY

To ensure that Missouri's courts can give the level of performance required by these principles, we must have sufficient resources. On this third measure – resources – we are most reliant on our constitutional partners – both in the General Assembly and the executive branch. We rely on you to provide a budget that is sufficient to allow us to fulfill our constitutional responsibilities.

We share your hope that we are now emerging from the difficult fiscal times that have been so challenging for the past five years. During this time, we have tried to manage our resources well. Today, the judicial branch receives about 1.6 percent of the state's budget – less than the percentage of the state's budget that we received 20 years ago. During that same period, however, our responsibilities have increased; for instance, juvenile officers have been added to our budget to relieve county governments of some of the burden of supporting local courts. In the past 10 years, as our workforce has decreased, our trial court case filings have increased 23 percent, largely in civil cases involving breach of contract claims filed by businesses, landlord-tenant disputes and domestic relations. The other major area of increase was in felony criminal cases, due largely to new drug laws.

In light of these facts, it is clear that maintaining effective courts requires a renewed commitment of financial resources to the Missouri Judiciary. The amounts we need are quite small in comparison to the overall state budget, but they are essential.

When you and your constituents visit the courthouses in your district, you see the effects that our recent budget restrictions have had on our deputy clerks, who are the frontline personnel and the true face of our court system. Turnover in their ranks has reached an alarming rate, particularly in urban and suburban areas where the annual turnover rate is as high as 17 percent. Even in rural areas, where salaries are still more competitive, we experience significant turnover. Throughout the state – in both rural and urban courts – we have seen an actual decrease in the worth of salaries as wages fail to keep pace with the cost of living. Through these tough times, the many good people who have remained in our system despite layoffs and a lack of increasing salaries – like a lot of others in public service – have soldiered on.

We continue to improve court technology, consolidate local court functions and make other efforts to be efficient. But we need to retain our well-trained clerk staff, which we increasingly are unable to do. Often, after developing their skills and becoming proficient in working in the court system, they are marketable and move on to higher paying jobs with their new skills. While we can never stop some flow of workers out of public service, we hope that adopting the Governor's proposed 4-percent cost-of-living increase will assist us in retaining many of these frontline employees who are so important to the effectiveness of the Judiciary.

We appreciate your support, and the Governor's recent proposed increase, for our drug courts, which now operate in 35 of our 45 judicial circuits. It is in the interests of all of us, and the communities that we serve, to work together on measures such as drug courts and the sentencing advisory commission that can prevent repeat offenses so that our most expensive correctional resources – prisons – are reserved for violent offenders.

There is, of course, one other group on whom the budgetary constraints of recent years are taking a toll: our state's judges, who now face their sixth year without any pay increase or cost-of-living adjustment. The state of judicial salaries is having a negative impact on our ability to attract the state's best lawyers to judicial service to provide the best service to our citizens – and your constituents. I realize it may seem politically unpopular to some of you to consider a pay increase or cost-of-living adjustment for public servants who are paid better than most state employees. None of us, however, has the power to repeal the economic laws of the marketplace. Consider for a moment a few facts:

There now are Missouri attorneys fresh out of law school who are paid more in their very first legal jobs than some state trial judges before whom they may appear. For Missouri lawyers older than 36 years of age, the average salary is as much as one and a half times that of a state Supreme Court judge. While our state has attracted and retained – through increased compensation – many fine state-paid law professors, university administrators and other similarly talented public sector professionals, we have seen the opposite in the Judiciary. In recent years, some of our best jurists – including some from the Supreme Court – have moved on to much more lucrative jobs in the private sector, and the number of lawyers applying for judicial vacancies has decreased substantially.

I appreciate the fact that many in this great chamber make substantial financial sacrifices to serve here. Judges do so as well, but they also give up the opportunity for any supplement to their state salaries through the practice of law for which they are trained.

We all know that the calling to public service involves financial sacrifice. As with our clerk staff, we will never completely stop talented people from leaving public service. But when the gap between the private sector and public service gets too large, good people will not sacrifice their families' financial interests to answer the call. My greatest fear is that we will lose the ability to attract enough of the state's finest lawyers to public service in the Judiciary.

I have one other request affecting the judicial branch that I make sincerely and respectfully: Let us consider the needs of the Judiciary and the state as a whole when evaluating local requests for additional resources. We in the judicial branch are aided in developing a statewide approach for the allocation of resources by judges from around the state who serve on our circuit court budget committee. I know that some of you have ideas for improving the use of our resources even beyond the efforts that we have made to assign judges to areas of critical need and to enlist the good work of senior judges in meeting these needs. We stand ready and willing to work with you, as constitutional partners, to improve the rational allocation of our resources.

OTHER PARTNERSHIPS THAT HELP THE STATE

Judicial effectiveness clearly does not rest on financial resources alone, nor is it solely the product of courts' efforts. It relies heavily on how we work with our other partners in this system of justice: law enforcement officers, prosecutors, public defenders and other attorneys. Members of The Missouri Bar contribute greatly to the cause of justice, not only as officers of the court but also through their volunteer efforts as pro bono attorneys, as members of Bar committees, and in other types of public service and civic leadership.

The public service of our law enforcement community is sometimes heroic and well known, but it is in their everyday efforts that they serve as frontline defenders of the rule of law. We continue to seek ways in which we can better cooperate and communicate with law enforcement, particularly through our ongoing commitment to court technology. The demands of recent legislation such as the sex offender registry, as well as the impending federal mandate to communicate commercial driver license revocations to other states, require us to be administrative partners in new and innovative ways with law enforcement. We seek your cooperation and support in these important efforts.

Likewise, we look to both prosecutors and public defenders on matters of mutual importance to the administration of justice. In this current session, we in the judicial branch pledge to work with these groups toward resolving some of the issues relating to administration of trials and other matters of mutual interest. We further pledge to work with the public defender system in whatever way possible toward the attraction and retention of employees and toward the alleviation of its ever-increasing caseload. When I spoke earlier of the challenge of attracting and retaining good public servants, those words echo all too loudly in light of the crisis facing our public defender system. Often the test of a system of justice is not how it treats our best citizens, but how it treats those who appear to be our worst. No system of justice can be effective without adequate legal representation for criminal defendants. It is in the interests of all of us – even if it were not a constitutional requirement – that those whom the state deprives of liberty or life are guilty in fact and law of the crimes they are charged with committing. This goes to the legitimacy of the rule of law.

THE RULE OF LAW: A LIVING PRINCIPLE

So, are we there yet? Can Missouri be said to have a fully independent, accountable and adequately supported Judiciary? Well, we may not be there yet, but we know the way.

A recent national survey shows that most Americans want strong courts that will protect their individual rights, that will offer equal access to justice for all people, that are accountable to the constitution and the law, and that are free from the influence of politicians and special interest groups. If we are to be responsive to those ideals and to the values of our citizens – fundamental principles of this nation – then it is most important to strive for these goals above all else.

The ideals and values of the people are not expressed only in surveys. They are in our souls as Americans. From the beginning of the American Revolution, our people have understood the consequences of failing to have a judicial branch that is independent, accountable and adequately supported. The signers of the Declaration of Independence certainly understood what oppression could be inflicted by those in power when those values are ignored. The signers understood that it was necessary to have a stable justice system to protect the people from tyranny. We all remember “Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness” enshrined in the Declaration of Independence. But consider, to be specific, some of the grievances in the Declaration against King George III, who deprived us “in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury” and transported us “beyond seas, to be tried for pretended offenses. ... [H]e has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.”

As Americans in the 21st century, we intuitively value the checks and balances that are the hallmarks of our democratic republic, the protection of the rights of individuals, and the fundamental sense of fairness embodied in what the constitution calls due process of law. Our ideals and our goals are worthy of our constant efforts, individually and with you, our constitutional partners.

Today, in Missouri, we are responsible for administering justice in the highest sense of which we are capable ... to be fair and impartial; to be free of undue influence; to be accountable to the law and not to the popular will; and to be effective and consistent in the exercise of proper judgment.

We pray that we are up to the challenge of providing a forum where the people peaceably can resolve their disputes and their legitimate constitutional grievances against their government. It is a challenge that we approach humbly and in full recognition of the limitations of the judicial role.

I offer you our cooperation, and I ask for your support as we continue our ongoing, mutual pursuit of a Judiciary that lives up to the ideals expressed in our state's motto. Thank you very much.

On motion of Senator Shields, the Joint Session was dissolved and the Senators returned to the Chamber where they were called to order by Senator Koster.

Journal of the Senate

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

SEVENTEENTH DAY—THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 2006

President Kinder in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"You have put gladness in my heart, more than when grain and wine and oil increase." (Psalm 4:7)

O God, as we complete this week and head back to those You have given us to love and who love us, make us mindful of the joy and warmth we carry in our hearts, aware that they have sacrificed for us and missed us and carried on the responsibilities we have left by our absence. And, let us find ways to honor their faithfulness and show appreciation for work they have done and help us show how much they mean to us and how much we do love them. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following messages were received from the Governor, reading of which was waived:

TO THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE NINETY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY THE STATE OF MISSOURI:

The elimination of legislatively created barriers to consolidation in the financial industry has allowed financial services companies to embark upon an unprecedented period of mergers and acquisitions resulting in companies now offering "one stop shopping" for financial products previously sold by entities strictly separated by law. Proper regulation of this changing field requires the similar consolidation of insurance and financial regulation within the state. Consolidating these responsibilities into one department makes sense administratively and as a matter of public policy because it will allow for a more coherent and comprehensive approach to regulating professionals, financial services, financial products and transactions.

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of the State of Missouri, including the Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974 and sections 26.500 through 26.540, RSMo, I hereby transmit Reorganization Plan #1 of 2006, by Executive Order 06-04, to remove the Division of Finance, State Banking Board, Division of Credit Unions, and the Division of Professional Registration from the Department of Economic Development and assign their responsibilities and functions to the Department of Insurance. The Department of Insurance will be renamed the Department of Insurance, Financial Institutions and Professional Registration.

The Division of Professional Registration will be included in this consolidation because the new department's primary function will be the regulation of industries and individuals, which compliments the division's primary function of regulating various professions.

SPECIFIC DEPARTMENT STRUCTURE

The new department will be under the administrative authority of the Director of the Department of Insurance, Financial Institutions and Professional Registration who shall appoint a Deputy Director. The Director will be responsible for the management of the department and administration of its programs and services.

The Deputy Director's primary responsibility shall be assisting the Director with the regulation of the insurance industry. The Deputy Director shall report directly to the Director. There shall be a Division of Consumer Affairs and as many other divisions of insurance as the Director deems necessary for the efficient regulation of the insurance industry. Division directors shall report directly to the Deputy Director.

The Division of Professional Registration, Division of Finance, State Banking Board, and Division of Credit Unions shall be transferred, by Type III transfer, to the Department of Insurance, Financial and Professional Registration. The State Banking Board and the Directors of the Division of Professional Registration, Division of Credit Unions and the Division of Finance shall continue to be appointed and shall retain all authority as currently provided by law.

The department shall be structured in a manner consistent with the following organizational framework:

1. Insurance

- a. Office of Director – Responsible for policy decisions, legislation, communications and regulations. Shall consist of the department director, deputy director, legal staff, public information staff, legislative coordinator and support staff.
- b. Division of Financial Regulation – Responsible for conducting financial analysis and examinations of insurers domiciled in Missouri to verify their financial condition, compliance with Missouri laws, and accepted accounting practices.
- c. Division of Market Regulation - Responsible for regulating the performance of insurers in the marketplace.
- d. Division of Consumer Affairs - Assists the public in resolving complaints, providing information on insurance policies and investigating insurance fraud.
- e. Division of Resource Administration - Oversees licensing, budget, management information systems and support services.

2. Division of Professional Registration – Responsible for licensing qualified professionals, appropriately enforcing standards and maintaining an open communication network with the over 400,000 licensees in order to encourage the development of professional services throughout the state. This division shall be under the management and authority of the Director of Professional Registration.
3. Division of Finance – Responsible for the execution of the laws relating to banks, trust companies, savings and loans, and the banking business of this state; and of the laws relating to persons, co-partnerships and corporations engaged in the small loan business in this state.
4. State Banking Board - Advises the director of finance as to the proper administration of his office and the banking laws of this state and recommends statutory amendments to the general assembly. Also handles appeals from certain decisions and orders of the commissioner of finance; and
5. Division of Credit Unions - Responsible for the examination, supervision, chartering, merger and liquidation of all state-chartered credit unions. The division also responds to consumer requests or complaints in regard to credit union services or operations.

Matt Blunt

TO THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE NINETY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI:

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of the State of Missouri, including the Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974 and sections 26.500 through 26.540, RSMo, I hereby transmit Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 2006, by Executive Order 06-05, to transfer the Missouri Rx Plan Advisory Commission from the Department of Health and Senior Services and assign it, and all of its responsibilities and functions, to the Department of Social Services.

The transfer of the Missouri Rx Plan Advisory Commission from the Department of Health and Senior Services to the Department of Social Services will improve efficiencies within state government, as the Department of Social Services is tasked with administering the state's pharmaceuticals program, popularly known as "The Missouri Rx Plan".

The Missouri Rx Plan Advisory Commission and the Department of Social Services currently have similar and overlapping functions, which results in the duplication of efforts and waste that can be eliminated by this consolidation. Further, combining these responsibilities into one department makes sense administratively and as a matter of public policy because it will allow a more coherent and comprehensive approach to administering and promoting the Missouri Rx Plan.

SPECIFIC DEPARTMENT STRUCTURE

The Missouri Rx Plan Advisory Commission will retain all functions and authority as provided by law. The Department of Social Services shall furnish administrative support and staff as is necessary for the effective operation of the Missouri Rx Plan Advisory Commission.

Respectfully submitted,
Matt Blunt

EXECUTIVE ORDER 06-05

WHEREAS, the Department of Social Services was established pursuant to Article IV, Section 37 of the Missouri Constitution; and WHEREAS, the Department of Health and Senior Services was established pursuant to Section 192.005, RSMo; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri Rx Plan Advisory Commission ("Commission") was established by Section 208.792. 1, RSMo, and is currently assigned to the Department of Health and Senior Services; and

WHEREAS, the Commission provides advice on guidelines, policies, and procedures necessary to establish the Missouri Rx plan; educates Missouri residents on quality prescription drug programs and cost-containment strategies in medication therapy; and assists Missouri residents in enrolling or accessing prescription drug assistance programs for which they are eligible; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri Rx Plan was established pursuant to Section 208.782, RSMo and assigned to the Department of Social Services; and

WHEREAS, the purpose of the Missouri Rx Plan is to provide certain pharmaceutical benefits to certain elderly and disabled residents of this state, to facilitate coordination of benefits between the Missouri Rx plan and the federal Medicare Part D drug benefit program, as well as to enroll such individuals in said program; and WHEREAS, consolidation of the Commission and the Missouri Rx Plan within one department would increase efficiencies and eliminate duplication of efforts and is a component of the Governor's Executive Branch Reorganization Plan of 2006; and WHEREAS, I am committed to integrating executive branch operations to ensure that the state delivers quality services in the most accessible manner and at the lowest cost to taxpayers.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, MATT BLUNT, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the Laws of the State of Missouri, do hereby order the Missouri Department of Social Services and the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services, to cooperate to:

1. Transfer all the authority, powers, duties, functions, records, personnel, property, contracts, budgets, matters pending, and other pertinent vestiges of the Missouri Rx Plan Advisory Commission from the Department of Health and Senior Services to the Department of Social Services; and

2. Develop mechanisms and processes necessary to effectively transfer the Missouri Rx Plan Advisory Commission to the Department of Social Services; and
3. Take the steps necessary to maintain compliance with federal requirements, so as not to jeopardize federal financial participation with this consolidation.

This Order shall become effective no sooner than August 28, 2006 unless disapproved within sixty days of its submission to the Second Regular Session of the 93rd General Assembly.

TO THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE NINETY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI:

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of the State of Missouri, including the Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974 and sections 26.500 through 26.540, RSMo, I hereby transmit Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 2006, by Executive Order 06-06, to transfer the Missouri Assistive Technology Advisory Council from the Office of Administration and assign it, and all of its responsibilities and functions, to the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education.

The transfer of the Missouri Assistive Technology Advisory Council from the Office of Administration to the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education will improve efficiencies within state government, as other vocational rehabilitation and special education services are already provided by the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education.

Further, transferring this council to a department that provides services germane to the council's stated purpose makes sense administratively and as a matter of public policy because it will allow a more coherent and comprehensive approach to providing these services.

SPECIFIC DEPARTMENT STRUCTURE

The Missouri Assistive Technology Advisory Council will retain all functions and authority as provided by law. The Department of Elementary and Secondary Education shall furnish the necessary administrative support and staff for the efficient operation of the Missouri Assistive Technology Advisory Council.

Respectfully submitted,
Matt Blunt

WHEREAS, the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education was authorized pursuant to Article IX of the Missouri Constitution and created pursuant to Section 161.020, RSMo; and WHEREAS, Missouri is home to nearly one million persons with disabilities; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri Assistive Technology Advisory Council was established by Section 191.853, RSMo, and is currently assigned to the Office of Administration; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri Assistive Technology Advisory Council supports access to adaptive devices that increase the independence and productivity of Missourians with all types of disabilities; and WHEREAS, the Missouri Assistive Technology Advisory Council provides training, technical assistance, and education and rehabilitation services for individuals with disabilities and employers; and

WHEREAS, the work of the Missouri Assistive Technology Advisory Council would be strengthened by a move to the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education where other vocational rehabilitation and special education services are provided; and

WHEREAS, the transfer of the Missouri Assistive Technology Advisory Council would better serve Missouri's citizens by increasing efficiencies and eliminating duplication of efforts and is a component of the Governor's Executive Branch Reorganization Plan of 2006; and

WHEREAS, I am committed to integrating executive branch operations to improve the way the state delivers services;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, MATT BLUNT, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the Laws of the State of Missouri, do hereby order the Missouri Office of Administration and the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, to cooperate to:

1. Transfer all the authority, powers, duties, functions, records, personnel, property, contracts, budgets, matters pending, and other pertinent vestiges of the Missouri Assistive Technology Advisory Council from the Office of Administration to the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, by Type III transfer, as defined under the Reorganization Act of 1974; and

TO THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE NINETY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI:

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of the State of Missouri, including the Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974 and sections 26.500 through 26.540, RSMo, I hereby transmit Reorganization Plan No. 4 of 2006, by Executive Order 06-07, to transfer the Missouri Life Sciences Research Board from the Office of Administration and assign it, and all of its responsibilities and functions, to the Department of Economic Development.

The transfer of the Missouri Life Sciences Research Board from the Office of Administration to the Department of Economic Development will improve efficiencies within state government, as the Department of Economic Development currently administers other programs and state initiatives promoting life sciences in Missouri.

Further, because the Missouri Life Sciences Research Board is responsible for the management, governance, and control of moneys appropriated from the Life Sciences Research Trust Fund, transferring the Board to the department responsible for promoting life science initiatives makes sense administratively and as a matter of public policy because it will allow a more coherent and comprehensive approach to allocating resources for the promotion of Missouri as a leading center for life sciences research.

SPECIFIC DEPARTMENT STRUCTURE

The Missouri Life Sciences Research Board will retain all functions and authority as provided by law. The Department of Economic Development shall furnish administrative support and staff as is necessary for the effective operation of the Missouri Life Sciences Research Board.

The Director of Transportation, Pete Rahn, assumed the dais and delivered the State of Transportation Address to the Joint Assembly:

Pete Rahn

State of Transportation Address

Jefferson City, Missouri

February 7, 2006

Mr. Speaker, Mr. President Pro Tem, Distinguished State Officials, Members of the 93rd General Assembly, Members of the Missouri Highways and Transportation Commission, and Citizens of Missouri:

What a difference a year makes!

Last year during this address, I made a lot of bold statements. I said that together, the people of Missouri and MoDOT, would make our highways smoother and safer, sooner than anyone could imagine. I said that MoDOT would become a model for state government by demonstrating openness, accountability and an unrelenting focus on the people we serve. And I said we would make the absolute best use of every taxpayer dollar we spent on your transportation system.

Last year, I talked the talk. During the past year, we have walked the walk. With your help, we are proud to bring you progress you can feel!

You are feeling that progress through the improved smoothness and safety of our highways. The voters of Missouri presented us with the opportunity to do great things by passing Amendment 3. We moved quickly to get vital projects ready to go and in 2005 our Smoother, Safer, Sooner plan roared full speed ahead.

I have said many times that people judge the job MoDOT is doing through the seat of their pants. In other words, the smoothness of our roads.

Upon completion of this initiative, over 2,200 miles of Missouri's busiest highways will be in good condition. These highways carry 60 percent of all traffic, and 86 percent of our population lives within 10 miles of one of them. Nearly 29 billion miles a year are traveled on these roads. We are making them smooth. That is progress millions of Missourians can feel.

As the average age of our driving population increases we must accommodate their needs too. So the Smooth Roads Initiative also means progress you can see and hear. Progress you can see through larger, easier-to-read road signs; and brighter, wider pavement markings. Progress you can hear through rumble stripes that alert you loud and clear when you are veering off the roadway and that provide a clear path on highway shoulders for bicyclists.

We moved quickly to get Amendment 3 improvements started, and a majority of Smooth Roads Initiative projects are now under contract. In his State of the State Address, however, Governor Blunt issued a challenge to even further speed up our efforts to improve Missouri's highways. He challenged MoDOT to complete the Smooth Roads Initiative by the end of 2006 -- a full one year ahead of schedule. And, not that we're keeping track, but that is a mere 327 days, 13 hours, 19 minutes and 46 seconds from now.

This is a major challenge, but the governor was right to stress fixing our roads as fast as possible. It is paramount to the success of our state. The sooner we finish, the sooner we benefit from the results. It will not be easy, but we will meet the governor's challenge. When we do, it will be progress you can feel...in record time.

A sage once said, "The shortest distance between two points is....under construction." Well, we demonstrated that in 2005 with over 1,000 work zones from border to border. A record number of work zones means a record number of opportunities to inconvenience travelers. We responded to this by working closely with our contractors to ensure work zones flowed as well as possible and that they were safe for crews and the traveling public. We are committed to progress, but we must achieve it safely.

There is no doubt, 2006 will be even bigger--in fact, the biggest year in Missouri's highway construction history. That's unprecedented progress. Progress you can feel!

The second element of Smoother, Safer, Sooner focused on getting scheduled highway improvements done quicker. Bonding made possible by Amendment 3 allowed us to speed up work already in our five-year construction plan - some by several years. We have moved up 55 projects totaling four hundred and thirty two million dollars, with work already under way on more than 35 highway improvements.

Getting this work done sooner is extremely important. An improved road saves lives, creates jobs, and makes travel more efficient for millions of drivers. This is a vital aspect of our Amendment 3 implementation. This is progress you can feel!

The third element of Smoother, Safer, Sooner resulted from the most open and transparent highway improvement selection process in Missouri's history and, I am confident, the entire nation. We invited private citizens from every region of Missouri to sit at the table with MoDOT and decide what new projects should be added to our five-year plan.

The people of Missouri helped us identify 39 projects to be added to the five-year construction program. These are high-priority, major projects totaling one point six billion dollars that otherwise could not have been built for decades.

Ladies and gentlemen, this progress means that you can feel the state of your transportation system improving, but there is much work left to be done and insufficient resources to do it. Amendment 3 and the outstanding work of our congressional delegation on the renewal of the federal transportation-funding bill have provided an increased highway revenue stream that is greatly appreciated, and we are using it to dramatically improve your state highways. However, in 2010 the construction bubble bursts and our construction program will diminish by over six hundred million dollars annually.

Our five-year construction program will average one point four billion dollars per year. We will make the best use of every dollar spent to successfully complete the largest transportation program in Missouri's history with 866 projects totaling seven point three billion dollars.

At the end of those five years, however, our per-year construction average will plummet to $805 million. Additionally, we are experiencing higher fuel prices and a decrease in car sales. These are factors that add up to less than expected revenues for needed highway improvements and increasing costs to build them.

The sun is shining on transportation in Missouri, but there are storm clouds on the horizon. Good old Missouri common sense says that you fix the roof when the sun is shining not once it starts raining. It is imperative that we initiate a discussion about future transportation investments.

This year we celebrate the 50th anniversary of the nation's interstate highway system. Interstate highways have changed the American way of life. They have brought us closer together, revolutionized freight shipment and fueled the most powerful economic engine in world history. Unfortunately, interstate highways weren't built to last 50 years.

In Missouri, stretches of I-70 that are now nearly 50 years old were designed to last just 20 years. There was no way to predict that this corridor, connecting our two largest cities and Missouri to the world, would carry the amount or type of traffic it now does. The congestion on I-70 presents safety concerns, could affect productivity and has damaged this vital highway all the way to its core. By 2030, the entire length of I-70 will be stop-and-go traffic and I-44 is just ten years behind. The bottom line is that our interstates are victims of their own success.

I-70 needs to be rebuilt from the ground up and needs to be expanded to accommodate ever-growing traffic and the ever-larger vehicles using it. A total reconstruction would cost more than three and a half billion dollars. With current funding, however, we will only be able to rebuild this vital corridor one short section at a time. That method will mean none of us will be alive to see its completion.

Unfortunately, while we know how much it will cost to fix I-70 and we know what will not work as a reasonable way to pay for it, we do not know how we WILL pay for it.

As Ron McLinden of the Sierra Club mentioned to me, "The future isn't what it used to be." We are now competing in a global economy with legitimate global competitors. China, for example, is replicating our interstate system, along with major new air and water ports, and is already a world economic power that will challenge U. S. markets in the future.

We must not lose our competitive advantage in the global economy and part of maintaining that advantage is investing in transportation. We know that right here in Missouri for every dollar spent on transportation we get a five-dollar return on that investment. We must continue to invest and, to do so, we must find innovative ways to generate the money. We face many tough decisions that cannot be avoided.

Big problems, however, do not have to mean inaction. Due to unique circumstances involving a new Mississippi River Bridge, we are asking the General Assembly to authorize the creation of an innovative public/private partnership to construct a sorely needed new river crossing in St. Louis. We have gone back to the drawing board on this project and, working with the Illinois Department of Transportation, have reduced its cost by nearly half. Yet, we still do not have the money to build it.

A new river bridge in St. Louis would benefit our entire state through commerce, tourism, safety and positive environmental impacts. Analysis by the Missouri Department of Economic Development shows a 16 to one return on investment for this project. I urge you to pass this vital legislation quickly.

We also support legislation this year to redirect the sales tax paid by highway contractors to transportation. MoDOT is charged with being a transportation department, but it is funded like a highway department. Our plan is to use revenue generated by the highway contractors' sales tax to fix this situation.

Ending this mini-diversion from transportation will mean better airports for economic development. Greater access to rail and river resources to move freight and reduce traffic on our highways. And better public transit options in both our urban and rural communities.

Now, I realize that we cannot expect major increases in resourcesuntil the public knows that we make the absolute best use of every tax dollar. It is imperative that we stretch our dollars to do more because that's what the people of Missouri demand.

MoDOT is listening and responding. A major reconstruction of I-64, also known as Highway 40, is in the works. It will be the largest highway construction project in Missouri history. It will also be the most innovative through the use of a design-build process and unprecedented contractor flexibility to allow for innovations and cost savings. The completion of this project will mean congestion relief and greater connectivity for motorists in St. Louis. That is progress of record proportions.

With progress, however, sometimes comes annoyance. We will do everything we can to minimize inconvenience to travelers on this 12-mile section of highway, but some inconvenience is inevitable. What we will not do though is close I-64 in its entirety for the duration of construction. That is our promise to the people of St. Louis. We have heard you, we have responded and that option is off the table.

While a complete closure is off the table, we are giving more people a seat at the table. A job can change a life. Therefore, we are working with community organizations that represent Missouri's underserved to ensure greater opportunity for low income and minority citizens in our highway program. It is our hope that I-64 will become a model for the future.

Our innovations also include the implementation of a common sense approach to designing highway construction projects. This no-frills philosophy, called Practical Design, allows us to build safe roads and bridges that meet the needs of Missourians without unnecessary extravagances. This approach allows us to save money on each project so we can do even more projects.

Through Practical Design, we will save four hundred million dollars on highway improvements over the next five years. That is four hundred million dollars going to vital road work in all parts of this state, work that would not have been done previously. Now THAT is progress taxpayers feel in their pocketbooks.

Our innovations also include the most extensive results-based performance measuring system in state government. Through a report called the Tracker, we provide you and all Missourians with a direct window into MoDOT - warts and all.

We have identified 18 tangible results that the people of Missouri expect us to deliver. These include smooth and unrestricted roads and bridges; uninterrupted traffic flow; a safe transportation system; personal, courteous and fast customer service; the best value for every dollar spent; and customer involvement in decision making -- among other vital outcomes.

To gauge our progress toward these critical results, we track 123 measures. How we are doing on these measures, good or bad, is reported in the Tracker quarterly and immediately released for anyone to see. Hard copies are made available and it is posted on our web site.

We are proud that the Governor's Government Review Commission cited the Tracker as a model for other state agencies and has recommended that they implement similar processes. That feels like progress to me.

Additionally, we have looked to the people of this state for innovative solutions to our transportation challenges. For example, we brought together private citizens, business leaders, elected officials, highway contractors, consultants and many others for a day-long session to identify ways we can do things better, faster and cheaper.

We call this process Partnering for Innovative Efficiencies. It has yielded numerous ideas, many of which we are implementing, and we are planning another session in April where we will further focus on better, faster and cheaper ways to improve transportation in Missouri.

I believe strongly that we must continuously find ways to do things better, faster and cheaper. When I asked MoDOT workers to do things better, however, the response was, "just better isn't good enough. We will not produce a world class transportation system unless we do world class work."

When I said faster, MoDOT workers said, "faster isn't fast enough. We will move at unreasonably fast speeds to deliver the best transportation system in the world."

When I said cheaper, MoDOT workers said, "we will build quality products of great value -- efficiently - and we will save the taxpayers of this state more money than you would have thought possible."

Ladies and gentlemen, welcome to the new MoDOT! An organization committed to innovation. Our approach is economical, but our success will be enormous. We are listening to you. We are working with you. We are showing you progress like never before - progress you can feel!

In 2005, MoDOT employees showed there is no limit to how far they will go to help their fellow Missourians. During the past year, these dedicated public servants have gone above and beyond the call of duty.

When the Taum Sauk Dam failed last December in south central Missouri, MoDOT employees were among the first on the scene. Operations Engineer Henry Haggard was a mere 15 minutes behind the wall of water that flooded the area. He arrived on Route N and began coordinating crews clearing the roadway.

Among those crewmembers were Ben Meredith and Justin Blankenship of Centerville and Nick Lambert of Bellevue. These folks did not stop until the roads were clear of debris, traffic could pass again, an alternate route could be used if the second dam failed and whatever else needed to be done was done. They and many other members of the MoDOT family went home covered in mud, but today they are wrapped in our appreciation.

MoDOT employees responded heroically to that disaster, but heroism is common among the people with whom I am privileged to work. Tragedy struck twice near a repaving project on Route 61 through Moscow Mills. On both occasions, MoDOT Construction Inspector Lee Ann Kelly reacted in heroic fashion.

At around 2 a.m. on Aug. 11, a man was thrown from his motorcycle landing on the centerline, with the cycle in the middle of the passing lane. As a licensed emergency medical technician, Lee Ann knew what to do. Traffic was diverted and she enlisted a bystander to hold the gentleman's head while she cared for him until an ambulance arrived.

Just a few weeks later, another accident occurred at Route 61 and U south of Troy. Lee Ann ran to the wrecked car. The driver was unconscious sitting upright in the driver's seat. She placed his head in the correct position, opened his airway, and made sure he was breathing until emergency responders could reach the scene.

Local law enforcement officials credited Lee Ann with saving both drivers' lives. Lee Ann and the Taum Sauk responders are here today. I ask them to stand and receive the recognition they deserve.

These are just five of the outstanding people who work for MoDOT and are dedicated to public service. They reacted to dire circumstances in extraordinary ways.

We are asking all MoDOT employees, however, to accomplish extraordinary feats. We are asking them to complete the single largest transportation project in Missouri history, we are asking them to deliver the largest construction program in Missouri history, we are asking them to deliver the Smooth Roads Initiative a full year early and we are holding them accountable for results at every step along the way.

Last year, I promised you that MoDOT employees would accomplish these things and more without adding personnel or new buildings. We have kept that promise and will remain committed to it.

MoDOT employees are doing more, but like other state employees they have not received a significant pay increase in five years. Therefore, I ask the General Assembly to pass a four percent across-the-board pay increase for Missouri's dedicated state employees. Missouri has a lot of things to be proud of - being last in state employee pay isn't one of them.

Statewide, we are focused on saving more than 200 lives per year and getting traffic fatalities below 1,000 by 2009. Through a partnership with the Highway Patrol, local law enforcement, highway safety advocates and other governmental agencies we have formed the Missouri Coalition for Roadway Safety. I know this grassroots effort will save lives on Missouri's roads.

The news from 2005, however, is not good. After a dramatic decrease in traffic deaths in 2004, fatalities increased by 9 percent this past year. 1,234 sons and daughters, mothers and fathers lost their lives on our highways in 2005. These numbers are unacceptable, undeniably tragic and an inexcusable embarrassment to our state.

They are particularly inexcusable when you consider that we could save 90 lives per year through a primary safety belt law. We can accomplish that noble goal by simply allowing officers to enforce our current law that requires safety belt use.

Now, I realize this issue may not be universally popular, but I feel a moral obligation to appeal to you once again for a primary safety belt law. Not because it is necessarily popular, but because it is right.

Doing what is right isn't always easy, but it is always right. We are losing an obscene number of Missourians to traffic crashes. A primary safety belt law will save lives and it is the right thing to do.

Etched in stone over the back entrance to this chamber is the phrase, "Progress is the law of life." In other words, when we are through making progress, then we are through. Well, we're not through. With your help, MoDOT will continue to get better, to make our transportation system better and to make our great state better.

You don't achieve progress, however, through talk. You achieve it through action. On the wall of my office I have a sign with an equation that reads, "Dreams minus Action equals Squat."

MoDOT is your action agency. We dream big, and we deliver big. Gone is the indecisive bureaucracy. Arrived is the more nimble organization that gets things done. The department that produces real progress. Progress you can feel.

To paraphrase a great Missourian, George Washington Carver: It will only be when MoDOT does common things in an uncommon way that people will take notice. That's our commitment to you - to make you notice uncommon progress. Progress you can feel.

So, how does this make you feel? In the coming years, we will undertake the reconstruction of I-64 in St. Louis and will finally connect it to I-70. We will also build a new Paseo Bridge in Kansas City. And we will complete the four-laning of U.S. 67 from Festus to Poplar Bluff.

Within five years, we will have new major river bridges in Hermann and Atchison.

Plus, we will complete the four-laning of U.S. 60 from Springfield to Sikeston; the four-laning of U.S. 71 from I-44 to Arkansas; the four-laning of U.S. 61 from Iowa to St. Louis; the four-laning of U.S. 65 from Buffalo to Arkansas; the four-laning of U.S. 36 from St. Joseph to Hannibal; the four-laning of U.S. 13 from Clinton to Springfield and the four-laning of U.S. 63 from Kirksville to Jefferson City.

Additionally, our 2,200 busiest miles of state highways -- including all of I-70, all of I-44 and every other interstate in Missouri -- will be in good condition.

What does that feel like to you? That feels like real, tangible progress to me. Progress you can feel!

I look forward to working with each of you for even greater progress in the years ahead. Thank you and may God bless your travels.

The reduction shall only be made if it is at least five hundred dollars;

Any amount of net operating loss taken against federal income taxes but disallowed against

Missouri income taxes pursuant to this paragraph since July 1, 2002, may be carried forward and taken against any loss on the Missouri income tax return for a period of not more than twenty years from the year of the initial loss.

3. There shall be subtracted from the taxpayer's federal adjusted gross income the following amounts to the extent included in federal adjusted gross income:

(5) "Taxpayer", any student filing income tax returns or a taxpayer who claims a student as a dependent.

3. If any taxpayer with a federal adjusted gross income of less than one hundred thousand dollars incurs tuition or fee expenses for enrollment of at least half time at a higher education institution, such taxpayer shall subtract from such taxpayer's federal adjusted gross income an amount equal to one hundred percent of such costs the taxpayer paid during the taxable year.

4. The department may promulgate such rules or regulations as are necessary to administer the provisions of this section. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, RSMo, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536, RSMo, and, if applicable, section 536.028, RSMo. This section and chapter 536, RSMo, are nonseverable and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536, RSMo, to review, to delay the effective date, or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2006, shall be invalid and void.

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 7

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 590, Page 26, Section 174.500, Line 27, by inserting immediately after said line the following:

“Section 1. 1. As used in this section, unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the following terms mean:

(1) “Board”, the coordinating board for higher education;

(2) “Books”, any books required for any course for which tuition was paid by a grant awarded pursuant to this section;

(3) “Grant”, the war veteran's survivors grant as established in this section;

(4) “Institution of postsecondary education”, any approved Missouri public institution of postsecondary education, as defined in section 173.205;

(5) “Survivor”, a child or spouse of a war veteran;

(6) “Tuition”, any tuition or incidental fee, or both, charged by an institution of postsecondary education for attendance at the institution by a student as a resident of this state;

(7) “War veteran”, a person who served in the military during a time of war and to whom the following criteria shall apply:

(a) The veteran was a Missouri resident when first entering the military service and at the time of death; and

(b) The veteran dies as a result of combat action or the veteran's death was certified by a Veterans' Administration medical authority to be attributable to an illness that was contracted while serving in combat.

2. Within the limits of the amounts appropriated therefor, the coordinating board for higher education shall award annually up to twenty-five grants to survivors of war veterans to attend institutions of postsecondary education in this state, which shall continue to be awarded annually to eligible recipients as long as certain standards of academic performance, as determined by the coordinating board for higher education, continue to be achieved. If the waiting list of eligible survivors exceeds fifty, the coordinating board may petition the general assembly to expand the quota. If the quota is not expanded, then the eligibility of survivors on the waiting list shall be extended.

3. A survivor may receive a grant pursuant to this section only so long as the survivor is enrolled in a program leading to a certificate, or an associate or baccalaureate degree. In no event shall a survivor receive a grant beyond the completion of the first baccalaureate degree, regardless of age.

4. The coordinating board for higher education shall:

(1) Promulgate all necessary rules and regulations for the implementation of this section;

(2) Determine minimum standards of academic performance in order for a survivor to remain eligible to receive a grant under this section;

(3) Provide the forms and determine the procedures necessary for a survivor to apply for and receive a grant under this section.

5. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, RSMo, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536, RSMo, and, if applicable, section 536.028, RSMo. This section and chapter 536, RSMo, are nonseverable and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536, RSMo, to review, to delay the effective date, or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2006, shall be invalid and void.

6. In order to be eligible to receive a grant pursuant to this section, a survivor shall be certified as eligible by the Missouri veterans' commission. In the case of an illness-related death, such certification shall be made upon qualified medical certification by a Veterans' Administration medical authority that the illness was both a direct result of the veteran's combat service and a substantial factor in the cause of the resulting death of the veteran.

7. A survivor who is enrolled or has been accepted for enrollment as an undergraduate postsecondary student at an approved institution of postsecondary education, and who is selected to receive a grant under this section, shall receive the following:

(1) An amount not to exceed half of the survivor's actual tuition;

(2) An allowance of up to two thousand dollars per semester for room and board; and

(3) The actual cost of books, up to a maximum of five hundred dollars per semester.

8. A survivor who is a recipient of a grant may transfer from one approved public institution of postsecondary education to another without losing his or her entitlement under this section. The board shall make necessary adjustments in the amount of the grant. If a grant recipient at any time withdraws from the institution of postsecondary education so that under the rules and regulations of that institution he or she is entitled to a refund of any tuition, fees, room and board, books, or other charges, the institution shall pay the portion of the refund to which he or she is entitled attributable to the grant for that semester or similar grading period to the board.

9. If a survivor is granted financial assistance under any other student aid program, public or private, the full amount of such aid shall be reported to the board by the institution and the eligible survivor.

10. Nothing in this section shall be construed as a promise or guarantee that a person will be admitted to an institution of postsecondary education or to a particular institution of postsecondary education, will be allowed to continue to attend an institution of postsecondary education after having been admitted, or will be graduated from an institution of postsecondary education.

11. The benefits conferred by this section shall be available to any academically qualified surviving spouse or children of war veterans. Surviving children who are eligible shall be permitted to apply for full benefits conferred by this section until they reach twenty-five years of age.”; and

Senator Coleman moved that the above amendment be adopted, which motion prevailed.

Senator Mayer offered SA 8:

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 8

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 590, Page 26, Section 174.500, Line 27, of said page, by inserting after all of said line the following:

“178.870. Any tax imposed on property subject to the taxing power of the junior college district under article X, section 11(a) of the Missouri Constitution without voter approval shall not exceed the annual rate of ten cents on the hundred dollars assessed valuation in districts having one billion [five] seven hundred fifty million dollars or more assessed valuation; twenty cents on the hundred dollars assessed valuation in districts having [seven hundred fifty million] one billion dollars but less than one billion [five] seven hundred fifty million dollars assessed valuation; thirty cents on the hundred dollars assessed valuation in districts having [five] seven hundred fifty million dollars but less than [seven hundred fifty million] one billion dollars assessed valuation; forty cents on the hundred dollars assessed valuation in districts having less than [five] seven hundred fifty million dollars assessed valuation; except that, no public junior college district having an assessed valuation in excess of one hundred million and less than two hundred fifty million which is levying an operating levy of thirty cents per one hundred dollars assessed valuation on September 28, 1975, shall increase such levy above thirty cents per one hundred dollars assessed valuation without voter approval. Tax rates specified in this section that were in effect in 1984 shall not be lowered due to an increase in assessed valuation created by general reassessment; however, the provisions of section 137.073, RSMo, or section 22(a) of article X of the Missouri Constitution are applicable. Districts which operate institutions awarding degrees above the associate degree shall not be affected by the changes provided in this section. Increases of the rate with voter approval shall be made in the manner provided in chapter 164, RSMo, for school districts.”; and

Senator Mayer moved that the above amendment be adopted, which motion prevailed.

Senator Ridgeway offered SA 9:

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 9

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 590, Page 1, Section A, Line 5, by inserting after all of said line, the following:

“160.545. 1. There is hereby established within the department of elementary and secondary education the “A+ Schools Program” to be administered by the commissioner of education. The program shall consist of grant awards made to public secondary schools that demonstrate a commitment to ensure that:

- (1) All students be graduated from school;
- (2) All students complete a selection of high school studies that is challenging and for which there are identified learning expectations; and
- (3) All students proceed from high school graduation to a college or postsecondary vocational or technical school or high-wage job with work place skill development opportunities.

2. The state board of education shall promulgate rules and regulations for the approval of grants made under the program to schools that:

(1) Establish measurable districtwide performance standards for the goals of the program outlined in subsection 1 of this section; and

(2) Specify the knowledge, skills and competencies, in measurable terms, that students must demonstrate to successfully complete any individual course offered by the school, and any course of studies which will qualify a student for graduation from the school; and

(3) Do not offer a general track of courses that, upon completion, can lead to a high school diploma; and

(4) Require rigorous coursework with standards of competency in basic academic subjects for students pursuing vocational and technical education as prescribed by rule and regulation of the state board of education; and

(5) Have a partnership plan developed in cooperation and with the advice of local business persons, labor leaders, parents, and representatives of college and postsecondary vocational and technical school representatives, with the plan then approved by the local board of education. The plan shall specify a mechanism to receive information on an annual basis from those who developed the plan in addition to senior citizens, community leaders, and teachers to update the plan in order to best meet the goals of the program as provided in subsection 1 of this section. Further, the plan shall detail the procedures used in the school to identify students that may drop out of school and the intervention services to be used to meet the needs of such students. The plan shall outline counseling and mentoring services provided to students who will enter the work force upon graduation from high school, address apprenticeship and intern programs, and shall contain procedures for the recruitment of volunteers from the community of the school to serve in schools receiving program grants.

3. By rule and regulation, the state board of education may determine a local school district variable fund match requirement in order for a school or schools in the district to receive a grant under the program. However, no school in any district shall receive a grant under the program unless the district designates a salaried employee to serve as the program coordinator, with the district assuming a minimum of one-half the cost of the salary and other benefits provided to the coordinator. Further, no school in any district shall receive a grant under the program unless the district makes available facilities and services for adult literacy training as specified by rule of the state board of education.

4. For any school that meets the requirements for the approval of the grants authorized by this section and specified in subsection 2 of this section for three successive school years, by August first following the third such school year, the commissioner of education shall present a plan to the superintendent of the school district in which such school is located for the waiver of rules and regulations to promote flexibility in the operations of the school and to enhance and encourage efficiency in the delivery of instructional services in the school. The provisions of other law to the contrary notwithstanding, the plan presented to the superintendent shall provide a summary waiver, with no conditions, for the pupil testing requirements pursuant to section 160.257 in the school. Further, the provisions of other law to the contrary notwithstanding, the plan shall detail a means for the waiver of requirements otherwise imposed on the school related to the authority of the state board of education to classify school districts pursuant to subdivision (9) of section 161.092, RSMo, and such other rules and regulations as determined by the commissioner of education, except such waivers shall be confined to the school and not other schools in the school district unless such other schools meet the requirements of this subsection. However, any waiver provided to any school as outlined in this subsection shall be void on June thirtieth of any school year in which the school fails to meet the requirements for the approval of the grants authorized by this section as specified in subsection 2 of this section.

5. For any school year, grants authorized by subsections 1 to 3 of this section shall be funded with the amount appropriated for this program, less those funds necessary to reimburse eligible students pursuant to subsection 6 of this section.

6. Within the limits established in subsection 8 of this section, the commissioner of education shall, by rule and regulation of the state board of education and with the advice of the coordinating board for higher education, establish a procedure for the reimbursement of the cost of tuition, books and fees to any [public community college or vocational or technical school] private vocational or technical school, or any approved public institution or approved private institution, as such terms are defined in Section 173.205, RSMo, for any student:

(1) Who has attended a public high school in the state for at least three years immediately prior to graduation that meets the requirements of subsection 2 of this section, except that students who are active duty military dependents who, in the school year immediately preceding graduation, meet all other requirements of this subsection and are attending a school that meets the requirements of subsection 2 of this section shall be exempt from the three-year attendance requirement of this subdivision; and

(2) Who has made a good faith effort to first secure all available federal sources of funding that could be applied to the reimbursement described in this subsection; and

(3) Who has earned a minimal grade average while in high school as determined by rule of the state board of education, and other requirements for the reimbursement authorized by this subsection as determined by rule and regulation of said board.

7. The commissioner of education shall develop a procedure for evaluating the effectiveness of the program described in this section. Such evaluation shall be conducted annually with the results of the evaluation provided to the governor, speaker of the house, and president pro tempore of the senate.

8. The following requirements must be satisfied in order for private vocational or technical schools to obtain reimbursements under subsection 6 of this section:

(1) Such institutions must be members of the north central association and be accredited by the higher learning commission;

(2) Such institutions must be designated as 501(c)(3) not-for-profit organizations under the Internal Revenue Code;

(3) No private vocational or technical school shall receive tuition reimbursements in excess of the tuition rate charged by a public community college for course work offered by the private vocational or technical school within the service area of that community college; and

(4) The reimbursements provided to private vocational or technical schools shall not violate the provisions of article IX, section 8, or article I, section 7, of the Missouri constitution or the first amendment of the United States constitution.

9. The department of elementary and secondary education shall ensure that no student receives any reimbursement pursuant to this section if the student or the student's parents had a combined Missouri adjusted gross income in excess of two hundred fifty thousand dollars during the previous tax year.”; and

Further amend the title and enacting clause accordingly.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 28

Relating to the naming of the George Washington Carver State Office Building.

WHEREAS, George Washington Carver was born into slavery near Diamond Grove, Missouri, sometime between July 1861 and January 1864. He was a sickly baby, soon orphaned when his mother was abducted by slave traders, and whose very survival beyond infancy defied the understanding and capabilities of the medical community at that time; and

WHEREAS, even absent a formal education, George Washington Carver's intellect and affinity for agriculture manifested themselves at an early age; and

WHEREAS, at the age of 11, George Washington Carver informed his caretakers that he was going to move to Neosho so he could attend the school for African-American children and that he would find a place where he could work in exchange for his board. He soon traveled to Neosho, alone, with nothing but the best of his rock collection, a clean shirt in a bundle slung over his shoulder, and a package of food under his arm; and

WHEREAS, by the end of 1876, George Washington Carver had learned everything the teacher at the school knew and everything in the books available to the school, and the teacher gave him a certificate of merit attesting to such fact; and

WHEREAS, George Washington Carver continued his education at various institutions in Kansas and Iowa, all the while taking whatever jobs allowed him to earn the money needed to continue his education, inspiring one professor to proclaim, "George Carver has come to us with a satchel full of poverty and a burning zeal to know everything"; and

WHEREAS, in 1896 Booker T. Washington pleaded with George Washington Carver to bring his intellect to Tuskegee Institute, which was founded by Washington to provide a college education for African-Americans. Booker T. Washington had come to realize that, since 85 percent of southern African-Americans were farmers, Tuskegee's greatest need was an agriculture department. George accepted, knowing that the work would be hard and the financial reward minimal; and

WHEREAS, George Washington Carver stressed to Tuskegee's students and the region's farmers that soil conservation through diversification of crops and crop rotation was the key to reviving soil that had become unproductive due to the long-term cultivation of cotton; and

WHEREAS, George Washington Carver advocated the use of legumes to replace minerals depleted from the soil by cotton crops. He advised, "Plant peanuts. That'll keep the soil productive. And the boll weevils don't attack peanuts"; and

WHEREAS, solving the problem with unproductive soil resulted in an abundant peanut crop, which could not be marketed profitably and for which there was very little use or demand. George Washington Carver soon set about discovering nearly 300 valuable uses to which the peanut could be put. During his lifetime, peanut crops developed an annual value of $200 million; and

WHEREAS, George Washington Carver went on to develop various paint, dyes, and medicinal treatments from peanuts, sweet potatoes, and soybeans. He even developed a synthetic rubber for Henry Ford derived from goldenrod; and

WHEREAS, George Washington Carver steadfastly refused to accept an increase in his $125 a month salary at Tuskegee or offers of more lucrative positions, including one from Thomas Edison that reportedly paid $100,000 a year. He also declined to patent most of his discoveries, believing that his intellect and industry were gifts from God that should be shared freely; and

WHEREAS, on July 14, 1943, a mere six months after his death, George Washington Carver's birthplace near Diamond Grove was designated as a national monument; and

WHEREAS, George Washington Carver popularized agricultural extension programs at American universities; can be acknowledged as the father of modern plant science; and is recognized as one of the greatest scientific minds in American history; and

WHEREAS, George Washington Carver overcame enormous prejudice and poverty in his struggle from being identified merely as "Carver's George" to becoming the world renowned George Washington Carver, B.S., M.S., D.Sc., Ph.D., Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts, London, and Director of Research and Experiment at Tuskegee Institute, Alabama; and

WHEREAS, George Washington Carver accomplished all of his many great deeds without a trace of bitterness, with total indifference to personal fortune, and thought only to make the world, America in particular, a better place for all mankind; and once stated, "I am no great person. I am no great scientist. I have only been able to point the way in a few things. After me will come those who read and interpret the signs, the great of the world. I am only the trailblazer."

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-Third General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby designate that the state office building located at 1616 Missouri Boulevard, Jefferson City, Missouri, shall hereinafter be known as the "George Washington Carver State Office Building"; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Missouri Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the Governor for his approval or rejection pursuant to the Missouri Constitution, and if approved, notify the Director of the Missouri Department of Agriculture.

MESSAGES FROM THE HOUSE

The following message was received from the House of Representatives through its Chief Clerk:

Mr. President: I am instructed by the House of Representatives to inform the Senate that the House has taken up and adopted HCR 9.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 9

Whereas, following breast cancer, cervical cancer is the second most common cancer in women worldwide after breast cancer; and

Whereas, according to United States cervical cancer statistics, the disease is the third most common gynecological cancer among American women. With approximately 12,200 new cases diagnosed annually, 4,100 of these cases result in death; and

Whereas, with regular and accurate screening, cervical cancer is highly preventable with regular and accurate screening; and

Whereas, widespread screening programs have helped reduce death rates from cervical cancer, but women are still dying even with such advanced medical techniques and evaluative procedures; and

Whereas, cervical cancer cases in the United States are generally attributed to lack of education, a reduction of access available to regular cervical cancer screening, and a lack of screening accuracy; and

Whereas, experience shows that increasing cervical cancer awareness among women, especially underserved women within our state, significantly reduces the probability of mortality; and

Whereas, cervical cancer disproportionately affects minority women and women with lower incomes because they are less likely to have access to routine screening; and

Whereas, approximately one-half of all cervical cancer cases are in women who have never been screened, and ten percent of cases are in women who have not been screened within the last five years; and

Whereas, the median age of cervical cancer patients at diagnosis is 47 years, the youngest median age for all female reproductive cancers; and

Whereas, new screening technologies, including FDA-approved testing for human papillomavirus, which is the cause of virtually all cervical cancers, offer new opportunities to finally eliminate this potentially deadly disease through early identification of women at increased risk; and

Whereas, leading medical organizations, including the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, the American Cancer Society, and the Association of Reproductive Health Professionals have recently updated their screening guidelines to include FDA-approved testing for human papillomavirus; and

Whereas, women are entitled to proper cervical cancer information so they can be empowered to make informed health care decisions, and are entitled to access to routine screening, including the most accurate methods available:

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the members of the House of Representatives of the Ninety-third General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the Senate concurring therein, hereby recognize that through education and screening women can lower their likelihood for developing cervical cancer, and that through early detection cervical cancer can be successfully treated after it develops; and

Be it further resolved that the Missouri General Assembly supported the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services and the Missouri Cancer Consortium in taking the lead in formulating the Comprehensive Cancer Action Plan for Missouri, including the review of data regarding cervical cancer and human papillomavirus of women in Missouri, evaluating current methods used to provide women with information regarding cervical cancer, access to regular screening, and options for increasing screening accuracy; and

Be it further resolved that the Missouri General Assembly supports the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services and the Missouri Cancer Consortium in the identification of pockets of need, priority strategies, and new technologies, including new introduced therapies and preventive vaccines which are effective in preventing and controlling cervical cancer; and

Be it further resolved that the Missouri General Assembly directs that the Comprehensive Cancer Action Plan for Missouri, which serves as a nationwide model of effective cancer control strategies, be presented annually to the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, President Pro Tem of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and be posted on the Missouri state web site homepage; and

Be it further resolved that the Chief Clerk of the Missouri House of Representatives be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for Governor Matt Blunt, Lieutenant Governor Peter Kinder, the Director of the Department of Health and Senior Services, and the Missouri Cancer Consortium.

In which the concurrence of the Senate is respectfully requested.

Any person who is an employee of an entity that provides construction services under contract on the property of a public or private elementary or secondary school, public vocational school, or public or private junior college, college, university, or any land grant university shall submit to a chemical test for the purpose of determining the illegal drug content of that person's urine prior to working in such an area. The department of health and senior services shall be responsible for administering and analyzing such tests.

2. As used in this section, the following terms shall mean:

(1) “Verified positive test result”, a test result that was positive for an illegal substance on an initial Food and Drug Administration approved immunoassay test, confirmed by a gas chromatography/mass spectrometry assay, or other confirmatory tests approved by the department of health and senior services and reviewed and verified by the medical review officer;

(2) “Medical review officer”, a licensed physician responsible for receiving laboratory results who has knowledge of substance abuse disorders and appropriate medical training to interpret and evaluate all positive test results together with a tested individual's medical history and any other relevant biomedical information.

3. Any individual subject to testing under this section shall be permitted to provide urine specimens in private, in a restroom stall or similar enclosure so that the employee is not observed while providing the sample. Collection site personnel of the same gender as the individual tested, however, may observe the individual providing the urine specimen when such personnel have reason to believe the individual may alter or substitute the specimen to be provided. Collection site personnel may have reason to believe that a particular individual may alter or substitute the specimen to be provided when the individual:

(2) Previously has tampered with a sample.

4. After an individual yields a verified positive test, a contractor shall not allow such person to work on any school project and may:

(1) Take appropriate personnel action against such employee up to and including termination; and

(2) Require such employee to satisfactorily participate in a drug abuse assistance or rehabilitation program approved for such purposes by a federal, state, or local health, law enforcement, or other appropriate agency.

5. If an employee yields a negative test result, that result shall stand for one year, the employee shall be allowed to work on any school project for that year, and the employee shall not be subjected to another test during this one-year period.

6. The department of health and senior services shall promulgate rules to implement the provisions of this section, including but not limited to, choosing appropriate testing facilities, appropriate fees to be assessed to employers for the adequate administration of such testing, and establishing procedures for the testing and analysis of test samples. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, RSMo, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536, RSMo, and, if applicable, section 536.028, RSMo. This section and chapter 536, RSMo, are nonseverable and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536, RSMo, to review, to delay the effective date, or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2006, shall be invalid and void.”; and

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 29

WHEREAS, the National Forest Service is a federal agency within the United States Department of Agriculture that manages public lands in national forests and grasslands, engages in important research as the world's largest forestry research organization, and provides assistance to state and private forestry entities; and

WHEREAS, the origination of the Forest Service can be traced back to the passage of the Forest Reserve Act of 1891, which allowed presidents to establish forest reserves from timber-covered land in the public domain; and

WHEREAS, a progressive United States Congress and President Theodore Roosevelt, the most notable conservationist among all U.S. presidents deceased and living, established the Forest Service in 1905; and

WHEREAS, a primary objective of the Forest Service is to enable citizens to enjoy its 155 national forest and 20 grasslands, which collectively comprise about 8.5 percent of the total land area of the United States; and

WHEREAS, another chief goal of the Forest Service is to protect the environment for generations yet to come and manage the National Forest System for the overall benefit of the American people; and

WHEREAS, Gifford Pinchot, the first Chief of the Forest Service, summed up the mission of the Forest Service by stating that it should “provide the greatest amount of good for the greatest amount of people in the long run”; and

WHEREAS, Pinchot’s vision of the Forest Service has recently been called into question by a Bush Administration proposal to possibly sell more than 300,000 acres of national forest to private owners and developers; and

WHEREAS, 21,566 acres of the Mark Twain National Forest in Missouri is under consideration for sale, which ranks Missouri fourth in the nation in most potential lost forest, behind only California, Idaho and Colorado; and

WHEREAS, Forest Service stewards have in the past participated in limited land-exchange programs but have never engaged in the outright sale of our national forests, which is undoubtedly one of our country’s most precious assets; and

WHEREAS, the money raised from the sale of our national forests would be used to fund a program created by the Secure Rural Schools and Community Self Determination Act of 2000 – a program that is of little benefit to the citizens of the state of Missouri:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate of the Ninety-third General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring herein, hereby express their opposition to the Bush Administration’s unprecedented proposed sale of national forest land; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that we urge Missouri citizens to contact the Forest Service during its allotted time of public comment to speak out against this plan; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that we ask Missouri’s nine Congressmen in the U.S. House of Representatives and its two U.S. senators to use their influence to oppose the proposed sale of public lands; and

of this resolution for U.S. Agriculture Secretary Mike Johanns, Chief of the National Forest Service Dale Bosworth, and each of Missouri’s federal representatives and senators.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 17

WHEREAS, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has mandated a man-made “spring rise” for the Missouri River that is purportedly necessary for the survival of the pallid sturgeon, an endangered species; and

WHEREAS, accurately controlling upstream discharges for the “spring rise” is extremely difficult because Missouri weather and flooding are unpredictable, as evidenced by the Missouri River’s rise of nine feet in less than eighteen hours twice during a drought period in June of 2005; and

WHEREAS, once water is released for the “spring rise” there are no intervening dams or locks to halt the rise during the ten-day travel time from Gavins Point Dam in South Dakota to St. Louis, Missouri, thereby increasing the risk that such a rise would compound flooding problems resulting from a major rain event; and

WHEREAS, Federal agencies should not be implementing plans that are known to harm Missouri’s farmers solely for the purposes of an experiment to determine whether the “spring rise” will trigger spawning of the pallid sturgeon; and

WHEREAS, a “spring rise” will potentially exacerbate drainage problems on agricultural land which could delay crop planting, destroy crops, and require additional pumping at additional costs for Missouri farmers; and

WHEREAS, by using water in the spring that is needed to support navigation and other uses in the summer, a “spring rise” will shorten the navigation season during times of water shortages causing additional financial burdens on shippers, commercial carriers, and producers; and

WHEREAS, Missouri infrastructure, communities, businesses, farmers, ranchers and the economy all will be put at an increased risk of flooding in the event of a “spring rise”; and

WHEREAS, it is unjust for Missouri consumers, communities, businesses, commercial carriers, farmers and ranchers to bear any additional direct or indirect costs for an unproven experimental plan; and

WHEREAS, many businesses and residential communities along the Missouri River suffered great devastation after the flood of 1993; the intentional flooding of the river through a “spring rise” enhances the risk that such destruction will once again visit these communities, making it harder and ultimately less attractive to rebuild; and

WHEREAS, the economic responsibilities that individual families and businesses have to bear in the face of a devastating flood, like that in 1993, are enormous; to compound and confuse that responsibility with the uncertainties that accompany a “spring rise” places a heavier burden on the backs of those families and businesses:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the House of Representatives of the Ninety-third General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the Senate concurring therein, hereby concur with the Governor of the State of Missouri that all reasonable and necessary action should be taken to prevent the planned man-made “spring rise”; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri House of Representatives Ninety-third General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the Senate concurring therein, respectfully encourage the United States Army Corps of Engineers not to implement an artificial “spring rise,” which would increase the risk of flooding for Missourians, thereby being in violation of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals’ recent ruling, which held that flood control and navigation are the dominant uses of the Missouri River; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Chief Clerk of the Missouri House of Representatives be instructed to prepare a properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the Governor of Missouri and the members of the Missouri Congressional delegation.

In which the concurrence of the Senate is respectfully requested.

“144.062. 1. With respect to exempt sales at retail of tangible personal property and materials for the purpose of constructing, repairing or remodeling facilities for: (1) a county, other political subdivision or instrumentality thereof exempt from taxation under subdivision (10) of section 39 of article III of the Constitution of Missouri; or (2) an organization sales to which are exempt from taxation under the provisions of subdivision (19) of subsection 2 of section 144.030; or (3) any institution of higher education supported by public funds or any private not-for-profit institution of higher education, exempt from taxation under subdivision (20) of subsection 2 of section 144.030; or (4) any private not-for-profit elementary or secondary school exempt from taxation under subdivision (22) of subsection 2 of section 144.030; or (5) after June 30, 2007: (a) the department of transportation; or (b) the state highways and transportation commission, hereinafter collectively referred to as exempt entities, such exemptions shall be allowed for such purchases if the purchases are related to the entities' exempt functions and activities. In addition, the sales shall not be rendered nonexempt nor shall any material supplier or contractor be obligated to pay, collect or remit sales tax with respect to such purchases made by or on behalf of an exempt entity due to such purchases being billed to or paid for by a contractor or the exempt entity contracting with any entity to render any services in relation to such purchases, including but not limited to selection of materials, ordering, pickup, delivery, approval on delivery, taking of delivery, transportation, storage, assumption of risk of loss to materials or providing warranties on materials as specified by contract, use of materials or other purchases for construction of the building or other facility, providing labor, management services, administrative services, design or technical services or advice to the exempt entity, whether or not the contractor or other entity exercises dominion or control in any other manner over the materials in conjunction with services or labor provided to the exempt entity.

2. When any exempt entity contracts for the purpose of constructing, repairing or remodeling facilities, and purchases of tangible personal property and materials to be incorporated into or consumed in the construction of the project are to be made on a tax-exempt basis, such entity shall furnish to the contractor an exemption certificate authorizing such purchases for the construction, repair or remodeling project. The form and content of such project exemption certificate shall be approved by the director of revenue. The project exemption certificate shall include but not be limited to:

- (1) The exempt entity's name, address, Missouri tax identification number and signature of authorized representative;
- (2) The project location, description, and unique identification number;
- (3) The date the contract is entered into, which is the earliest date materials may be purchased for the project on a tax-exempt basis;
- (4) The estimated project completion date; and
- (5) The certificate expiration date.

Such certificate is renewable for a given project at the option of the exempt entity, only for the purpose of revising the certificate expiration date as necessary to complete the project.

3. The contractor shall furnish the certificate prescribed in subsection 2 of this section to all subcontractors, and any contractor purchasing materials shall present such certificate to all material suppliers as authorization to purchase, on behalf of the exempt entity, all tangible personal property and materials to be incorporated into or consumed in the construction of that project and no other on a tax-exempt basis. Such suppliers shall execute to the purchasing contractor invoices bearing the name of the exempt entity and the project identification number. 4. Any excess resalable tangible personal property or materials which were purchased for the project by a contractor under a project exemption certificate but which were not incorporated into or consumed in the construction of the project shall either be returned to the supplier for credit or the appropriate sales or use tax on such excess property or materials shall be reported on a return and paid by such contractor not later than the due date of the contractor's Missouri sales or use tax return following the month in which it was determined that the materials were not to be used in the project.

5. No contractor or material supplier shall, upon audit, be required to pay tax on tangible personal property and materials incorporated into or consumed in the construction of the project, due to the failure of the exempt entity to revise the certificate expiration date as necessary to complete any work required by the contract. If it is determined that tax is owed on such property and materials due to the failure of the exempt entity to revise such certificate expiration date, the exempt entity shall be liable for the tax owed.

6. If an entity issues exemption certificates for the purchase of tangible personal property and materials which are incorporated into or consumed in the construction of its project and such entity is found not to have had the authority granted by this section to issue such exemption certificates, then such entity shall be liable for the tax owed on such personal property and materials. In addition, if an entity which does have the authority granted by this section to issue exemption certificates issues such certificates for the purchase of tangible personal property and materials which are incorporated into or consumed in the construction of a project, or part of a project, which is found not to be related to such entity's exempt functions and activities, then such entity shall be liable for the tax owed on such personal property and materials.”; and

Mr. President: I am instructed by the House of Representatives to inform the Senate that the House has taken up and passed HCR 12 entitled:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 12

Relating to the designation of hepatitis C awareness day in Missouri.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI, AS FOLLOWS:

Whereas, five million Americans have been infected with the Hepatitis C virus (HCV) according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, which contributes to approximately 8,000 to 10,000 deaths each year; and

Whereas, it is estimated that 130,000 Missourians are infected with HCV. Such number does not include incarcerated persons, homeless persons, hospitalized persons, active duty military personnel, nursing home residents, and illegal immigrants; and

Whereas, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has reported that HCV is associated with end stage liver disease and is the most frequent indication for liver transplantation among adults in the United States; and

Whereas, HCV is spread five times more often than HIV, with many persons infected with HCV unaware because HCV is asymptomatic until advanced liver damage develops; and

Whereas, each year 1% to 4% of persons infected with HCV will develop liver cancer. As the only cancer on the rise, the incidence of liver cancer has more than doubled and is expected to more than double again in the next decade; and

Whereas, the HCV epidemic is expected to result in 3.1 million years of life lost by 2019 and, if left unchecked, the estimated costs to the United States to treat HCV will exceed $85 billion for the years 2010 to 2019; and

Whereas, awareness of testing and counseling is critical to halting the spread of blood-borne pathogens:

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the members of the House of Representatives of the Ninety-third General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the Senate concurring therein, hereby designate the tenth day of May each year as "Hepatitis C Awareness Day" in Missouri and recommend to the people of Missouri that the day be appropriately observed through activities which will increase Hepatitis C awareness, education, tolerance, and understanding; and

Be it further resolved that this resolution be sent to the Governor for his approval or rejection pursuant to the Missouri Constitution.

In which the concurrence of the Senate is respectfully requested.

Read 1st time.

Also,

Mr. President: I am instructed by the House of Representatives to inform the Senate that the House has taken up and adopted HCR 14.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 14

Whereas, cardiovascular disease is the nation's leading cause of death, with direct and indirect costs estimated to be $403.1 billion for 2006; and

Whereas, cardiovascular disease accounts for over 37% of all deaths nationwide; and

Whereas, nearly 2500 Americans die of cardiovascular disease each day, an average of one death every 35 seconds; and

Whereas, this year it is estimated that 700,000 Americans nationwide will have a new coronary attack and an additional 500,000 Americans will have a recurrent attack, for a total of 1.2 million attacks; and

Whereas, more than 21,000 people die from cardiovascular disease in Missouri each year; and

Whereas, the research is clear that there are tools available to increase survival rates from cardiovascular disease; and

Whereas, effort of the American Heart Association encourage citizens to help save lives by calling 9-1-1 if symptoms occur, become trained in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), and encourage comprehensive automated external defibrillators (AED) programs in their communities; and

Whereas, the American Heart Association is celebrating February 2006 as American Heart Month and promoting education and awareness by encouraging citizens to learn the warning signs of heart attack and stroke:

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the members of the House of Representatives of the Ninety-third General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the Senate concurring therein, in acknowledgment of the American Heart Association's celebration, hereby recognizes

February 2006 as American Heart Month in Missouri and the importance of the ongoing fight against heart disease; and

Be it further resolved that the General Assembly encourages all Missouri citizens to recognize the critical importance of tools and skills that will increase survival rates from cardiac arrest. By incorporating these tools into aggressive programs, thousands of lives can be saved each year.

In which the concurrence of the Senate is respectfully requested.

Also,

Mr. President: I am instructed by the House of Representatives to inform the Senate that the House has taken up and adopted HCR 15.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 15

Whereas, the Food Stamp Program serves as the first line of defense against hunger in this country by enabling low-income families to buy nutritious food with coupons and electronic benefits transfer cards; and

Whereas, the Food Stamp Program is the cornerstone of the federal food assistance programs and provides crucial support to needy households by allowing recipients to spend their benefits to buy eligible food in authorized retail food stores; and

Whereas, most food stamp rules apply to all households, but there are a few special rules for households that have an elderly or disabled member. Under the Program, a person is considered elderly if he or she is 60 years of age or older; and

Whereas, for 2006, a household with an elderly member may have up to $3000 in resources as compared to a household without an elderly member which may have up to $2000 in resources. In addition to the resource limits, there is a monthly gross income test and a monthly net income test to maintain eligibility; and

Whereas, in addition to the allowable deductions for all households, the elderly receive a deduction for allowable medical costs paid by the elderly member that are more than $35 a month. The allowable medical costs include most medical and dental expenses, such as doctor bills, prescription drugs and other over-the-counter medication when approved by a doctor, dentures, hospital expenses, nursing care, some transportation costs, attendant care, and health insurance premiums; and

Whereas, while the allowed deductions and exclusions are certainly helpful in allowing the elderly to receive the needed food assistance, one of the largest expenditures made by the elderly is not included in those deductions or exclusions. Many of the elderly have and will continue to experience large heating bills this winter, with some estimates suggesting that heating expenditures may more than double this year; and

choose between paying the heating bill and buying food; and

Whereas, due to the unique needs of low-income elderly created by the skyrocketing price of heating fuels, a waiver or amendment to the administrative oversight for the federal Food Stamp Program is needed to ensure that the necessary food assistance is available to our most vulnerable citizens:

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the members of the House of Representatives of the Ninety-third General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the Senate concurring therein, hereby urge the United States Congress and the United States Department of Agriculture to waive or amend the administrative oversight for the federal Food Stamp Program to increase the availability of food assistance for our low-income elderly citizens; and

Be it further resolved that the Chief Clerk of the Missouri House of Representatives be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for Mike Johanns, the Secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture and each member of the Missouri Congressional Delegation.

In which the concurrence of the Senate is respectfully requested.

PETITIONS, MEMORIALS AND REMONSTRANCES

SENATE REMONSTRANCE NO. 1

WHEREAS, on February 9, 2006, the Attorney General for the state of Missouri held a public hearing in St. Louis for the purpose of examining the proposed sale and transfer of assets by the Missouri Higher Education Loan Authority (MoHELA); and

WHEREAS, the Attorney General has publicly promised to hold more hearings on the same subject around the state; and

WHEREAS, the General Assembly has no knowledge of any prior hearings held by the Attorney General to investigate any other public governmental entity regarding the performance of its statutory duties; and

WHEREAS, in December 2005, three University of Missouri Curators raised questions about potential violations of the sunshine law. However, the Attorney General did not hold a public hearing to investigate such allegations. The Attorney General stated that the potential violations were an "internal dispute" that did not require further investigation; and

WHEREAS, such inconsistency in the desire of the Attorney General to hold hearings to investigate other public governmental entity raises questions about the motivation of the Attorney General in holding public hearings regarding MoHELA; and

WHEREAS, employees of the Attorney General were present at the hearing in St. Louis and state resources were expended in order to hold such hearing, despite the fact that no authority exists for the Attorney General to hold public hearings to investigate the actions of another public governmental entity; and

WHEREAS, the Attorney General has stated that one of the main purposes for his series of hearings is to determine "how the proceeds will be used and how it will further the mission of MoHELA", as well as to see "that the proceeds (of the MoHELA sale) are used appropriately"; and

WHEREAS, the Attorney General lacks any authority to investigate policy decisions by a public governmental entity; and

WHEREAS, it is the constitutional responsibility of the General Assembly, through the appropriation process, to ensure that state funds are used appropriately; and

WHEREAS, the Attorney General's intrusion in the responsibilities of the legislative branch again raises the question of the motivation of the Attorney General:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Missouri Senate that the Senate herewith remonstrates against the Attorney General for his disregard of the proper role of his office, for his intrusion in the proper functions of the legislative branch, and for the improper insertion of his office into a policy decision by a public governmental entity; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to send a copy of this remonstrance to the Missouri Attorney General.

President Kinder assumed the Chair.

premises, equipment and personnel meet the requirements prescribed by him.

(4) Any automobile mechanic who has had at least one year of practical experience as an automotive mechanic or any person who has successfully completed a course of vocational instruction in automotive mechanics from a generally recognized educational institution, either public or private, and who has demonstrated the knowledge and ability to conduct an inspection in compliance with the regulations established by the superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol may be issued a permit to conduct inspections at any official inspection station. No person without a valid permit shall conduct any part of an inspection, except a person without a valid permit may assist in the inspection of a vehicle by operating the vehicle's lighting equipment and signaling devices. The superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol may require a mechanic to be reexamined at any time to determine the mechanic's knowledge and ability to conduct an inspection. If the mechanic fails the reexamination or refuses to be reexamined, the permit issued to the mechanic shall be suspended until the mechanic passes the examination but under no circumstances can the mechanic again be tested until a period of thirty days has elapsed. No fee shall be charged for the permit and the permit shall remain valid for a period of three years from the date of issue or until suspended or revoked by the superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol.

(5) The superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol may issue a private official inspection station permit to any association, person, partnership, corporation and/or subsidiary corporation, and governmental entity having registered or titled in his, her or its name in this state one or more vehicles of the type required to be inspected by section 307.350, or who maintains such vehicles under a written maintenance agreement of at least one year's duration and who maintains approved inspection facilities and has qualified personnel; but separate permits must be obtained for separate facilities of the same association, person, partnership, corporation and/or subsidiary corporation, or governmental entity. Such private stations shall inspect only vehicles registered or to be registered, titled or to be titled or maintained in the name of the person or organization described on the application for permit. No fee shall be charged for a permit issued to a governmental entity.

4. (1) The superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol shall supervise and cause inspections to be made of the official inspection stations and inspecting personnel and if the superintendent finds that the provisions of sections 307.350 to 307.390 or the regulations issued pursuant to sections 307.350 to 307.390 are not being complied with, or that the business of an official inspection station, in connection with corrections, adjustments, repairs or inspection of vehicles is being improperly conducted, the superintendent shall suspend or revoke the permit of the station for a period of not less than thirty days or more than one year and require the immediate surrender and return of the permit, together with all official forms and certificates of inspection and approval. If the superintendent finds that an inspector has violated any of the provisions of sections 307.350 to 307.390 or the regulations issued pursuant to sections 307.350 to 307.390, the superintendent shall suspend or revoke the inspector's permit for a period of not less than thirty days nor more than one year. If a station operator or if an inspector violates any of the provisions of sections 307.350 to 307.390, he or she is subject to prosecution as provided in section 307.390.

(2) The suspension or revocation of a station permit or of an inspector's permit shall be in writing to the operator, inspector, or the person in charge of the station. Before suspending or revoking either of the permits, the superintendent shall serve notice in writing by certified mail or by personal service to the permittee at the permittee's address of record giving the permittee the opportunity to appear in the office of the superintendent on a stated date, not less than ten nor more than thirty days after the mailing or service of the notice, for a hearing to show cause why the permittee's permit should not be suspended or revoked. An inspection station owner or an inspector may appear in person or by counsel in the office of the superintendent to show cause why the proposed suspension or revocation is in error, or to present any other facts or testimony that would bear on the final decision of the superintendent. If the permittee or the permittee's agent does not appear on the stated day after receipt of notice, it shall be presumed that the permittee admits the allegations of fact contained in the hearing notification letter. The decision of the superintendent may in such case be based upon the written reports submitted by the superintendent's officers. The order of the superintendent, specifying his findings of fact and conclusions of law, shall be considered final immediately after receipt of notice thereof by the permittee.

(3) Any person whose permit is suspended or revoked or whose application for a permit is denied may within ten days appeal the action as provided in chapter 536, RSMo.]

informs the public that required repairs or corrections need not be made at the inspection station.

2. No person operating an official inspection station pursuant to the provisions of sections 307.350 to 307.390 may issue a certificate of inspection and approval for any vehicle except upon an official form furnished by the superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol for that purpose and only after inspecting the vehicle and determining that its brakes, lighting equipment, signaling devices, steering mechanisms, horns, mirrors, windshield wipers, tires, wheels, exhaust system, glazing, air pollution control devices, fuel system and any other safety equipment as required by the state are in proper condition and adjustment to be operated upon the public highways of this state with safety to the driver or operator, other occupants therein, as well as other persons and property upon the highways, as provided by sections 307.350 to 307.390 and the regulations prescribed by the superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol. Brakes may be inspected for safety by means of visual inspection or computerized brake testing. No person operating an official inspection station shall furnish, loan, give or sell a certificate of inspection and approval to any other person except those entitled to receive it under provisions of sections 307.350 to 307.390. No person shall have in such person's possession any certificate of inspection and approval and/or inspection sticker with knowledge that the certificate and/or inspection sticker has been illegally purchased, stolen or counterfeited.

3. The superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol may require officially designated stations to furnish reports upon forms furnished by the superintendent for that purpose as the superintendent considers reasonably necessary for the proper and efficient administration of sections 307.350 to 307.390.

4. If, upon inspection, defects or unsafe conditions are found, the owner may correct them or shall have them corrected at any place the owner chooses within twenty days after the defect or unsafe condition is found, and shall have the right to remove the vehicle to such place for correction, but before the vehicle is operated thereafter upon the public highways of this state, a certificate of inspection and approval must be obtained. The inspecting personnel of the official inspection station must inform the owner that the corrections need not be made at the inspection station.

5. A fee, not to exceed twelve dollars, as determined by each official inspection station, may be charged by an official inspection station for each official inspection including the issuance of the certificate of inspection and approval, sticker, seal or other device and a total fee, not to exceed ten dollars, as determined by each official inspection station, may be charged for an official inspection of a trailer or motorcycle, which shall include the issuance of the certificate of inspection and approval, sticker, seal or other device. Such fee shall be conspicuously posted on the premises of each such official inspection station. No owner shall be charged an additional inspection fee upon having corrected defects or unsafe conditions found in an inspection completed within the previous twenty consecutive days, excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, if such follow-up inspection is made by the station making the initial inspection. Every inspection for which a fee is charged shall be a complete inspection, and upon completion of the inspection, if any defects are found the owner of the vehicle shall be furnished a list of the defects and a receipt for the fee paid for the inspection. If the owner of a vehicle decides to have any necessary repairs or corrections made at the official inspection station, the owner shall be furnished a written estimate of the cost of such repairs before such repairs or corrections are made by the official inspection station. The written estimate shall have plainly written upon it that the owner understands that the corrections need not be made by the official inspection station and shall have a signature line for the owner. The owner must sign below the statement on the signature line before any repairs are made.

6. Certificates of inspection and approval, sticker, seal or other device shall be purchased by the official inspection stations from the superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol. The superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol shall collect a fee of one dollar and fifty cents for each certificate of inspection, sticker, seal or other device issued to the official inspection stations, except that no charge shall be made for certificates of inspection, sticker, seal or other device issued to official inspection stations operated by governmental entities. All fees collected shall be deposited in the state treasury with one dollar of each fee collected credited to the state highway fund and, for the purpose of administering and enforcing the state motor vehicle laws and traffic regulations, fifty cents credited to the "Highway Patrol Inspection Fund" which is hereby created. The moneys collected and deposited in the highway patrol inspection fund shall be expended subject to appropriations by the general assembly for the administration and enforcement of sections 307.350 to 307.390 by the Missouri state highway patrol. The unexpended balance in the fund at the end of each biennium exceeding the amount of the appropriations from the fund for the first two fiscal years shall be transferred to the state road fund, and the provisions of section 33.080, RSMo, relating to the transfer of funds to the general revenue fund at the end of the biennium, shall not apply to the fund.

7. The owner or operator of any inspection station who discontinues operation during the period that a station permit is valid or whose station permit is suspended or revoked shall return all official signs and posters and any current unused inspection stickers, seals or other devices to the superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol and shall receive a full refund on request except for official signs and posters, provided the request is made during the calendar year or within sixty days thereafter in the manner prescribed by the superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol. Stations which have a valid permit shall exchange unused previous year issue inspection stickers and/or decals for an identical number of current year issue, provided the unused stickers and/or decals are submitted for exchange not later than April thirtieth of the current calendar year, in the manner prescribed by the superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol.]; and

3. No person shall make, issue or knowingly use any imitation or counterfeit of an official certificate of inspection, sticker, seal or other device.

[307.380. 1. Every vehicle of the type required to be inspected upon having been involved in an accident and when so directed by a police officer must be inspected and an official certificate of inspection and approval, sticker, seal or other device be obtained for such vehicle before it is again operated on the highways of this state. At the seller's expense every vehicle of the type required to be inspected by section 307.350, whether new or used, shall immediately prior to sale be fully inspected regardless of any current certificate of inspection and approval, and an appropriate new certificate of inspection and approval, sticker, seal or other device shall be obtained.

2. Nothing contained in the provisions of this section shall be construed to prohibit a dealer or any other person from selling a vehicle without a certificate of inspection and approval if the vehicle is sold for junk, salvage, or for rebuilding, or for vehicles sold at public auction or from dealer to dealer. The purchaser of any vehicle which is purchased for junk, salvage, or for rebuilding, shall give to the seller an affidavit, on a form prescribed by the superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol, stating that the vehicle is being purchased for one of the reasons stated herein. No vehicle of the type required to be inspected by section 307.350 which is purchased as junk, salvage, or for rebuilding shall again be registered in this state until the owner has submitted the vehicle for inspection and obtained an official certificate of inspection and approval, sticker, seal or other device for such vehicle.

3. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 307.390, violation of this section shall be deemed an infraction.]

[307.385. The superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol may notify the director of revenue and the director of revenue shall suspend the registration of any vehicle which the superintendent of the Missouri state highway patrol determines, after a written notice, is not equipped as required by law or for which a certificate required by sections 307.350 to 307.390 has not been obtained.]; and

WHEREAS, the Lake of the Ozarks is one of the most popular lakes in the Midwest, largely because of the many opportunities for public access; and

WHEREAS, in addition to the public access points, individuals and businesses have been able to obtain dock permits, allowing the lake to be enjoyed by residents and visitors alike; and

WHEREAS, AmerenUE is responsible for shoreline management at the Lake of the Ozarks, as specified in Article 41 of its license from the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to operate the Osage Power Plant; and

WHEREAS, on August 19, 2005, AmerenUE filed a shoreline management plan with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, a portion of which establishes impact minimization zones (IMZs) that classify and restrict certain areas of the shoreline for future development; and

WHEREAS, the goal of the shoreline management plan to balance the recreational, environmental, and economic aspects of the lake is an honorable goal; and

WHEREAS, the impact minimization zones as proposed in the current plan will have a detrimental effect on the economy of the lake area, leading to reduced recreational opportunities for lake residents and visitors; and

WHEREAS, restrictions on dock permits could lower the value of lakefront property, decrease traffic at local businesses that rely on the lake for their livelihood, and result in an overall negative impact on the local and state economy:

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-Third General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby support the formation of a broad-based impact minimization zone task force comprised of state, county, and municipal officials; state and federal resource agencies; chambers of commerce; and members of the development, recreation, and residential communities to work on a more balanced plan that incorporates the recreational, environmental, and aesthetic values of the Lake of the Ozarks and review dock policies as they relate to impact minimization zone plans; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-Third General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, urge the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to delay authorization of the plan in those portions dealing with impact minimization zones until the new impact minimization zone task force can issue a revised plan that will provide a more balanced plan for the use of the Lake of the Ozarks; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Missouri Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the president and board of directors of AmerenUE.

Journal of the Senate

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

THIRTY-THIRD DAY—THURSDAY, MARCH 2, 2006

President Kinder in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"Blessed be God, because he has not rejected my prayer or removed his steadfast love from me." (Psalm 66:20)

Almighty God, we pass the halfway point of this session mindful of all that is ahead of us and all that must be accomplished. We fluctuate between our wish to quickly finish up what is before us and our desire to have all the facts be weighed in before we decide how to vote. So help us balance our lives between these two poles and help us make solid decisions that produce the most good in a timely manner. And watch over our going out and coming in this weekend. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

A quorum being established, the Senate proceeded with its business.

Journal of the Senate

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

THIRTY-FOURTH DAY—MONDAY, MARCH 6, 2006

President Kinder in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"As God's chosen ones, holy and beloved, clothe yourselves with compassion, kindness, humility, meekness and patience." (Colossians 3:12)

Merciful God, where we are resentful, You are full of mercy. Where we are argumentative, You acquiesce. Where we show snobbery and superiority, You correct with gentleness and instruct with kindness. Help us to learn from You to provide what is truly needful and calming as we deal with each other this new week so we may accomplish the most good working together. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

Gracious God, You have blessed us with forgiveness for our sins, You have given us peace of heart and power to do Your bidding. And since You have shown us the way to confident living, so teach us to give up our contentiousness and lead us away from petty pride that divides us from one another. And bind us, one to the other, that we may work for the common good and seek always Your will. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

For the purposes of this section, “prison commitment” means and is the receipt by the department of corrections of an offender after sentencing. For purposes of this section, prior prison commitments to the department of corrections shall not include commitment to a regimented discipline program established pursuant to section 217.378, RSMo. However, the board of probation and parole shall have discretion to review the sentence of such an offender, and it may release the individual on probation or parole prior to the completion of the sentence imposed.

(2) Those offenders sentenced under this section prior to August 28, 2006, shall have his or her sentence reviewed by the board of probation and parole. (2) Any sentence either alone or in the aggregate with other consecutive sentences for crimes committed at or near the same time which is over seventy-five years shall be calculated to be seventy-five years.

5. For purposes of this section, the term “minimum prison term” shall mean time required to be served by the offender before he or she is eligible for parole, conditional release or other early release by the department of corrections.

6. (1) A sentencing advisory commission is hereby created to consist of eleven members. One member shall be appointed by the speaker of the house. One member shall be appointed by the president pro tem of the senate. One member shall be the director of the department of corrections. Six members shall be appointed by and serve at the pleasure of the governor from among the following: the public defender commission; private citizens; a private member of the Missouri Bar; the board of probation and parole; and a prosecutor. All members of the sentencing commission appointed prior to August 28, 1994, shall continue to serve on the sentencing advisory commission at the pleasure of the governor.

(2) The commission shall study sentencing practices in the circuit courts throughout the state for the purpose of determining whether and to what extent disparities exist among the various circuit courts with respect to the length of sentences imposed and the use of probation for offenders convicted of the same or similar crimes and with similar criminal histories. The commission shall also study and examine whether and to what extent sentencing disparity among economic and social classes exists in relation to the sentence of death and if so, the reasons [therefor sentences are comparable to] for such disparities. The commission also shall examine whether these disparities are comparable in other states, if the length of the sentence is appropriate, and the rate of rehabilitation based on sentence. It shall compile statistics, examine cases, draw conclusions, and perform other duties relevant to the research and investigation of disparities in death penalty sentencing among economic and social classes.

(3) The commission shall establish a system of recommended sentences, within the statutory minimum and maximum sentences provided by law for each felony committed under the laws of this state. This system of recommended sentences shall be distributed to all sentencing courts within the state of Missouri. The recommended sentence for each crime shall take into account, but not be limited to, the following factors:

(a) The nature and severity of each offense;

(b) The record of prior offenses by the offender;

(c) The data gathered by the commission showing the duration and nature of sentences imposed for each crime; and

(d) The resources of the department of corrections and other authorities to carry out the punishments that are imposed.

(4) The commission shall study alternative sentences, prison work programs, work release, home-based incarceration, probation and parole options, and any other programs and report the feasibility of these options in Missouri.

(5) The commission shall publish and distribute its recommendations on or before July 1, 2004. The commission shall study the implementation and use of the recommendations until July 1, 2005, and return a report to the governor, the speaker of the house of representatives, and the president pro tem of the senate. Following the July 1, 2005, report, the commission shall revise the recommended sentences every two years.

(6) The governor shall select a chairperson who shall call meetings of the commission as required or permitted pursuant to the purpose of the sentencing commission.

(7) The members of the commission shall not receive compensation for their duties on the commission, but shall be reimbursed for actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of these duties and for which they are not reimbursed by reason of their other paid positions.

(8) The circuit and associate circuit courts of this state, the office of the state courts administrator, the department of public safety, and the department of corrections shall cooperate with the commission by providing information or access to information needed by the commission. The office of the state courts administrator will provide needed staffing resources.

7. Courts shall retain discretion to lower or exceed the sentence recommended by the commission as otherwise allowable by law, and to order restorative justice methods, when applicable.

8. If the imposition or execution of a sentence is suspended, the court may order any or all of the following restorative justice methods, or any other method that the court finds just or appropriate:

(1) Restitution to any victim or a statutorily created fund for costs incurred as a result of the offender's actions;

(2) Offender treatment programs;

(3) Mandatory community service;

(4) Work release programs in local facilities; and

(5) Community-based residential and nonresidential programs.

9. The provisions of this section shall apply only to offenses occurring on or after August 28, 2003.

10. Pursuant to subdivision (1) of subsection 8 of this section, the court may order the assessment and payment of a designated amount of restitution to a county law enforcement restitution fund established by the county commission pursuant to section 50.565, RSMo. Such contribution shall not exceed three hundred dollars for any charged offense. Any restitution moneys deposited into the county law enforcement restitution fund pursuant to this section shall only be expended pursuant to the provisions of section 50.565, RSMo.

11. A judge may order payment to a restitution fund only if such fund had been created by ordinance or resolution of a county of the state of Missouri prior to sentencing. A judge shall not have any direct supervisory authority or administrative control over any fund to which the judge is ordering a defendant to make payment.

12. A defendant who fails to make a payment to a county law enforcement restitution fund may not have his or her probation revoked solely for failing to make such payment unless the judge, after evidentiary hearing, makes a finding supported by a preponderance of the evidence that the defendant either willfully refused to make the payment or that the defendant willfully, intentionally, and purposefully failed to make sufficient bona fide efforts to acquire the resources to pay.”; and

Senator Coleman moved that the above amendment be adopted.

Help us to keep things in perspective and be thankful for what we have accomplished and know that You will guide us and help us to get what is truly important completed if we remain faithful and we will have yet more reasons to give You thanks. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 1

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 816, Page 1, In the Title, Line 3, by inserting immediately after the word “act” the following: “, with an emergency clause”; and

Further amend said bill, page 12, section 67.2683, line 8 of said page, by inserting immediately after said line the following:

“92.086. 1. On or before January 1, 2006, the director shall publish a list of the municipalities which have, prior to August 28, 2005, enacted ordinances imposing a business license tax on a telecommunications company. The list shall contain:

(1) The name of the municipality imposing the tax;

(2) The name of the tax as denoted by the municipality;

(3) The citation to the municipal code provisions imposing the tax; and

(4) The percentage of gross receipts.

The director shall not be required to include any figures for the percentage of gross receipts if the municipality in question at the time of August 28, 2005, had an ordinance which imposed a flat fee instead of a fee based on gross receipts as its business license tax. In compiling the list, the director shall collect information from telecommunications companies, municipalities, municipal codes, and other reliable sources.

2. (1) On or before February 1, 2006, all telecommunications companies in Missouri shall provide the director and the state auditor with the amount of municipal business license tax which they paid each Missouri municipality identified by the director in accordance with subsection 1 of this section for the previous four quarters. On or before February 1, 2006, all telecommunications companies in Missouri shall provide the director and the state auditor with an itemized list establishing their gross receipts for the previous four quarters for each category of gross receipts in each municipality identified by the director in accordance with subsection 1 of this section upon which a sales tax is paid.

(2) On or before February 1, 2006, each municipality shall provide the director and state auditor with the total amount of tax revenue collected for the previous fiscal year of taxable gross receipts from telecommunications companies. Any inconsistency or dispute arising from the information provided by the municipalities and telecommunications companies shall be resolved through an audit performed by the state auditor.

3. Beginning on July 1, 2006, the director shall henceforth collect, administer, and distribute telecommunications business license tax revenues in accordance with the provisions of sections 92.074 to 92.095.

4. Notwithstanding the provisions of any municipal business license tax ordinance, effective July 1, 2006, all business license taxes shall be based solely and exclusively on those gross receipts of telecommunications companies for the retail sale of telecommunications services which are subject to taxation under sections 144.010 and 144.020, RSMo. Any provisions in any municipal taxing ordinances which provide different definitions, rules, or provisions are expressly preempted and are null and void.

5. The director is authorized to promulgate regulations to establish the appropriate procedures for collecting, administering, and distributing such taxes. A telecommunications company shall file a quarterly return with the director with an attached schedule setting forth the total amount of taxable gross receipts for the quarter and the amount of business license tax due to each municipality. The director shall distribute the appropriate amounts, as set forth in this section, to the municipalities. In exchange for its collection, administration, and distribution functions, the department of revenue shall retain a collection fee of up to one percent (not to exceed the actual costs incurred) on all funds collected and distributed and shall be allowed to collect the interest off such funds during the time between collection and distribution. In no event shall the director fail to distribute the collected funds to a municipality more than thirty days after the collection of the funds.

6. It is the intent of the general assembly that sections 92.074 to 92.095 comply with article X, section 22 of the Missouri Constitution, so that the application of sections 92.074 to 92.095 shall have a revenue-neutral effect. Because business license taxes shall now be based on the gross receipts subject to the sales tax, it is anticipated that the base of the existing business license taxes in most cases shall be broadened, so in order to comply with article X, section 22 of the Missouri Constitution, the municipality shall adjust the gross receipts percentage rate identified by the director in accordance with subsection 2 of this section so that the amount collectible, in total from all telecommunications companies, excluding the collection fee authorized in subsection 5 as defined herein, before and immediately after enactment remains the same in each municipality. If the determination is made by a municipality that in order to comply with article X, section 22 of the Missouri Constitution the gross receipts percentage rate must be increased, such increase shall be passed by a majority vote of the qualified voters voting in that municipality. The existing tax base shall be an amount equal to the total amount of telecommunications business license taxes collected by a municipality for fiscal year 2005, increased by fifty percent of [the difference between such amount and] the business license tax receipts that would have been yielded by applying the gross receipts percentage rate identified in accordance with subsection 1 of this section to the total gross receipts for all wireless telecommunications services provided by telecommunications companies as identified in 47 U.S.C. Section 332(D)(1) and 47 C.F.R. Parts 22 or 24 in such fiscal year attributable to the municipality. Based upon the rate information received from the director under this section, each municipality shall, no later than April 1, 2006, promulgate and publish the revenue-neutral rates to be applied in each municipality. Such tax rates shall be the applicable business license tax rate for bills rendered on or after July 1, 2006. Any percentages in any ordinance that are contrary to that established by the municipality herein are null and void. If any municipal business license tax ordinance as of January 1, 2005, had a provision stating that the tax only applied to business customers, the new calculated rate under this section also shall be determined based only on business customers and shall apply only to business customers.

7. On or before April 1, 2007, the director, in consultation with the state auditor and municipalities, shall examine revenues collected and forecast whether a shortfall or excess in municipal revenues for each municipality is likely to occur for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2007, due to data reporting errors or other errors in the calculation of the revenue-neutral tax rate. Section 32.057, RSMo, shall not restrict the disclosure of information to perform such consultation. If a shortfall or excess is expected, the director, after review and comment from municipalities and telecommunications companies, shall promulgate and publish an adjustment in the rate in such municipalities. Such tax rate adjustment, if necessary, shall apply to bills issued after July 1, 2007.

8. The director shall be notified in writing within thirty days of any change in the municipal business license tax rate adopted by a municipality. The director shall promulgate such rate changes, but such rate changes may only take effect on the first day of a calendar quarter and only after a minimum of ninety days notice from the director to a telecommunications company. Any subsequent increase in the business license tax rate passed through an ordinance by a municipality which is above that rate as established by the municipality under subsection 6 of this section shall be passed by a majority vote of the qualified voters voting in that municipality. No municipal tax rate shall exceed the cap provided in subsection 9 of this section.

9. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections 3 to 8 of this section or any other provision of law to the contrary, for any municipality not subject to the provisions of subsection 10 of this section, the maximum rate of taxation on gross receipts shall not exceed five percent for bills rendered on or after July 1, 2006, except if the business license tax rate for any municipality, as calculated in subsection 6 of this section, or if necessary, subsection 7 of this section, is determined to be greater than five percent, then, notwithstanding the provisions of such subsections, the business license tax rates for such municipality on and after July 1, 2006, shall be as follows:

(1) For bills rendered between July 1, 2006, and June 30, 2008, the rate shall be the actual adjusted rate as determined by subsection 6 of this section, or, if necessary, subsection 7 of this section;

(2) For bills rendered between July 1, 2008, and June 30, 2010, the rate shall be half the sum of the rate determined in subdivision (1) of this subsection and five percent; and

(3) For all bills rendered on and after July 1, 2010, five percent.

10. (1) Any municipality which prior to November 4, 1980, had an ordinance imposing a business license tax on telecommunications companies which specifically included the words “wireless”, “cell phones”, or “mobile phones” in its business license tax ordinance as revenues upon which a business license tax could be imposed, and had not limited its tax to local exchange telephone service or landlines, and had taken affirmative action to collect such tax from wireless telecommunications providers prior to January 15, 2005, shall not be required to adjust its business license tax rate as provided in subsection 6 of this section and shall not be subject to the provisions of subsection 9 of this section.

(2) Any municipality which has an ordinance or an amendment to an ordinance imposing a business license tax on telecommunications companies which was authorized or amended by a public vote subsequent to November 4, 1980, and such authorization specifically included the terms “wireless”, “cell phones”, or “mobile telephones” as revenues upon which a business license tax could be imposed, and had not limited its tax to local exchange telephone service or landlines, and had taken affirmative action to collect such tax from wireless telecommunications providers prior to January 15, 2005, shall not be required to adjust its business license tax rate as provided in subsection 6 of this section and shall not be subject to the provisions of subsection 9 of this section.

11. For purposes of sections 92.074 to 92.095, the director and any municipality shall have the authority to audit any telecommunications company. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 32.057, RSMo, the director of revenue shall furnish any municipality with information it requests to permit the municipality to review and audit the payments of any telecommunications company.

12. The statute of limitations shall be three years for the alleged nonpayment or underpayment of the business license tax.

13. Any telecommunications company is authorized to pass through to its retail customers all or part of the business license tax.

14. The provisions of subsection 5 of section 144.190, RSMo, and subdivision (3) of subsection 12 of section 32.087, RSMo, shall apply to the tax imposed under sections 92.074 to 92.095.

15. Unless specifically stated otherwise in sections 92.074 to 92.095, taxpayer remedies, enforcement mechanisms, tax refunds, tax protests, assessments, and all other procedures shall be the same as those provided in chapter 144, RSMo.

16. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, RSMo, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536, RSMo, and, if applicable, section 536.028, RSMo. This section and chapter 536, RSMo, are nonseverable and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536, RSMo, to review, to delay the effective date, or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2005, shall be invalid and void.

Section B. Because of the need to ensure the proper taxation of telecommunications services, the repeal and reenactment of section 92.086 of this act is deemed necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health, welfare, peace and safety, and is hereby declared to be an emergency act within the meaning of the constitution, and the repeal and reenactment of section 92.086 of this act shall be in full force and effect upon its passage and approval.”; and

Senator Green moved that the above amendment be adopted.

Senator Callahan raised the point of order that SA 1 is out of order as it goes beyond the scope of the bill.

The point of order was referred to the President Pro Tem who ruled it well taken.

Senator Purgason offered SA 2, which was read:

further renumber the remaining subsection accordingly.

Such weighted average daily attendance or eligible pupils, whichever is applicable for the specified year, shall be multiplied by one-half of the amount to be received by the district, pursuant to this subsection, per weighted average daily attendance or eligible pupils, whichever is applicable for the specified year, not residing on federal lands.

[2.] 3. Money in the fund shall be distributed monthly. The state board of education shall certify the amounts to be distributed to the several school districts to the commissioner of administration who shall issue the warrants therefor.

[3.] 4. Money received by a school district from the school district trust fund shall be deemed to be local tax revenue derived for the same fiscal year in which the money is received for the teachers' and incidental funds. In the calculation of state aid for the district under the provisions of section 163.031, one-half the amount received by the district in the [first preceding] 2004-2005 year shall be included in local effort as provided in [section 163.031] subsection 10 of section 163.011.

5. (1) For purposes of this subsection only, the term "eligible pupils" shall mean the sum of the average daily attendance, as such term is defined in section 163.011, of the school term plus the product of two times the average daily attendance for summer school;

(2) In the 2006-07 school year and each school year thereafter for five years, moneys in the school district trust fund shall be distributed to each school district in the state in the following manner:

(a) For the 2006-07 school year, fifteen percent of the school district trust fund shall be distributed in the manner proscribed in subsection 1 of this section, and eighty-five percent of the school district trust fund shall be distributed to each school district in the state in the same ratio that the number of eligible pupils in the district bore to the total number of eligible pupils in all such school districts in the 2005-2006 school year;

(b) For the 2007-08 school year, thirty percent of the school district trust fund shall be distributed in the manner proscribed in subsection 1 of this section, and seventy percent of the school district trust fund shall be distributed to each school district in the state in the same ratio that the number of eligible pupils in the district bore to the total number of eligible pupils in all such school districts in the 2005-2006 school year;

(c) For the 2008-09 school year, forty-four percent of the school district trust fund shall be distributed in the manner proscribed in subsection 1 of this section, and fifty-six percent of the school district trust fund shall be distributed to each school district in the state in the same ratio that the number of eligible pupils in the district bore to the total number of eligible pupils in all such school districts in the 2005-2006 school year;

(d) For the 2009-10 school year, fifty-eight percent of the school district trust fund shall be distributed in the manner proscribed in subsection 1 of this section, and forty-two percent of the school district trust fund shall be distributed to each school district in the state in the same ratio that the number of eligible pupils in the district bore to the total number of eligible pupils in all such school districts in the 2005-2006 school year;

(e) For the 2010-11 school year, seventy-two percent of the school district trust fund shall be distributed in the manner proscribed in subsection 1 of this section, and twenty-eight percent of the school district trust fund shall be distributed to each school district in the state in the same ratio that the number of eligible pupils in the district bore to the total number of eligible pupils in all such school districts in the 2005-2006 school year;

(f) For the 2011-12 school year, eighty-six percent of the school district trust fund shall be distributed in the manner proscribed in subsection 1 of this section, and fourteen percent of the school district trust fund shall be distributed to each school district in the state in the same ratio that the number of eligible pupils in the district bore to the total number of eligible pupils in all such school districts in the 2005-2006 school year.”; and

Amend Senate Bill No. 644, Page 1, Section A,

“163.011. As used in this chapter unless the context requires otherwise:

(1) “Adjusted operating levy”, the sum of tax rates for the current year for teachers' and incidental funds for a school district as reported to the proper officer of each county pursuant to section 164.011, RSMo;

(2) “Average daily attendance”, the quotient or the sum of the quotients obtained by dividing the total number of hours attended in a term by resident pupils between the ages of five and twenty-one by the actual number of hours school was in session in that term. To the average daily attendance of the following school term shall be added the full-time equivalent average daily attendance of summer school students. “Full-time equivalent average daily attendance of summer school students” shall be computed by dividing the total number of hours attended by all summer school pupils by the number of hours required in section 160.011, RSMo, in the school term. For purposes of determining average daily attendance under this subdivision, the term “resident pupil” shall include all children between the ages of five and twenty-one who are residents of the school district and who are attending kindergarten through grade twelve in such district. If a child is attending school in a district other than the district of residence and the child's parent is teaching in the school district or is a regular employee of the school district which the child is attending, then such child shall be considered a resident pupil of the school district which the child is attending for such period of time when the district of residence is not otherwise liable for tuition. Average daily attendance for students below the age of five years for which a school district may receive state aid based on such attendance shall be computed as regular school term attendance unless otherwise provided by law;

(3) “Current operating expenditures”:

(a) For the fiscal year 2007 calculation, “current operating expenditures” shall be calculated using data from fiscal year 2004 and shall be calculated as all expenditures for instruction and support services except capital outlay and debt service expenditures minus the revenue from federal categorical sources; food service; student activities; categorical payments for transportation costs pursuant to section 163.161; state reimbursements for early childhood special education; the career ladder entitlement for the district, as provided for in sections 168.500 to 168.515, RSMo; the vocational education entitlement for the district, as provided for in section 167.332, RSMo; and payments from other districts;

(b) In every fiscal year subsequent to fiscal year 2007, current operating expenditures shall be the amount in paragraph (a) plus any increases in state funding pursuant to sections 163.031 and 163.043 subsequent to fiscal year 2005, not to exceed five percent, per recalculation, of the state revenue received by a district in the 2004-05 school year from the foundation formula, line 14, gifted, remedial reading, exceptional pupil aid, fair share, and free textbook payments for any district from the first preceding calculation of the state adequacy target;

(4) “District’s tax rate ceiling”, the highest tax rate ceiling in effect subsequent to the 1980 tax year or any subsequent year. Such tax rate ceiling shall not contain any tax levy for debt service;

(5) “Dollar value modifier”, an index of the relative purchasing power of a dollar, calculated as one plus fifteen percent of the difference of the regional wage ratio minus one, provided that the dollar value modifier shall not be applied at a rate less than 1.0:

(a) “County wage per job”, the total county wage and salary disbursements divided by the total county wage and salary employment for each county and the city of St. Louis as reported by the Bureau of Economic Analysis of the United States Department of Commerce for the fourth year preceding the payment year;

(b) “Regional wage per job”:

a. The total Missouri wage and salary disbursements of the metropolitan area as defined by the Office of Management and Budget divided by the total Missouri metropolitan wage and salary employment for the metropolitan area for the county signified in the school district number or the city of St. Louis, as reported by the Bureau of Economic Analysis of the United States Department of Commerce for the fourth year preceding the payment year and recalculated upon every decennial census to incorporate counties that are newly added to the description of metropolitan areas; or if no such metropolitan area is established, then:

b. The total Missouri wage and salary disbursements of the micropolitan area as defined by the Office of Management and Budget divided by the total Missouri micropolitan wage and salary employment for the micropolitan area for the county signified in the school district number, as reported by the Bureau of Economic Analysis of the United States Department of Commerce for the fourth year preceding the payment year, if a micropolitan area for such county has been established and recalculated upon every decennial census to incorporate counties that are newly added to the description of micropolitan areas; or

c. If a county is not part of a metropolitan or micropolitan area as established by the Office of Management and Budget, then the county wage per job, as defined in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, shall be used for the school district, as signified by the school district number;

(c) “Regional wage ratio”, the ratio of the regional wage per job divided by the state median wage per job;

(d) “State median wage per job”, the fifty-eighth highest county wage per job;

(6) “Free and reduced lunch pupil count”, the number of pupils eligible for free and reduced lunch on the last Wednesday in January for the preceding school year who were enrolled as students of the district, as approved by the department in accordance with applicable federal regulations;

(7) “Free and reduced lunch threshold” shall be calculated by dividing the total free and reduced lunch pupil count of every performance district that falls entirely above the bottom five percent and entirely below the top five percent of average daily attendance, when such districts are rank-ordered based on their current operating expenditures per average daily attendance, by the total average daily attendance of all included performance districts;

(8) “Limited English proficiency pupil count”, the number in the preceding school year of pupils aged three through twenty-one enrolled or preparing to enroll in an elementary school or secondary school who were not born in the United States or whose native language is a language other than English or are Native American or Alaskan native, or a native resident of the outlying areas, and come from an environment where a language other than English has had a significant impact on such individuals' level of English language proficiency, or are migratory, whose native language is a language other than English, and who come from an environment where a language other than English is dominant; and have difficulties in speaking, reading, writing, or understanding the English language sufficient to deny such individuals the ability to meet the state's proficient level of achievement on state assessments described in Public Law 107-10, the ability to achieve successfully in classrooms where the language of instruction is English, or the opportunity to participate fully in society;

(9) “Limited English proficiency threshold” shall be calculated by dividing the total limited English proficiency pupil count of every performance district that falls entirely above the bottom five percent and entirely below the top five percent of average daily attendance, when such districts are rank-ordered based on their current operating expenditures per average daily attendance, by the total average daily attendance of all included performance districts;

(10) “Local effort”:

(a) For the fiscal year 2007 calculation, “local effort” shall be computed as the equalized assessed valuation of the property of a school district in calendar year 2004 divided by one hundred and multiplied by the performance levy less the percentage retained by the county assessor and collector plus one hundred percent of the amount received in fiscal year 2005 for school purposes from intangible taxes, fines, escheats, payments in lieu of taxes and receipts from state-assessed railroad and utility tax, one hundred percent of the amount received for school purposes pursuant to the merchants' and manufacturers' taxes under sections 150.010 to 150.370, RSMo, one hundred percent of the amounts received for school purposes from federal properties under sections 12.070 and 12.080, RSMo, except when such amounts are used in the calculation of federal impact aid pursuant to P.L. 81-874, fifty percent of Proposition C revenues received for school purposes from the school district trust fund under section 163.087, and one hundred percent of any local earnings or income taxes received by the district for school purposes. Under this paragraph, for a special district established under sections 162.815 to 162.940, RSMo, in a county with a charter form of government and with more than one million inhabitants, a tax levy of zero shall be utilized in lieu of the performance levy for the special school district;

(b) In every year subsequent to fiscal year 2007, “local effort” shall be the amount calculated under paragraph (a) of this subdivision plus any increase in the amount received for school purposes from fines or less any decrease in the amount received for school purposes from fines.

If a district's assessed valuation has decreased subsequent to the calculation outlined in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, the district's local effort shall be calculated using the district's current assessed valuation in lieu of the assessed valuation utilized in calculation outlined in paragraph (a) of this subdivision;

(11) "Membership" shall be the average of:

(a) The number of resident full-time students and the full-time equivalent number of part-time students who were enrolled in the public schools of the district on the last Wednesday in September of the previous year and who were in attendance one day or more during the preceding ten school days; and

(b) The number of resident full-time students and the full-time equivalent number of part-time students who were enrolled in the public schools of the district on the last Wednesday in January of the previous year and who were in attendance one day or more during the preceding ten school days, plus the full-time equivalent number of summer school pupils.

"Full-time equivalent number of part-time students" is determined by dividing the total number of hours for which all part-time students are enrolled by the number of hours in the school term. "Full-time equivalent number of summer school pupils" is determined by dividing the total number of hours for which all summer school pupils were enrolled by the number of hours required pursuant to section 160.011, RSMo, in the school term. Only students eligible to be counted for average daily attendance shall be counted for membership;

(12) "Operating levy for school purposes", the sum of tax rates levied for teachers' and incidental funds plus the operating levy or sales tax equivalent pursuant to section 162.1100, RSMo, of any transitional school district containing the school district, in the payment year, not including any equalized operating levy for school purposes levied by a special school district in which the district is located;

(13) "Performance district", any district that has met all performance standards and indicators as established by the department of elementary and secondary education for purposes of accreditation under section 161.092, RSMo, and as reported on the final annual performance report for that district each year;

(14) "Performance levy", three dollars and forty-three cents;

(15) "School purposes" pertains to teachers' and incidental funds;

(16) "Special education pupil count", the number of public school students with a current individualized education program and receiving services from the resident district as of December first of the preceding school year, except for special education services provided through a school district established under sections 162.815 to 162.940, RSMo, in a county with a charter form of government and with more than one million inhabitants, in which case the sum of the students in each district within the county exceeding the special education threshold of each respective district within the county shall be counted within the special district and not in the district of residence for purposes of distributing the state aid derived from the special education pupil count;

(17) "Special education threshold" shall be calculated by dividing the total special education pupil count of every performance district that falls entirely above the bottom five percent and entirely below the top five percent of average daily attendance, when such districts are rank-ordered based on their current operating expenditures per average daily attendance, by the total average daily attendance of all included performance districts;

(18) "State adequacy target", the sum of the current operating expenditures of every performance district that falls entirely above the bottom five percent and entirely below the top five percent of average daily attendance, when such districts are rank-ordered based on their current operating expenditures per average daily attendance, divided by the total average daily attendance of all included performance districts. The department of elementary and secondary education shall first calculate the state adequacy target for fiscal year 2007 and recalculate the state adequacy target every two years using the most current available data. The recalculation shall never result in a decrease from the previous state adequacy target amount. Should a recalculation result in an increase in the state adequacy target amount, fifty percent of that increase shall be included in the state adequacy target amount in the year of recalculation, and fifty percent of that increase shall be included in the state adequacy target amount in the subsequent year. The state adequacy target may be adjusted to accommodate available appropriations;

(19) “Teacher”, any teacher, teacher-secretary, substitute teacher, supervisor, principal, supervising principal, superintendent or assistant superintendent, school nurse, social worker, counselor or librarian who shall, regularly, teach or be employed for no higher than grade twelve more than one-half time in the public schools and who is certified under the laws governing the certification of teachers in Missouri;

(20) “Weighted average daily attendance”, the average daily attendance plus the product of twenty-five hundredths multiplied by the free and reduced lunch pupil count that exceeds the free and reduced lunch threshold, plus the product of seventy-five hundredths multiplied by the number of special education pupil count that exceeds the special education threshold, and plus the product of six-tenths multiplied by the number of limited English proficiency pupil count that exceeds the limited English proficiency threshold. For special districts established under sections 162.815 to 162.940, RSMo, in a county with a charter form of government and with more than one million inhabitants, weighted average daily attendance shall be the average daily attendance plus the product of twenty-five hundredths multiplied by the free and reduced lunch pupil count that exceeds the free and reduced lunch threshold, plus the product of seventy-five hundredths multiplied by the sum of the special education pupil count that exceeds the threshold for each county district, plus the product of six-tenths multiplied by the limited English proficiency pupil count that exceeds the limited English proficiency threshold. None of the districts comprising a special district established under sections 162.815 to 162.940, RSMo, in a county with a charter form of government and with more than one million inhabitants, shall use any special education pupil count in calculating their weighted average daily attendance.”; and

Further amend said bill, section 163.031, page 2, line 41 of said page, by inserting after all of said line the following:

“(e) For districts meeting the criteria of paragraphs (a) through (d) of this subdivision, an additional payment amount equal to the decrease, if any, in the amount of revenue a district receives from fines in the current year from the revenue the district received from fines in fiscal year 2005 shall be paid to any such qualified district.”; and

Further amend said bill and section, page 3, line 68 of said page, by inserting after all of said line the following:

“(e) For districts meeting the criteria of paragraphs (a) through (d) of this subdivision, an additional payment amount equal to the decrease, if any, in the amount of revenue a district receives from fines in the current year from the revenue the district received from fines in fiscal year 2005 shall be paid to any such qualified district.”; and

Amend Senate Bill No. 644, Page 8, Section 163.031, Line 230, by inserting after all of said line the following:

“167.231. 1. Within all school districts except metropolitan districts the board of education shall provide transportation to and from school for all pupils living more than three and one-half miles from school and may provide transportation for all pupils. State aid for transportation shall be paid as provided in section 163.161, RSMo, only on the basis of the cost of pupil transportation for those pupils living one mile or more from school, including transportation provided to and from publicly operated university laboratory schools. The board of education may provide transportation for pupils living less than one mile from school at the expense of the district and may prescribe reasonable rules and regulations as to eligibility of pupils for transportation, and, notwithstanding any other provision of law, no such district shall be subject to an administrative penalty when the district demonstrates pursuant to rule established by the state board of education that such students are required to cross a state highway or county arterial in the absence of sidewalks, traffic signals, or a crossing guard and that no existing bus stop location has been changed to permit a district to evade such penalty. If no increase in the tax levy of the school district is required to provide transportation for pupils living less than one mile from the school, the board may transport said pupils. If an increase in the tax levy of the school district is required to provide transportation for pupils living less than one mile from school, the board shall submit the question at a public election. If a two-thirds majority of the voters voting on the question at the election are in favor of providing the transportation, the board shall arrange and provide therefor.

2. The proposal and the ballots may be in substantially the following form:

Shall the board of education of the school district provide transportation at the expense of the district for pupils living less than one mile from school and be authorized to levy an additional tax of cents on the one hundred dollars assessed valuation to provide funds to pay for such transportation service?

☐ YES

☐ NO

(If you are in favor of the proposition (or question), place an X in the box opposite “YES”. If you are opposed to the proposition (or question), place an X in the box opposite “NO”.)

3. The board of education of any school district may provide transportation to and from school for any public school pupil not otherwise eligible for transportation under the provisions of state law, and may prescribe reasonable rules and regulations as to eligibility for transportation, if the parents or guardian of the pupil agree in writing to pay the actual cost of transporting the pupil. The minimum charge would be the actual cost of transporting the pupil for ninety school days, which actual cost is to be determined by the average per pupil cost of transporting children in the school district during the preceding school year. The full actual cost shall be paid by the parent or guardian of the pupil and shall not be paid out of any state school aid funds or out of any other revenues of the school district. The cost of transportation may be paid in installments, and the board of education shall establish the cost of the transportation and the time or times and method of payment.”; and

WHEREAS, Missouri's long-standing agriculture tradition continues to thrive and contribute to our economy and to our families; and

WHEREAS, the state of Missouri has maintained a robust and lucrative agriculture culture, frequently ranking in the top ten among states with regard to the number of operating farms, hay, cotton, and corn production, cattle, hog and turkey production, and more; and

WHEREAS, the economic benefits from these agricultural operations are profoundly important to our communities, to our state, and to our nation; and

WHEREAS the farm family is the backbone of our state, as we, a legislative body, do swear to uphold and promote our farming community and protect the freedoms we share; and

WHEREAS, with the introduction of the Missouri Animal ID Program, a coordinated effort between the Missouri Department of Agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), the issues of food security and personal freedom became a reality for Missouri agriculture producers; and

WHEREAS, the USDA National Animal Identification System (NAIS) is currently and should remain a voluntary program with regard to animal identification programs and marketing practices:

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-Third General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby urge the United States Department of Agriculture to continue the National Animal Identification System program as a voluntary program to allow agricultural families to direct their own future; and

Senator Days offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 32

WHEREAS, the current Federal Defense Budget does not include an allocation for the United States Air Force C-17 Globemaster III military transport plane program at Boeing St. Louis; and

WHEREAS, in 2002, Boeing dedicated a new St. Louis C-17 manufacturing facility that allowed Boeing to consolidate its major St. Louis C-17 assembly work into one facility; and

WHEREAS, today, 20 percent of all C-17 planes are manufactured at Boeing St. Louis; and

WHEREAS, the Boeing St. Louis team, the largest supplier for the C-17, produces the airlifter's cargo ramp and door, cockpit, including the flight deck, main landing gear pods, and pylons. In addition, 10,000 detail parts for the C-17 are fabricated at Boeing's strategic partner, GKN Aerospace Services - St. Louis, to deliver to Long Beach, California, and Macon, Georgia; and

WHEREAS, the new facility at Boeing St. Louis was part of a $140 million multistage plan designed to transform the Boeing St. Louis site into one of the most competitive operations in the aerospace industry; and

WHEREAS, if federal funding for this program is not included in the Federal Defense Budget, 950 jobs at Boeing St.

Louis and 565 jobs at GKN Aerospace Services - St. Louis would be lost; and

WHEREAS, Boeing St. Louis is second only to Long Beach, California, in the manufacture of the C-17 Globemaster III military transport plane and has 57 suppliers across the state of Missouri; and

WHEREAS, the loss of nearly 1,500 skilled aerospace jobs, occurring at the same time that the Hazelwood Ford Plant is scheduled for closure, would have a significant negative impact on the economy of St. Louis and the state of Missouri, as well as the employment and financial stability of nearly 1,500 employees in this state:

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-Third General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby urge the United States Congress to include in the Federal Defense Budget an allocation for the United States Air Force C-17 Globemaster III military transport plane program at Boeing St. Louis; and

THIRTY-EIGHTH DAY—MONDAY, MARCH 13, 2006

Senator Griesheimer in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we were awakened at night by the pure force of nature and are aware this day of the destruction that has swept through the Midwest, and Missouri in particular. We understand that You who created the wind and all that exists are even more powerful than the havoc of nature, and our little power is of no comparison. Yet we are thankful that the loss of life and injury was as small as it was. And we pray for the families touched by the storm and petition You that You will comfort those who grieve, heal those injured and give strength to those who must rebuild. Be with us this week and help us to find ways to assist our neighbors. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

A quorum being established, the Senate proceeded with its business.

Journal of the Senate

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

THIRTY-NINTH DAY—TUESDAY, MARCH 14, 2006

Senator Koster in the Chair.

"Man stands to revere, he kneels to pray." (Henry David Thoreau)

Gracious God, may we be known as those who appreciate all You have laid before us and so reverence the earth, thanking You for what You have created. And let us be a people who pray and humble ourselves before You. Let us always set our priorities that we are first and always Your servants, that we willingly help others as their concerns confront us and place our needs last so that Your will is completed through us. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

Journal of the Senate

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

FORTIETH DAY—WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2006

Senator Bartle in the Chair.

“...how little do my countrymen know what precious blessings they are in possession of, and which no other people on earth enjoy.” (Thomas Jefferson, June 17, 1785)

Heavenly Father, we often take so much of our freedom for granted and the cost to have obtained it and to maintain it. We see the thousands who have died to secure freedom and democracy in Iraq and make only a slight connection that is how we had to obtain our freedom as a nation. We pray for those who continue to be in harms way and pray for Your presence and protection to be with them. We pray for the families who have seen their sons and daughters, husbands and wives die and ask Your mercy and comfort be with them. And we pray for guidance to help our leaders bring this warring to an end. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

Journal of the Senate

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

FORTY-FIRST DAY—THURSDAY, MARCH 16, 2006

Senator Koster in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, we have come to a time to put our good works down for the moment and perhaps to do nothing for a while so that we might relax our bodies and renew our strength and uplift our spirits and enjoy a time of re-creation. Let us use this time away to have time with those we love and reconnect in important ways with them. Let us fill our souls with Your word. And let us use our time to prepare ourselves for the rush of activities that will await us when we return. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

A quorum being established, the Senate proceeded with its business.

Journal of the Senate

FORTY-FOURTH DAY—TUESDAY, MARCH 28, 2006

Senator Bartle in the Chair.

Senator Scott offered the following prayer:

The psalmist writes, “So teach us to number our days, that we may gain a heart of wisdom.” (Psalms 90:12)

Lord, as we return from spring break we suddenly realize that the short dark days of January have passed, February has evaporated and March has led us to the gate of springtime.

The slow methodical pace of introducing bills and starting committee hearings has accelerated to a hectic juggling of our schedules and soon we will be in the dead run of April and May...and then this session will be over.

Lord, help us today to not only number our days...but to live each day with full awareness of our dependence on You and Your wisdom, and to remember that You placed us here to serve others, not to serve ourselves. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

A quorum being established, the Senate proceeded with its business.

Senator Shields announced that photographers from KOMU-TV were given permission to take pictures in the Chamber today.

Journal of the Senate

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

FORTY-FIFTH DAY—WEDNESDAY, MARCH 29, 2006

Senator Crowell in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

"If we really want to pray, we have to give time to learning its lessons." (Mother Mary Clare)

Almighty God, we sometimes hurry over words, state platitudes, and believe our prayers are finished. But, when we pray, help us take the time to learn the lessons that come from praying by discovering ourselves as we truly are before You and grow towards maturity that deepens our relationship with You so that what we do and say reflects Your will for our lives. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

A quorum being established, the Senate proceeded with its business.

“Section 1. 1. Whenever the creation of a water safety district is desired, not less than fifty registered voters from each county partially or totally within the proposed district may file a petition requesting the creation of a district. The petition shall be filed in the circuit court of any county partially or totally within the proposed district.

(4) A general description of the purpose for which the tax shall be levied;

(5) The name of the proposed district;

(6) The number of members of the board of directors of the proposed district, which shall be not less than five or more than fifteen;

(7) A statement that the terms of office of initial board members shall be staggered in approximately equal numbers to expire in one, two or three years;

(9) A request that the funding proposal be submitted to the qualified voters residing within the limits of the proposed district; and

(10) A statement that the proposed district shall not be an undue burden on any owner of property within the district and is not unjust or unreasonable.

Section 2. 1. If the circuit court certifies the petition for voter approval, it shall call an election.

2. At such election for voter approval of the qualified voters, the questions shall be submitted in substantially the following form:

Shall there be organized in (here specifically describe the proposed district boundaries), within the state of Missouri, a water safety district, to be known as the “..... SECOND REGULAR SESSION

FORTY-SEVENTH DAY—MONDAY, APRIL 3, 2006

Senator Scott in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

“The State, in choosing men to faithfully serve it, take no notice of their opinions. If they be willing to serve it, that satisfies.”
(Oliver Cromwell, July 2, 1644)

Gracious God, we are thankful for our weekend to campaign or to rest. Bless us now as we work together, irregardless of our differing opinions, let us be servants of the state and seek to serve it the best we can. And we pray for the injured from this last severe storm, that You heal them; and for the families of those who died, that you comfort them. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

(1) “Blighted area”, an area which, by reason of the predominance of [defective or inadequate street layout,] unsanitary or unsafe conditions, deterioration of site improvements, [improper subdivision or obsolete platting,] or the existence of conditions which endanger life or property by fire and other causes, or any combination of such factors, retards the provision of housing accommodations or constitutes [an economic or] a social liability or a menace to the public health, safety, morals, or welfare in its present condition and use. The fact that a different use of a specific piece of property or properties would provide a higher level of tax revenue or is considered an economic liability or that the land is economically underutilized shall not be a valid factor in determining blight. In addition to such determinations, the applicable property shall support findings that the property satisfies the following criteria:

(a) The property is located in an area of “high unemployment”. For purposes of this section, the term “high unemployment” shall mean unemployment in the proposed redevelopment area of at least two times that of the metropolitan statistical area in which the area is located or, two times the unemployment rate of non-metropolitan counties if the area is not located in a metropolitan statistical area; and

(b) The property is one with “low fiscal capacity”. For purposes of this section, the term “low fiscal capacity” shall mean per capita assessed valuation of property in the municipality of less than fifty percent of the entire county in which it is located, or, if when adjusted for inflation, the cumulative assessed value for such applicable property or properties has not increased in the previous three reassessment periods; and

(c) The municipality, census block group or groups, as defined in the most recent decennial census, containing the redevelopment area are characterized by low income. For purposes of this section, the term “low income” shall mean either a Missouri municipality within a metropolitan statistical area which has a population of a least one thousand five hundred and median household income of under seventy percent of the median household income for the metropolitan statistical area, according to the last decennial census, or a United States census block group or contiguous group of block groups within a metropolitan statistical area which has a population of at least one thousand five hundred, and each block group having a median household income of under seventy percent of the median household income for the metropolitan area in Missouri, according to the last decennial census.

The determination of blight shall be considered a quasi-judicial function, attaching the rights of procedural due process to affected landowners and requiring the governing body to issue findings of fact and conclusions of law consistent with this section, displaying clear and convincing evidence for the sufficiency of such finding of blight. Such findings shall be reviewed de novo by a court of competent jurisdiction, at the request of any owner of property deemed blighted;

(2) “Collecting officer”, the officer of the municipality responsible for receiving and processing payments in lieu of taxes or economic activity taxes from taxpayers or the department of revenue;

(3) “Conservation area”, [any improved area within the boundaries of a redevelopment area located within the territorial limits of a municipality in which fifty percent or more of the structures in the area have an age of thirty-five years or more. Such an area is not yet a blighted area but is detrimental to the public health, safety, morals, or welfare and may become a blighted area because of any one or more of the following factors: dilapidation; obsolescence; deterioration; illegal use of individual structures; presence of structures below minimum code standards; abandonment; excessive vacancies; overcrowding of structures and community facilities; lack of ventilation, light or sanitary facilities; inadequate utilities; excessive land coverage; deleterious land use or layout; depreciation of physical maintenance; and lack of community planning. A conservation area shall meet at least three of the factors provided in this subdivision for projects approved on or after December 23, 1997] any improved area within the boundaries of a redevelopment area located within the territorial limits of a municipality in which fifty percent or more of the structures in the area have an effective age of thirty-five years or more. Such an area is not yet a blighted area but is detrimental to the public health, safety, morals, or welfare and may become a blighted area by reason of the predominance of unsanitary or unsafe conditions, deterioration of site improvements, or the existence of conditions which endanger life or property by fire and other causes, or any combination of such factors, retards the provision of housing accommodations or constitutes a social liability or a menace to the public health, safety, morals, or welfare in its present condition and use. The fact that a different use of a specific piece of property or properties would provide a higher level of tax revenue, or is considered an economic liability, or that the land is economically underutilized shall not be a valid factor in declaring an area a conservation area. In addition to such determinations, the applicable property shall support findings that the property satisfies the following criteria:

(a) The property is located in an area of “moderate unemployment”. For purposes of this section, the term “moderate unemployment” shall mean unemployment in the proposed redevelopment area of at least one and one-half times that of the metropolitan statistical area in which the area is located or, one and one-half times the unemployment rate of non-metropolitan counties if the area is not located in a metropolitan statistical area; and

(b) The property is one with “reduced fiscal capacity”. For purposes of this section, the term “reduced fiscal capacity” shall mean per capita assessed valuation of property in the municipality of less than seventy percent of the entire county in which it is located, or, if when adjusted for inflation, the cumulative assessed value for such applicable property or properties has not increased in the previous two reassessment periods; and

(c) The municipality, census block group or groups, as defined in the most recent decennial census, containing the redevelopment area are characterized by reduced income. For purposes of this section, the term “reduced income” shall mean either a Missouri municipality within a metropolitan statistical area which has a population of a least one thousand five hundred and median household income of under eighty-five percent of the median household income for the metropolitan statistical area, according to the last decennial census, or a United States census block group or contiguous group of block groups within a metropolitan statistical area which has a population of at least one thousand five hundred, and each block group having a median household income of under eighty-five percent of the median household income for the metropolitan area in Missouri, according to the last decennial census.

The determination that an area is a conservation area shall be considered a quasi-judicial function, attaching the rights of procedural due process to affected landowners and requiring the governing body to issue findings of fact and conclusions of law consistent with this section, displaying clear and convincing evidence for the sufficiency of such finding. Such findings of fact shall be reviewed de novo, by a court of competent jurisdiction, at the request of any owner of property deemed a conservation area;

(4) “Economic activity taxes”, the total additional revenue from taxes which are imposed by a municipality and other taxing districts, and which are generated by economic activities within a redevelopment area over the amount of such taxes generated by economic activities within such redevelopment area in the calendar year prior to the adoption of the ordinance designating such a redevelopment area, while tax increment financing remains in effect, but excluding personal property taxes, taxes imposed on sales or charges for sleeping rooms paid by transient guests of hotels and motels, licenses, fees or special assessments. For redevelopment projects or redevelopment plans approved after December 23, 1997, if a retail establishment relocates within one year from one facility to another facility within the same county and the governing body of the municipality finds that the relocation is a direct beneficiary of tax increment financing, then for purposes of this definition, the economic activity taxes generated by the retail establishment shall equal the total additional revenues from economic activity taxes which are imposed by a municipality or other taxing district over the amount of economic activity taxes generated by the retail establishment in the calendar year prior to its relocation to the redevelopment area;

(5) [“Economic development area”, any area or portion of an area located within the territorial limits of a municipality, which does not meet the requirements of subdivisions (1) and (3) of this section, and in which the governing body of the municipality finds that redevelopment will not be solely used for development of commercial businesses which unfairly compete in the local economy and is in the public interest because it

(a) Discourage commerce, industry or manufacturing from moving their operations to another state; or

(b) Result in increased employment in the municipality; or

(c) Result in preservation or enhancement of the tax base of the municipality;

(6)] “Gambling establishment”, an excursion gambling boat as defined in section 313.800, RSMo, and any related business facility including any real property improvements which are directly and solely related to such business facility, whose sole purpose is to provide goods or services to an excursion gambling boat and whose majority ownership interest is held by a person licensed to conduct gambling games on an excursion gambling boat or licensed to operate an excursion gambling boat as provided in sections 313.800 to 313.850, RSMo. This subdivision shall be applicable only to a redevelopment area designated by ordinance adopted after December 23, 1997;

[(7)] (6) “Municipality”, a city, village, or incorporated town or any county of this state. For redevelopment areas or projects approved on or after December 23, 1997, “municipality” applies only to cities, villages, incorporated towns or counties established for at least one year prior to such date;

[(8)] (7) “Obligations”, bonds, loans, debentures, notes, special certificates, or other evidences of indebtedness issued by a municipality to carry out a redevelopment project or to refund outstanding obligations;

[(9)] (8) “Ordinance”, an ordinance enacted by the governing body of a city, town, or village or a county or an order of the governing body of a county whose governing body is not authorized to enact ordinances;

[(10)] (9) “Payment in lieu of taxes”, those estimated revenues from real property in the area

selected for a redevelopment project, which revenues according to the redevelopment project or plan are to be used for a private use, which taxing districts would have received had a municipality not adopted tax increment allocation financing, and which would result from levies made after the time of the adoption of tax increment allocation financing during the time the current equalized value of real property in the area selected for the redevelopment project exceeds the total initial equalized value of real property in such area until the designation is terminated pursuant to subsection 2 of section 99.850;

[(11)] (10) “Redevelopment area”, an area designated by a municipality, in respect to which the municipality has made a finding that there exist conditions which cause the area to be classified as a blighted area, a conservation area, [an economic development area,] an enterprise zone pursuant to sections 135.200 to 135.256, RSMo, or a combination thereof, which area includes only those parcels of real property directly and substantially benefited by the proposed redevelopment project;

[(12)] (11) “Redevelopment plan”, the comprehensive program of a municipality for redevelopment intended by the payment of redevelopment costs to reduce or eliminate those conditions, the existence of which qualified the redevelopment area as a blighted area, conservation area, [economic development area,] or combination thereof, and to thereby enhance the tax bases of the taxing districts which extend into the redevelopment area. Each redevelopment plan shall conform to the requirements of section 99.810;

[(13)] (12) “Redevelopment project”, any development project within a redevelopment area in furtherance of the objectives of the redevelopment plan; any such redevelopment project shall include a legal description of the area selected for the redevelopment project; include the sum total of all reasonable or necessary costs incurred or estimated to be incurred, and any such costs incidental to a redevelopment plan or redevelopment project, as applicable. Such costs include, but are not limited to, the following:

(a) Costs of studies, surveys, plans, and specifications;

(b) Professional service costs, including, but not limited to, architectural, engineering, [legal,] marketing, financial, planning or special services. Except the reasonable costs incurred by the commission established in section 99.820 for the administration of sections 99.800 to 99.865, such costs shall be allowed only as an initial expense which, to be recoverable, shall be included in the costs of a redevelopment plan or project;

(c) Property assembly costs, including, but not limited to, acquisition of land and other property, real or personal, or rights or interests therein, [demolition of buildings,] and the clearing and grading of land;

(d) [Costs of rehabilitation, reconstruction, or repair or remodeling of existing buildings and fixtures;

(e) Initial costs for an economic development area;

(f) Costs of construction of public works or improvements;

[(g)] (e) Financing costs, including, but not limited to, all necessary and incidental expenses related to the issuance of obligations, and which may include payment of interest on any obligations issued pursuant to sections 99.800 to 99.865 accruing during the estimated period of construction of any redevelopment project for which such obligations are issued and for not more than eighteen months thereafter, and including reasonable reserves related thereto;

[(h)] (f) All or a portion of a taxing district's capital costs resulting from the redevelopment project necessarily incurred or to be incurred in furtherance of the objectives of the redevelopment plan and project, to the extent the municipality by written agreement accepts and approves such costs;

[(I)] (g) Relocation costs to the extent that a municipality determines that relocation costs shall be paid or are required to be paid by federal or state law;

[(j)] (h) Payments in lieu of taxes;

Legal fees incurred during a redevelopment project shall not constitute redevelopment project costs and the party incurring such costs shall be responsible for payment;

[(15)] (14) “Special allocation fund”, the fund of a municipality or its commission which contains at least two separate segregated accounts for each redevelopment plan, maintained by the treasurer of the municipality or the treasurer of the commission into which payments in lieu of taxes are deposited in one account, and economic activity taxes and other revenues are deposited in the other account;

[(16)] (15) “Taxing districts”, any political subdivision of this state having the power to levy taxes;

[(17)] (16) “Taxing districts' capital costs”, those costs of taxing districts for capital improvements that are found by the municipal governing bodies to be necessary and to directly result from the redevelopment project; and

[(18)] (17) “Vacant land”, any parcel or combination of parcels of real property not used for industrial, commercial, or residential buildings.

99.810. 1. Each redevelopment plan shall set forth in writing a general description of the program to be undertaken to accomplish the objectives and shall include, but need not be limited to, the estimated redevelopment project costs, the anticipated sources of funds to pay the costs, evidence of the commitments to finance the project costs, the anticipated type and term of the sources of funds to pay costs, the anticipated type and terms of the obligations to be issued, the most recent equalized assessed valuation of the property within the redevelopment area which is to be subjected to payments in lieu of taxes and economic activity taxes pursuant to section 99.845, an estimate as to the equalized assessed valuation after redevelopment, and the general land uses to apply in the redevelopment area. No redevelopment plan shall be adopted by a municipality without findings that:

(1) The redevelopment area on the whole is a blighted area[,] or a conservation area, [or an economic development area,] and has not been subject to growth and development through investment by private enterprise and would not reasonably be anticipated to be developed without the adoption of tax increment financing. Such a finding shall include, but not be limited to, a detailed description of the factors that qualify the redevelopment area or project pursuant to this subdivision and an affidavit, signed by the developer or developers and submitted with the redevelopment plan, attesting that the provisions of this subdivision have been met;

(2) The redevelopment plan conforms to the comprehensive plan for the development of the municipality as a whole;

(3) The estimated dates, which shall not be more than twenty-three years from the adoption of the ordinance approving a redevelopment project within a redevelopment area, of completion of any redevelopment project and retirement of obligations incurred to finance redevelopment project costs have been stated, provided that no ordinance approving a redevelopment project shall be adopted later than ten years from the adoption of the ordinance approving the redevelopment plan under which such project is authorized and provided that no property for a redevelopment project shall be acquired by eminent domain later than five years from the adoption of the ordinance approving such redevelopment project;

(4) A plan has been developed for relocation assistance for businesses and residences;

(5) A cost-benefit analysis showing the economic impact of the plan on each taxing district which is at least partially within the boundaries of the redevelopment area. The analysis shall show the impact on the economy if the project is not built, and is built pursuant to the redevelopment plan under consideration. The cost-benefit analysis shall include a fiscal impact study on every affected political subdivision, and sufficient information from the developer for the commission established in section 99.820 to evaluate whether the project as proposed is financially feasible;

(6) A finding that the plan does not include the initial development or redevelopment of any gambling establishment, provided however, that this subdivision shall be applicable only to a redevelopment plan adopted for a redevelopment area designated by ordinance after December 23, 1997.

2. By the last day of February each year, each commission shall report to the director of economic development the name, address, phone number and primary line of business of any business which relocates to the district. The director of the department of economic development shall compile and report the same to the governor, the speaker of the house and the president pro tempore of the senate on the last day of April each year.

99.825. 1. Prior to the adoption of an ordinance proposing the designation of a redevelopment area, or approving a redevelopment plan or redevelopment project, the commission shall fix a time and place for a public hearing and notify each taxing district located wholly or partially within the boundaries of the proposed redevelopment area, plan or project. At the public hearing any interested person or affected taxing district may file with the commission written objections to, or comments on, and may be heard orally in respect to, any issues embodied in the notice. The commission shall hear and consider all protests, objections, comments and other evidence presented at the hearing. The hearing may be continued to another date without further notice other than a motion to be entered upon the minutes fixing the time and place of the subsequent hearing. Prior to the conclusion of the hearing, changes may be made in the redevelopment plan, redevelopment project, or redevelopment area, provided that each affected taxing district is given written notice of such changes at least seven days prior to the conclusion of the hearing. After the public hearing but prior to the adoption of an ordinance approving a redevelopment plan or redevelopment project, or designating a redevelopment area, changes may be made to the redevelopment plan, redevelopment projects or redevelopment areas without a further hearing, if such changes do not enlarge the exterior boundaries of the redevelopment area or areas, and do not substantially affect the general land uses established in the redevelopment plan or substantially change the nature of the redevelopment projects, provided that notice of such changes shall be given by mail to each affected taxing district and by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the area of the proposed redevelopment not less than ten days prior to the adoption of the changes by ordinance. An ordinance providing for a tax increment finance project for residential development or redevelopment shall not be approved unless unanimous consent for such project is granted by the members of the tax increment finance commission representing the interest of the school boards whose districts are included within the redevelopment plan or redevelopment area. After the adoption of an ordinance approving a redevelopment plan or redevelopment project, or designating a redevelopment area, no ordinance shall be adopted altering the exterior boundaries, affecting the general land uses established pursuant to the redevelopment plan or changing the nature of the redevelopment project without complying with the procedures provided in this section pertaining to the initial approval of a redevelopment plan or redevelopment project and designation of a redevelopment area. Hearings with regard to a redevelopment project, redevelopment area, or redevelopment plan may be held simultaneously.

2. Tax incremental financing projects within [an economic development] a blighted area or conservation area shall apply to and fund only the following infrastructure projects: highways, roads, streets, bridges, sewers, traffic control systems and devices, water distribution and supply systems, curbing, sidewalks and any other similar public improvements, but in no case shall it include buildings.

523.015. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, if a temporary easement for a specified period of time is granted as a result of condemnation instead of an easement of perpetual duration, any extension of such easement shall not be granted automatically; instead, the condemning entity shall only be granted an extension of the easement upon completing the formal condemnation proceedings of this chapter and paying the ordered amount of compensation for the extension.

523.025. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, no political subdivision with an elected governing body shall exercise the power of eminent domain or condemnation until the elected governing body approves of the proposed condemnation by a two-thirds majority vote.

523.035. 1. After the petition has been filed under section 523.030, the court shall, prior to appointing commissioners under section 523.040, determine whether or not:

(1) The condemning entity has the authority to exercise the power of eminent domain;

(2) The property sought to be condemned is subject to the exercise of eminent domain;

(3) The property sought to be condemned is for a public use; and

(4) The condemning entity is properly exercising the power of eminent domain in the particular proceeding.

The court may also determine any other issues raised by the owner of the property which attacks the validity of the condemning entity's right to exercise eminent domain over the owner's property.

2. If the court determines that the condemning entity has satisfied all the requirements of subsection 1 of this section, the court shall enter an interlocutory order to such effect. An interlocutory appeal shall lie from the decision as a matter of right.

3. If the court determines that the condemning entity has not satisfied all the requirements of subsection 1 of this section and does not have the authority to exercise the power of eminent domain in this particular proceeding, the court shall dismiss the condemning entity's petition with prejudice and direct the condemning entity to pay the owner's court costs and attorneys' fees.

4. The appeal provided for in subsection 2 of this section shall be an interlocutory appeal, filed in the appropriate appellate court. Notice of such interlocutory appeal shall be filed within three business days of the entry of the order of trial court; the time limits applicable to such appeal shall be the same as in interlocutory appeals allowed to the state in criminal cases.

523.095. 1. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the state or any political subdivision thereof shall not exercise the power of eminent domain to acquire property for the purpose of economic development unless acquisition of such property is expressly authorized by law or the provisions of this subsection are fulfilled. No private property that the government takes in the exercise of its power of eminent domain shall be used for economic development unless seven years have passed since the time of the original authorized taking and the government offers the original owner, or his or her heirs or assigns, the right of first refusal to buy the property at the original condemnation price before proceeding with the development.

2. For the purposes of this section, “economic development” means any activity performed to increase tax revenue, tax base, employment rates, or general economic health, when the activity does not result in:

(1) The transfer of land to public ownership;

(2) The transfer of land to a private entity that is a common carrier;

(3) The transfer of property to a private entity that will remove a blighted area as defined in chapter 99, RSMo; or

(4) The lease of the property to private entities that occupy an incidental area within a public project.

523.110. When any entity with condemnation authority negotiates with a property owner to acquire any property interest which may eventually be acquired through formal eminent domain proceedings, the condemning entity shall provide the owner of the property a form containing a written summary of the rights of an owner of property to be acquired under this chapter via certified mail return receipt requested. If the condemning entity does not supply the owner of the real property with this form, a presumption shall exist that any sale or contract entered into between the condemning entity and the owner was not voluntary and the condemning entity may be held responsible for any relief, if any, as the court may determine to be appropriate considering all of the facts and circumstances,

523.115. 1. Before proceeding to acquire any property interest by condemnation, a condemning entity must give notice of such intent, together with a description of the property interest to be acquired, notice of the property owners' right to a hearing, and notice that the decision determined at that hearing may be appealed to be heard by a jury of peers, to anyone having an interest of record in the property involved. Such notice shall advise that the condemning entity shall pay the reasonable costs of an appraisal pursuant to subsection 2 of this section. Such notice, however, need not be given to any of such persons who cannot be found by the condemning entity upon the exercise of due diligence. Upon receipt of such notice, such persons may employ an appraiser of their choosing to appraise the property interest to be acquired. The appraiser shall be a Missouri certified general appraiser bound by the uniform standards of professional appraisal practice (USPAP). The value of the land or property actually taken shall be equal to the market value with applicable upward adjustments. Within ninety days of the date of such notice, such persons may submit to the condemning entity a copy of such appraisal. The condemning entity shall, immediately upon receipt thereof, submit to such persons copies of its appraisals. If the property interest is being acquired in relation to a federal aid project, the appraisals submitted by the condemning entity shall be those which have been approved by it pursuant to applicable statutes and regulations, if such approval is required. All such appraisals may be used by the parties to negotiate in good faith for the acquisition of the property interest, but only the condemning entity shall be bound by such appraisals.

2. If an appraisal is submitted to the condemning entity in accordance with the provisions of subsection 1 of this section, the condemning entity shall pay the reasonable costs of such appraisal. If more than one person has an interest in the property sought to be acquired and such persons cannot agree on an appraisal to be submitted under subsection 1 of this section, the condemning entity shall be relieved of any obligation imposed upon it to pay for such appraisals as may be submitted to it pursuant to this section.

3. Nothing in this section shall be construed as limiting in any way the obligation of the condemning entity to negotiate in good faith for the acquisition of any property interest sought prior to instituting eminent domain proceedings or as limiting in any way the discovery rights of parties to eminent domain proceedings.

4. Nothing in this section shall prevent the condemning entity from complying with federal and state requirements to qualify the authority for federal aid grants.

5. A condemning entity shall not make an offer to purchase the property or property interest that is less than the market value the condemning entity has established for the property or property interest pursuant to the appraisal required in subsection 1 of this section. A condemning entity need not make an offer in excess of that amount in order to satisfy the requirement to negotiate in good faith.

6. No later than ten days before the formal filing of a petition under section 523.010, the condemning entity must make a written offer to purchase the desired property or property interest in the form prescribed in subsection 7 of this section.

7. The offer shall be substantially in the following form:

..... (condemner) is authorized by (specific Missouri law granting authorization) to obtain your property or an easement across your property for certain public purposes.....

needs (easement or other property interest) across your property and needs to take (legal description of the property or easement to be taken; the legal description may be made on a separate sheet and attached to this document if additional space is required).

It is your opinion that the market value of the(property or easement) that (condemner) seeks to acquire is $....., and, therefore,(condemner) offers you $....., for the above described(property or easement). You have ten days from(date of offer) to accept this offer. If you do not accept, (condemner) will initiate eminent domain proceedings by filing a petition under section 523.010. The submitted offer shall be in the form of a verified affidavit.

8. If the condemning entity and the condemnee fail to reach agreement and the amount of damages awarded the condemnee by the commissioners under section 523.040 or by the court or jury under section 523.030, exclusive of interest and costs, is within twenty percent of the original offer, the condemnee shall pay the condemning entity's litigation expenses, including court costs and attorney's fees, in an amount that does not exceed two thousand five hundred dollars. If the amount of damages awarded to the condemnee, exclusive of interest and costs, exceeds the amount of the original offer by twenty percent or more, the condemning entity shall pay the condemnee's litigation expenses, including court costs and attorney's fees, in an amount not to exceed two thousand five hundred dollars. If the amount of damages awarded to the condemnee, exclusive of interest and costs, exceeds the amount of the original offer by fifty percent or more, the condemning entity shall pay the condemnee's litigation expenses, including court costs and attorney's fees, in an amount not to exceed two thousand five hundred dollars and double damages on that portion of the damages that exceeds the amount of the original offer by twenty percent.

523.205. 1. Any public agency as defined in section 523.200 which is required, as a condition to the receipt of federal funds, to give relocation assistance to any displaced person is hereby authorized and directed to give similar relocation assistance to displaced persons when the property involved is being acquired for the same public purpose through the same procedures, and is being purchased solely through expenditure of state or local funds.

2. The governing body of any city, or agency thereof, prior to approval of a plan, project or area for redevelopment under the operation of chapter 99, RSMo, chapter 100, RSMo, or chapter 353, RSMo, or any other political subdivision initiating condemnation proceedings, which proposes or includes within its provisions or necessitates displacement of persons, when such displacement is not subject to the provisions of the Federal Uniform Relocation and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970 (42 U.S.C. sections 4601 to 4655, as amended) or subsection 1 of this section, shall establish by ordinance or rule a relocation policy which shall include, but not be limited to, the provisions and requirements of subsections 2 to 15 of this section, or in lieu thereof, such relocation policy shall contain provisions and requirements which are equivalent to the requirements of the Federal Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970 (42 U.S.C. sections 4601 to 4655, as amended).

3. As used in this section, the following terms shall mean:

(1) "Business", any lawful activity that is conducted:

(a) Primarily for the purchase, sale or use of personal or real property or for the manufacture, processing or marketing of products or commodities; or

(b) Primarily for the sale of services to the public;

(2) "Decent, safe and sanitary dwelling", a dwelling which meets applicable housing and occupancy codes. The dwelling shall:

(a) Be structurally sound, weathertight and in good repair;

(b) Contain a safe electrical wiring system;

(4) "Initiation of negotiations", the delivery of the initial written offer of just compensation by the acquiring entity, to the owner of the real property, to purchase such real property for the project, or the notice to the person that he will be displaced by rehabilitation or demolition;

(5) "Person", any individual, family, partnership, corporation, or association.

4. Every urban redevelopment corporation acquiring property within a redevelopment area shall submit a relocation plan as part of the redevelopment plan.

5. Unless the property acquisition under the operation of chapter 99, RSMo, chapter 100, RSMo, or chapter 353, RSMo, is subject to federal relocation standards or subsection 1 of this section, the relocation plan shall provide for the following:

(1) Payments to all eligible displaced persons, as defined, who occupied the property to be acquired for not less than ninety days prior to the initiation of negotiations who are required to vacate the premises;

(2) A program for identifying special needs of displaced persons with specific consideration given to income, age, size of family, nature of business, availability of suitable replacement facilities and vacancy rates of affordable facilities;

(3) A program for referrals of displaced persons with provisions for a minimum of three decent, safe and sanitary housing referrals for residential persons or suitable referral sites for displaced businesses, a minimum of ninety days' notice of referral sites for handicapped displaced persons and sixty days' notice of referral sites for all other displaced persons prior to the date such displaced persons are required to vacate the premises, and arrangements for transportation to inspect referral sites; and

6. All displaced residential persons eligible for payments shall be provided with relocation payments based upon one of the following, at the option of the person:

(1) A [five-hundred-dollar] five hundred dollar fixed payment; or

8. If a displaced person demonstrates the need for an advance relocation payment, in order to avoid or reduce a hardship, the developer or public agency shall issue the payment subject to such safeguards as are appropriate to ensure that the objective of the payment is accomplished. Payment for a satisfactory claim shall be made within thirty days following receipt of sufficient documentation to support the claim. All claims for relocation payment shall be filed with the displacing agency within six months after:

(1) For tenants, the date of displacement;

(2) For owners, the date of displacement or the final payment for the acquisition of the real property, whichever is later.

9. Any displaced person, who is also the owner of the premises, may waive relocation payments as part of the negotiations for acquisition of the interest held by such person. Such waiver shall be in writing, shall disclose the person's knowledge of the provisions of this section and his entitlement to payment and shall be filed with the acquiring public agency.

10. All persons eligible for relocation benefits shall be notified in writing of the availability of such relocation payments and assistance, with such notice to be given concurrently with the notice of referral sites as required in subdivision (3) of subsection 5 of this section.

11. Any urban redevelopment corporation, its assigns or transferees, which have been provided any assistance under the operation of chapter 99, RSMo, chapter 100, RSMo, chapter 353, RSMo, or this chapter, with land acquisition by the local governing body, shall be required to make a report to the local governing body or appropriate public agency which shall include, but not be limited to, the addresses of all occupied residential buildings and structures within the redevelopment area and the names and addresses of persons displaced by the redeveloper and specific relocation benefits provided to each person, as well as a sample notice provided to each person.

12. An urban redevelopment corporation which fails to comply with the relocation requirements provided in this section shall not be eligible for tax abatement as provided for in chapter 353, RSMo.

13. The requirements set out in this section shall be considered minimum standards. In reviewing any proposed relocation plan under the operation of chapter 99, RSMo, chapter 100, RSMo, or chapter 353, RSMo, the local governing body or public agency shall determine the adequacy of the proposal and may require additional elements to be provided.

14. Relocation assistance shall not be provided to any person who purposely resides or locates his business in a redevelopment area solely for the purpose of obtaining relocation benefits.

MESSAGES FROM THE HOUSE

The following message was received from the House of Representatives through its Chief Clerk:

Mr. President: I am instructed by the House of Representatives to inform the Senate that the House has taken up and passed HCR 4, entitled:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 4

Relating to recognition of autism awareness day and autism awareness month.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI, AS FOLLOWS:

Whereas, it is estimated that more the 1.5 million Americans live with some form of autism, including more than 100,000 children served under the federal Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA); and

Whereas, the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education recently identified 3,393 children between the ages of 3 and 21 as autistic, an increase of 1,000% from the 294 children identified in 1991; and

Whereas, the increase in autism spectrum disorder's prevalence across the entire United States is an urgent public health concern, with the frequency of autism spectrum disorders now surpassing that of all types of cancer combined; and

Whereas, while autism is not a curable disorder, recent studies have shown that early intervention can have dramatic results for children which allows them to enjoy a productive and independent life; and

Whereas, because many insurance companies and government assistance does not fully cover the costs of services associated with autism, many families are spending in excess of $70,000 a year for services for their children; and

Whereas, during the month of April the autism community around the United States will be involved in many activities to increase awareness of autism:

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the members of the House of Representatives of the Ninety-third General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the Senate concurring therein, hereby:

(1) Recognize April twenty-seventh of each year as "Autism Awareness Day" and the month of April each year as "Autism Awareness Month" in Missouri;

(2) Recognize and commend the parents and relatives of children with autism for their sacrifice and dedication in providing for the special needs of children with autism and for absorbing significant financial costs for specialized education and support services;

(3) Stress the need to begin early intervention services soon after an individual has been diagnosed with autism, noting that early intervention strategies are the primary therapeutic options for individuals with autism and early intervention significantly improves outcomes for individuals with autism and can reduce the level of funding and services needed later in life;

(4) Recognize the shortage of appropriately trained teachers who have the skills and support necessary to teach, assist, and respond to special needs students, including those students with autism; and

(5) Recognize the importance of worker training programs that meet the needs of developmentally disabled individuals, including those individuals with autism, and note that individuals with autism can be and are productive members of the workforce if they are given appropriate support, training, and early intervention services; and

The following message was received from the House of Representatives through its Chief Clerk:

Mr. President: I am instructed by the House of Representatives to inform the Senate that the House has taken up and adopted HCR 25.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 25

Whereas, the current Federal Defense Budget does not include an allocation for the United States Air Force C-17 Globemaster III military transport plane program at Boeing St. Louis; and

Whereas, in 2002, Boeing dedicated a new St. Louis C-17 manufacturing facility which allowed Boeing to consolidate its major St. Louis C-17 assembly work into one facility; and

Whereas, today, twenty percent of all C-17 planes are manufactured at Boeing St. Louis; and

Whereas, the Boeing St. Louis team, the largest supplier for the C-17, produces the airlifter's cargo ramp and door, cockpit, including the flight deck, main landing gear pods and pylons. In addition, 10,000 detail parts for the C-17 are fabricated at Boeing's strategic partner, GKN Aerospace Services - St. Louis, to deliver to Long Beach, California, and Macon, Georgia; and

Whereas, the new facility at Boeing St. Louis was part of a $140 million multistage plan designed to transform the Boeing St. Louis site into one of the most competitive operations in the aerospace industry; and

Whereas, if federal funding for this program is not included in the Federal Defense Budget, 950 jobs at Boeing St. Louis and 565 jobs at GKN Aerospace Services - St. Louis would be lost; and

Whereas, Boeing St. Louis is second only to Long Beach, California in the manufacturer of the C-17 Globemaster III military transport plane and has 57 suppliers across the State of Missouri; and

Whereas, the loss of almost 1500 skilled aerospace jobs, occurring at the same time that the Hazelwood Ford Plant is scheduled for closure, would have a significant negative impact on the economy of St. Louis and the State of Missouri, as well as the employment and financial stability of almost 1500 employees in this state:

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the members of the House of Representatives of the Ninety-third General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the Senate concurring therein, hereby urge the United States Congress to include in the Federal Defense Budget an allocation for the United States Air Force C-17 Globemaster III military transport plane program at Boeing St. Louis; and

Be it further resolved that the Chief Clerk of the Missouri House of Representatives be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for each member of the Missouri Congressional Delegation.

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 2

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 832, Pages 1-8, Section 99.805, by striking all of said section and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

“99.805. As used in sections 99.800 to 99.865, unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the following terms shall mean:

(1) “Blighted area”, an area which, by reason of the predominance of [defective or inadequate street layout,] unsanitary or unsafe conditions, deterioration of site improvements, [improper subdivision or obsolete platting,] or the existence of conditions which endanger life or property by fire and other causes, or any combination of such factors, retards the provision of housing accommodations or constitutes [an economic or] a social liability or a menace to the public health, safety, morals, or welfare in its present condition and use. The fact that a different use of a specific piece of property or properties would provide a higher level of tax revenue or is considered an economic liability or that the land is economically underutilized shall not be a valid factor in determining blight. In addition to such determinations, the applicable property shall support findings that the property satisfies the following criteria:

(a) The property is located in an area of “high unemployment”. For purposes of this section, the term “high unemployment” shall mean unemployment in the proposed redevelopment area of at least two times that of the metropolitan statistical area in which the area is located or, two times the unemployment rate of non-metropolitan counties if the area is not located in a metropolitan statistical area; and

(b) The property is one with “low fiscal capacity”. For purposes of this section, the term “low fiscal capacity” shall mean per capita assessed valuation of property in the municipality of less than fifty percent of the entire county in which it is located, or, if when adjusted for inflation, the cumulative assessed value for such applicable property or properties has not increased in the previous three reassessment periods; and either a Missouri municipality within a metropolitan statistical area which has a population of a least one thousand five hundred and median household income of under seventy percent of the median household income for the metropolitan statistical area, according to the last decennial census, or a United States census block group or contiguous group of block groups within a metropolitan statistical area which has a population of at least one thousand five hundred, and each block group having a median household income of under seventy percent of the median household income for the metropolitan area in Missouri, according to the last decennial census.

The determination of blight shall be considered a quasi-judicial function, attaching the rights of procedural due process to affected landowners and requiring the governing body to issue findings of fact and conclusions of law consistent with this section, displaying clear and convincing evidence for the sufficiency of such finding of blight. Such findings shall be reviewed de novo by a court of competent jurisdiction, at the request of any owner of property deemed blighted;

(2) “Collecting officer”, the officer of the municipality responsible for receiving and processing payments in lieu of taxes or economic activity taxes from taxpayers or the department of revenue;

(3) “Conservation area”, [any improved area within the boundaries of a redevelopment area located within the territorial limits of a municipality in which fifty percent or more of the structures in the area have an age of thirty-five years or more. Such an area is not yet a blighted area but is detrimental to the public health, safety, morals, or welfare and may become a blighted area because of any one or more of the following factors: dilapidation; obsolescence; deterioration; illegal use of individual structures; presence of structures below minimum code standards;

abandonment; excessive vacancies; overcrowding of structures and community facilities; lack of ventilation, light or sanitary facilities; inadequate utilities; excessive land coverage; deleterious land use or layout; depreciation of physical maintenance; and lack of community planning. A conservation area shall meet at least three of the factors provided in this subdivision for projects approved on or after December 23, 1997] any improved area within the boundaries of a redevelopment area located within the territorial limits of a municipality in which fifty percent or more of the structures in the area have an effective age of thirty-five years or more. Such an area is not yet a blighted area but is detrimental to the public health, safety, morals, or welfare and may become a blighted area by reason of the predominance of unsanitary or unsafe conditions, deterioration of site improvements, or the existence of conditions which endanger life or property by fire and other causes, or any combination of such factors, retards the provision of housing accommodations or constitutes a social liability or a menace to the public health, safety, morals, or welfare in its present condition and use. The fact that a different use of a specific piece of property or properties would provide a higher level of tax revenue, or is considered an economic liability, or that the land is economically underutilized shall not be a valid factor in declaring an area a conservation area. In addition to such determinations, the applicable property shall support findings that the property satisfies the following criteria:

(a) The property is located in an area of “moderate unemployment”. For purposes of this section, the term “moderate unemployment” shall mean unemployment in the proposed redevelopment area of at least one and one-half times that of the metropolitan statistical area in which the area is located or, one and one-half times the unemployment rate of non-metropolitan counties if the area is not located in a metropolitan statistical area; and

(b) The property is one with “reduced fiscal capacity”. For purposes of this section, the term “reduced fiscal capacity” shall mean per capita assessed valuation of property in the municipality of less than seventy percent of the entire county in which it is located, or, if when adjusted for inflation, the cumulative assessed value for such applicable property or properties has not increased in the previous two reassessment periods; and

(c) The municipality, census block group or groups, as defined in the most recent decennial census, containing the redevelopment area are characterized by reduced income. For purposes of this section, the term “reduced income” shall mean either a Missouri municipality within a metropolitan statistical area which has a population of a least one thousand five hundred and median household income of under eighty-five percent of the median household income for the metropolitan statistical area, according to the last decennial census, or a United States census block group or contiguous group of block groups within a metropolitan statistical area which has a population of at least one thousand five hundred, and each block group having a median household income of under eighty-five percent of the median household income for the metropolitan area in Missouri, according to the last decennial census.

The determination that an area is a conservation area shall be considered a quasi-judicial function, attaching the rights of procedural due process to affected landowners and requiring the governing body to issue findings of fact and conclusions of law consistent with this section, displaying clear and convincing evidence for the sufficiency of such finding. Such findings of fact shall be reviewed de novo, by a court of competent jurisdiction, at the request of any owner of property deemed a conservation area;

(4) “Economic activity taxes”, the total additional revenue from taxes which are imposed by a municipality and other taxing districts, and which are generated by economic activities within a redevelopment area over the amount of such taxes generated by economic activities within such redevelopment area in the calendar year prior to the adoption of the ordinance designating such a redevelopment area, while tax increment financing remains in effect, but excluding personal property taxes, taxes imposed on sales or charges for sleeping rooms paid by transient guests of hotels and motels, licenses, fees or special assessments. For redevelopment projects or redevelopment plans approved after December 23, 1997, if a retail establishment relocates within one year from one facility to another facility within the same county and the governing body of the municipality finds that the relocation is a direct beneficiary of tax increment financing, then for purposes of this definition, the economic activity taxes generated by the retail establishment shall equal the total additional revenues from economic activity taxes which are imposed by a municipality or other taxing district over the amount of economic activity taxes generated by the retail establishment in the calendar year prior to its relocation to the redevelopment area;

(5) [“Economic development area”, any area or portion of an area located within the territorial limits of a municipality, which does not meet the requirements of subdivisions (1) and (3) of this section, and in which the governing body of the municipality finds that redevelopment will not be solely used for development of commercial businesses which unfairly compete in the local economy and is in the public interest because it will:

(a) Discourage commerce, industry or manufacturing from moving their operations to another state; or

(b) Result in increased employment in the municipality; or

(c) Result in preservation or enhancement of the tax base of the municipality;

[(6)] (6) “Gambling establishment”, an excursion gambling boat as defined in section 313.800, RSMo, and any related business facility including any real property improvements which are directly and solely related to such business facility, whose sole purpose is to provide goods or services to an excursion gambling boat and whose majority ownership interest is held by a person licensed to conduct gambling games on an excursion gambling boat or licensed to operate an excursion gambling boat as provided in sections 313.800 to 313.850, RSMo. This subdivision shall be applicable only to a redevelopment area designated by ordinance adopted after December 23, 1997;

[(7)] (6) “Municipality”, a city, village, or incorporated town or any county of this state. For redevelopment areas or projects approved on or after December 23, 1997, “municipality” applies only to cities, villages, incorporated towns or counties established for at least one year prior to such date;

[(8)] (7) “Obligations”, bonds, loans, debentures, notes, special certificates, or other evidences of indebtedness issued by a municipality to carry out a redevelopment project or to refund outstanding obligations;

[(9)] (8) “Ordinance”, an ordinance enacted by the governing body of a city, town, or village or a county or an order of the governing body of a county whose governing body is not authorized to enact ordinances;

[(10)] (9) “Payment in lieu of taxes”, those estimated revenues from real property in the area selected for a redevelopment project, which revenues according to the redevelopment project or plan are to be used for a private use, which taxing districts would have received had a municipality not adopted tax increment allocation financing, and which would result from levies made after the time of the adoption of tax increment allocation financing during the time the current equalized value of real property in the area selected for the redevelopment project exceeds the total initial equalized value of real property in such area until the designation is terminated pursuant to subsection 2 of section 99.850;

[(11)] (10) “Redevelopment area”, an area designated by a municipality, in respect to which the municipality has made a finding that there exist conditions which cause the area to be classified as a blighted area, a conservation area, [an economic development area,] an enterprise zone pursuant to sections 135.200 to 135.256, RSMo, or a combination thereof, which area includes only those parcels of real property directly and substantially benefited by the proposed redevelopment project;

[(12)] (11) “Redevelopment plan”, the comprehensive program of a municipality for redevelopment intended by the payment of redevelopment costs to reduce or eliminate those conditions, the existence of which qualified the redevelopment area as a blighted area, conservation area, [economic development area,] or combination thereof, and to thereby enhance the tax bases of the taxing districts which extend into the redevelopment area. Each redevelopment plan shall conform to the requirements of section 99.810;

[(13)] (12) “Redevelopment project”, any development project within a redevelopment area in furtherance of the objectives of the redevelopment plan; any such redevelopment project shall include a legal description of the area selected for the redevelopment project;

[(14)] (13) “Redevelopment project costs” include the sum total of all reasonable or necessary costs incurred or estimated to be incurred, and any such costs incidental to a redevelopment plan or redevelopment project, as applicable. Such costs include, but are not limited to, the following:

(a) Costs of studies, surveys, plans, and specifications;

(b) Professional service costs, including, but not limited to, architectural, engineering, [legal,] marketing, financial, planning or special services. Except the reasonable costs incurred by the commission established in section 99.820 for the administration of sections 99.800 to 99.865, such costs shall be allowed only as an initial expense which, to be recoverable, shall be included in the costs of a redevelopment plan or project;

(c) Property assembly costs, including, but not limited to, acquisition of land and other property, real or personal, or rights or interests therein, [demolition of buildings,] and the clearing and grading of land;

(d) [Costs of rehabilitation, reconstruction, or repair or remodeling of existing buildings and fixtures;

(e) Initial costs for an economic development area;

(f) Costs of construction of public works or improvements;

[(g)] (e) Financing costs, including, but not limited to, all necessary and incidental expenses related to the issuance of obligations, and which may include payment of interest on any obligations issued pursuant to sections 99.800 to 99.865 accruing during the estimated period of construction of any redevelopment project for which such obligations are issued and for not more than eighteen months thereafter, and including reasonable reserves related thereto;

[(h)] (f) All or a portion of a taxing district's capital costs resulting from the redevelopment project necessarily incurred or to be incurred in furtherance of the objectives of the redevelopment plan and project, to the extent the municipality by written agreement accepts and approves such costs;

[(i)] (g) Relocation costs to the extent that a municipality determines that relocation costs shall be paid or are required to be paid by federal or

[(j)] (h) Payments in lieu of taxes;

Legal fees incurred during a redevelopment project shall not constitute redevelopment project costs and the party incurring such costs shall be responsible for payment;

[(15)] (14) "Special allocation fund", the fund of a municipality or its commission which contains at least two separate segregated accounts for each redevelopment plan, maintained by the treasurer of the municipality or the treasurer of the commission into which payments in lieu of taxes are deposited in one account, and economic activity taxes and other revenues are deposited in the other account;

[(16)] (15) "Taxing districts", any political subdivision of this state having the power to levy taxes;

[(17)] (16) "Taxing districts' capital costs", those costs of taxing districts for capital improvements that are found by the municipal governing bodies to be necessary and to directly result from the redevelopment project; and

[(18)] (17) "Vacant land", any parcel or combination of parcels of real property not used for industrial, commercial, or residential buildings."; and

Further amend said bill, pages 8-10, section 99.810, by striking all of said section and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"99.810. 1. Each redevelopment plan shall set forth in writing a general description of the program to be undertaken to accomplish the objectives and shall include, but need not be limited to, the estimated redevelopment project costs, the anticipated sources of funds to pay the costs, evidence of the commitments to finance the project costs, the anticipated type and term of the sources of funds to pay costs, the anticipated type and terms of the obligations to be issued, the most recent equalized assessed valuation of the property within the redevelopment area which is to be subjected to payments in lieu of taxes and economic activity taxes pursuant to section 99.845, an estimate as to the equalized assessed valuation after redevelopment, and the general land uses to apply in the redevelopment area. No redevelopment plan shall be adopted by a municipality without findings that:

(1) The redevelopment area on the whole is a blighted area[,] or a conservation area, [or an economic development area,] and has not been subject to growth and development through investment by private enterprise and would not reasonably be anticipated to be developed without the adoption of tax increment financing. Such a finding shall include, but not be limited to, a detailed description of the factors that qualify the redevelopment area or project pursuant to this subdivision and an affidavit, signed by the developer or developers and submitted with the redevelopment plan, attesting that the provisions of this subdivision have been met;

(2) The redevelopment plan conforms to the comprehensive plan for the development of the municipality as a whole;

(3) The estimated dates, which shall not be more than twenty-three years from the adoption of the ordinance approving a redevelopment project within a redevelopment area, of completion of any redevelopment project and retirement of obligations incurred to finance redevelopment project costs have been stated, provided that no ordinance approving a redevelopment project shall be adopted later than ten years from the adoption of the ordinance approving the redevelopment plan under which such project is authorized and provided that no property for a redevelopment project shall be acquired by eminent domain later than five years from the adoption of the ordinance approving such redevelopment project;

(4) A plan has been developed for relocation assistance for businesses and residences;

(5) A cost-benefit analysis showing the economic impact of the plan on each taxing district which is at least partially within the boundaries of the redevelopment area. The analysis shall show the impact on the economy if the project is not built, and is built pursuant to the redevelopment plan under consideration. The cost-benefit analysis shall include a fiscal impact study on every affected political subdivision, and sufficient information from the developer for the commission established in section 99.820 to evaluate whether the project as proposed is financially feasible;

(6) A finding that the plan does not include the initial development or redevelopment of any gambling establishment, provided however, that this subdivision shall be applicable only to a redevelopment plan adopted for a redevelopment area designated by ordinance after December 23, 1997.

2. By the last day of February each year, each commission shall report to the director of economic development the name, address, phone number and primary line of business of any business which relocates to the district. The director of the department of economic development shall compile and report the same to the governor, the speaker of the house and the president pro tempore of the senate on the last day of April each year.”; and

“99.825. 1. Prior to the adoption of an ordinance proposing the designation of a redevelopment area, or approving a redevelopment plan or redevelopment project, the commission shall fix a time and place for a public hearing and notify each taxing district located wholly or partially within the boundaries of the proposed redevelopment area, plan or project. At the public hearing any interested person or affected taxing district may file with the commission written objections to, or comments on, and may be heard orally in respect to, any issues embodied in the notice. The commission shall hear and consider all protests, objections, comments and other evidence presented at the hearing. The hearing may be continued to another date without further notice other than a motion to be entered upon the minutes fixing the time and place of the subsequent hearing. Prior to the conclusion of the hearing, changes may be made in the redevelopment plan, redevelopment project, or redevelopment area, provided that each affected taxing district is given written notice of such changes at least seven days prior to the conclusion of the hearing. After the public hearing but prior to the adoption of an ordinance approving a redevelopment plan or redevelopment project, or designating a redevelopment area, changes may be made to the redevelopment plan, redevelopment projects or redevelopment areas without a further hearing, if such changes do not enlarge the exterior boundaries of the redevelopment area or areas, and do not substantially affect the general land uses established in the redevelopment plan or substantially change the nature of the redevelopment projects, provided that notice of such changes shall be given by mail to each affected taxing district and by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the area of the proposed redevelopment not less than ten days prior to the adoption of the changes by ordinance. An ordinance providing for a tax increment finance project for residential development or redevelopment shall not be approved unless unanimous consent for such project is granted by the members of the tax increment finance commission representing the interest of the school boards whose districts are included within the redevelopment plan or redevelopment area. After the adoption of an ordinance approving a redevelopment plan or redevelopment project, or designating a redevelopment area, no ordinance shall be adopted altering the exterior boundaries, affecting the general land uses established pursuant to the redevelopment plan or changing the nature of the redevelopment project without complying with the procedures provided in this section pertaining to the initial approval of a redevelopment plan or redevelopment project and designation of a redevelopment area. Hearings with regard to a redevelopment project, redevelopment area, or redevelopment plan may be held simultaneously.

2. Tax incremental financing projects within [an economic development] a blighted area or conservation area shall apply to and fund only the following infrastructure projects: highways, roads, streets, bridges, sewers, traffic control systems and devices, water distribution and supply systems, curbing, sidewalks and any other similar public improvements, but in no case shall it include buildings.”; and

FOR SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 2

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 832, Page 1, Section 99.805, Lines 9-16, by striking all of said lines; and further amend said section, page 2, line 1 by striking all of said line and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

“(1) “Blighted area”, any improved or vacant area within the boundaries of a redevelopment project area located within the territorial limits of the municipality where:

(a) If improved, industrial, commercial, and residential buildings or improvements are detrimental to the public safety, health, or welfare because of a combination of four or more of the following factors, each of which is present, with that presence documented, to a meaningful extent so that a municipality may reasonably find that the factor is clearly present within the intent of the real property tax increment allocation redevelopment act and reasonably distributed throughout the improved part of the redevelopment project area:

a. Dilapidation. “Dilapidation” means an advanced state of disrepair or neglect of necessary repairs to the primary structural components of buildings or improvements in such a combination that a documented building condition analysis determines that major repair is required or the defects are so serious and so extensive that the buildings must be removed;

b. Obsolescence. “Obsolescence” means the condition or process of falling into disuse; structures have become ill-suited for the original use;

c. Deterioration. “Deterioration” means with respect to buildings, defects including, but not limited to, major defects in the secondary building components such as doors, windows, porches, gutters and downspouts, and fascia. With respect to surface improvements, the condition of roadways, alleys, curbs, gutters, sidewalks, off-street parking, and surface storage areas show deterioration, including but not limited to, surface cracking, crumbling, potholes, depressions, loose paving material, and weeds protruding through paved surfaces;

d. Presence of structures below minimum code standards. “Presence of structures below minimum code standards” means all structures that do not meet the standards of zoning, subdivision, building, fire, and other governmental codes applicable to property, but not including housing and property maintenance codes;

e. Illegal use of individual structures. “Illegal use of individual structures” means the use of structures in violation of applicable federal, state, or local laws, exclusive of those applicable to the presence of structures below minimum code standards;

f. Excessive vacancies. “Excessive vacancies” means the presence of buildings that are unoccupied or under-used and that represent an adverse influence on the area because of the frequency, extent, or duration of the vacancies;

g. Lack of ventilation, light, or sanitary facilities. “Lack of ventilation, light, or sanitary facilities” means the absence of adequate ventilation for light or air circulation in spaces or rooms without windows, or that require the removal of dust, odor, gas, smoke, or other noxious airborne materials. Inadequate natural light and ventilation means the absence of skylights or windows for interior spaces or rooms and improper window sizes and amounts by room area to window area ratios. Inadequate sanitary facilities refers to the absence or inadequacy of garbage storage and enclosure, bathroom facilities, hot water and kitchens, and structural inadequacies preventing ingress and egress to and from all rooms and units within a building;

h. Inadequate utilities. “Inadequate utilities” means underground and overhead utilities such as storm sewers, storm drainage, sanitary sewers, waterlines, gas, telephone, and electrical services that are shown to be inadequate. Inadequate utilities are those that are:

(i) Of insufficient capacity to serve the uses in the redevelopment project area;

(ii) Deteriorated, antiquated, obsolete, or in disrepair; or

(iii) Lacking within the redevelopment project area;

i. Excessive land coverage and overcrowding of structures and community facilities. “Excessive land coverage and overcrowding of structures and community facilities” means the over-intensive use of property and the crowding of buildings and accessory facilities onto a site. Examples of problem conditions warranting the designation of an area as one exhibiting excessive land coverage are:

(i) The presence of buildings either improperly situated on parcels or located on parcels of inadequate size and shape in relation to present-day standards of development for health and safety; and

(ii) The presence of multiple buildings on a single parcel. For there to be a finding of excessive land coverage, these parcels must exhibit one or more of the following conditions: insufficient provision for light and air within or around buildings; increased threat of spread of fire due to the close proximity of buildings; lack of adequate or proper access to a public

j. Deleterious land use or layout. “Deleterious land use or layout” means the existence of incompatible land use relationships, buildings occupied by inappropriate mixed uses, or uses considered to be noxious, offensive, or unsuitable for the surrounding area;

k. Environmental clean-up. “Environmental clean-up” means the proposed redevelopment project area has incurred division of environmental quality of the department of natural resources or United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) remediation costs for, or a study conducted by an independent consultant recognized as having expertise in environmental remediation has determined a need for, the clean-up of hazardous waste, hazardous substances, or underground storage tanks required by state or federal law, provided that the remediation costs constitute a material impediment to the development or redevelopment of the redevelopment project area;

l. Lack of community planning. “Lack of community planning” means the proposed redevelopment project area was developed before or without the benefit or guidance of a community plan, or before the adoption by the municipality of a comprehensive or other community plan or the plan was not followed at the time of the area's development. This factor shall be documented by evidence of adverse or incompatible land use relationships, inadequate street layout, improper subdivision, parcels of inadequate shape and size to meet contemporary development standards, or other evidence demonstrating an absence of effective community planning;

m. The total equalized assessed value of the proposed redevelopment project area has declined for two of the last five calendar years before the year in which the redevelopment project area is designated or is increasing at an annual rate that is less than the balance of the municipality for two of the last five calendar years for which information is available or is increasing at an annual rate that is less than the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers published by the United States Department of Labor or its successor agency for two of the last five calendar years before the year in which the redevelopment project area is designated;

(b) If vacant, the growth of the redevelopment project area is impaired by a combination of two or more of the following factors, each of which is present, with that presence documented, to a meaningful extent so that a municipality may reasonably find that the factor is clearly present within the intent of the real property tax increment allocation redevelopment act and reasonably distributed throughout the vacant part of the redevelopment project area to which it pertains:

a. Obsolete platting of vacant land that results in parcels of limited or narrow size or configurations of parcels of irregular size or shape that would be difficult to develop on a planned basis and in a manner compatible with contemporary standards and requirements, or platting that failed to create rights-of-ways for streets or alleys or that created inadequate right-of-way widths for streets, alleys, or other public rights-of-way or that omitted easements for public utilities;

b. Diversity of ownership of parcels of vacant land sufficient in number to retard or impede the ability to assemble the land for development;

c. Tax and special assessment delinquencies exist or the property has been the subject of tax sales under Missouri property tax laws within the last five years;

d. Deterioration of structures or site improvements in neighboring areas adjacent to the vacant land;

e. The area has incurred division of environmental quality of the department of natural resources or United States Environmental Protection Agency remediation costs for, or a study conducted by an independent consultant recognized as having expertise in environmental remediation has determined a need for, the clean-up of hazardous waste, hazardous substances, or underground storage tanks required by state or federal law, provided that the remediation costs constitute a material impediment to the development or redevelopment of the redevelopment project area;

f. The total equalized assessed value of the proposed redevelopment project area has declined for two of the last five calendar years before the year in which the redevelopment project area is designated or is increasing at an annual rate that is less than the balance of the municipality for two of the last five calendar years for which information is available or is increasing at an annual rate that is less than the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers published by the United States Department of Labor or its successor agency for two of the last five calendar years before the year in which the redevelopment project area is designated;”.

Journal of the Senate

FIFTY-SECOND DAY—TUESDAY, APRIL 11, 2006

President Kinder in the Chair.

Reverend Carl Gauck offered the following prayer:

“But I trust in you, O Lord; I say, You are my God.” (Psalm 31:14)

There are times, O God, that we grow weary with the tensions and difficulty we encounter with those who don’t make the effort to understand what we are trying to do and why we do what we do. And although we hear the whispering of those who work against us, we trust that You will be there for us and help us be sustained in all this and whatever else may come our way. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was recited.

[(c)] (f) This act does not limit the power of this state to punish a person for conduct that constitutes a crime under other laws of this state.

409.6-604. (a) If the commissioner determines that a person has engaged, is engaging, or is about to engage in an act, practice, or course of business constituting a violation of this act or a rule adopted or order issued under this act or that a person has materially aided, is materially aiding, or is about to materially aid an act, practice, or course of business constituting a violation of this act or a rule adopted or order issued under this act, the commissioner may:

(d) In a final order under subsection (c), the commissioner may:

The court may not require the commissioner to post a bond in an action or proceeding under this section. If the court finds, after service and opportunity for hearing, that the person was not in compliance with the order, the court may adjudge the person in civil contempt of the order. The court may impose a further civil penalty against the person for contempt in an amount not less than five thousand dollars but not greater than one hundred thousand dollars for each violation and may grant any other relief the court determines is just and proper in the circumstances.

"Morning by morning he wakens-wakens my ear to listen as those who are taught." (Isaiah 50:4b)

O Lord, open our ears to truly listen first to Your word and then to those who truly have something to teach us so that like a student we may learn and be more effective in what is coming before us. Help us to truly listen to what others have to say so that we may be seen as one who cares and truly knows what it is that they have been trying to tell us. And, help us to stand together in what is most important for us to accomplish here and at home. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.
